County To Fight The Tamalpais' Exempt Status

Wornum Calls $300,000 Yearly Loss 'Injustice'

By MARY LEYDECKER

The Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday voted unanimously to protest the removal of The Tamalpais retirement center from the tax rolls, but other county officials held little hope for the appeal.

Michael Wornum, chairman of the board, called the tax exemption, which will cost the county and other taxing entities some $300,000 a year, a "manifest injustice."

He was told by County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney and Assessor Bert W. Broemmel that the matter can be appealed to the state Board of Equalization. But both men indicated The Tamalpais has met state requirements for tax exemption.

Broemmel called the matter a "purely legal question" and said he had no choice but to grant tax exemption to the luxurious facility after the state gave it nonprofit status.

Maloney added that he long has believed that the deal made by The Tamalpais and the City of Larkspur in 1967 when the institution obtained a permit on the basis it would remain on the tax rolls "was illegal."

Questioned yesterday by the supervisors was the new bargain which The Tamalpais has made with the City of Larkspur, in which the retirement residence will pay the city annually an "in lieu" sum of money equal to the amount it would have had to pay in city taxes.

"How can Larkspur get this money?" asked Wornum.

Although he did not receive a direct answer, Larkspur's city manager, Harlan Barry, later told the Independent-Journal that The Tamalpais "recognized it imposes a demand for services" and has agreed to pay for them.

(A similar deal was made by the City of Mill Valley in granting a permit for The Redwoods, a low and moderate income housing project for the elderly. When the facility could not pay the full amount recently, a new bargain at a reduced rate was reached.)

Mill Valley's mayor, Jean Barnard yesterday was one of the most outspoken critics at the supervisors' discussion of the Tamalpais. She called The Tamalpais "not a rest home, but a luxury retirement cen-

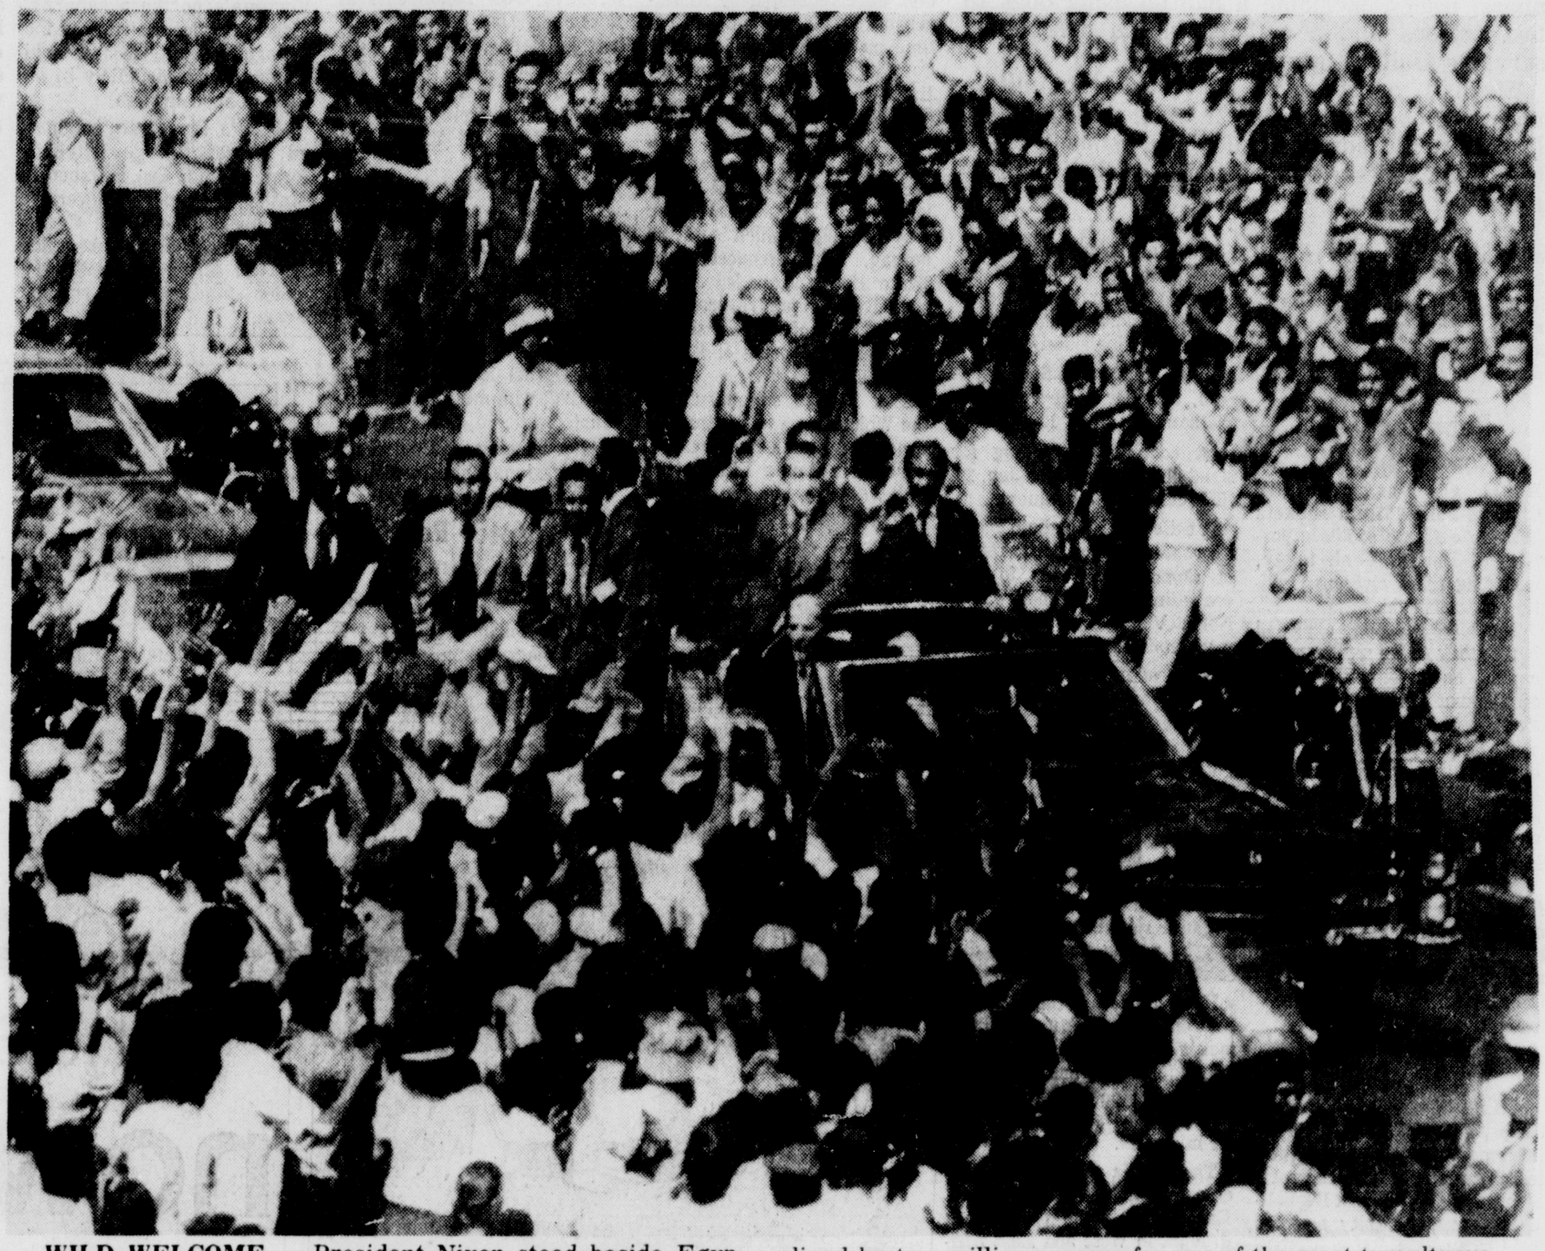
Nixon Receives Tumultuous Welcome On Cairo Arrival



WILD WELCOME — President Nixon stood beside Egyptian President Anwar Sadat this morning as their motorcade made its way slowly through the streets of Cairo, lined by two million persons for one of the most tumultuous welcome ever given an American president.

(UPI Telephoto)

2 Million Egyptians In Throng

CAIRO (UPI) — Two million Egyptians chanting "Nix-on! Nix-on!" gave President Nixon one of the greatest receptions ever accorded an American President today on his first stop of his five-nation "journey for peace" in the Mideast.

In a scene of friendship that would have seemed a dream six months ago, Egyptian President Anwar Sadat warmly greeted Nixon on his arrival for what both leaders said was a turning point in U.S.-Egyptian relations and possibly peace in the Middle East.

The two leaders rode side-by-side in an open car through the streets of Cairo to a reception that veteran White House newsmen said even topped welcomes given John F. Kennedy in West Berlin in 1963 and Dwight D. Eisenhower in New Delhi in 1959.

In a brief speech from the balcony of Koubbeh Palace —a 400-room mansion which will be Nixon's home during his Cairo stay — Sadat said he hoped the welcome would "compensate for the long years of strain and lack of understanding" between the two countries.

"You have spoken of the fact that we stand here at a moment of time and history which could well be remembered centuries from now as one of those great turning points which affect mankind for the better," Nixon said to Sadat. "It has been too long between our countries a period of misunderstanding."

Interior Ministry police estimated two million Egyptians, carrying signs such as "May Allah Bless Nixon" and chanting "Nix-on! Nix-on!" thronged the airport and lined the motorcade route.

The route seemed to be a blanket of people, with the crowds at times breaking rank and surging toward the car carrying the two presidents.

Security precautions were extremely tight. About 30,000 Egyptian police were turned out.

Nixon will spend slightly more than two days in Egypt, seeing the sights and taking an American style "whistle stop" train ride to Alexandria before going on to Saudi Arabia, Syria, Israel and Jordan.

Sadat organized the gigantic welcome out of his respect for Nixon, first American President to visit Egypt since Franklin D. Roosevelt during World War II, and his appreciation of United States efforts to bring peace to the Mideast. In their balcony speeches, the two presidents showed their admiration of each other.

"One fact standing out today is that without the wisdom, the vision, the courage and the statesmanship of President Sadat of Egypt, we would not have the hope of peace today," Nixon said of the first Arab

Board Endorses Special Agency

Creation of an "umbrella agency" to promote consolidation of 20 independent water and sanitary districts and oversee future waste water disposal and reclamation was endorsed yesterday by Marin County supervisors. (Other supervisors storeis, page 23.)

On a unanimous vote, supervisors asked the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission to investigate forming such an agency and placing it before voters later this year or early in 1975.

The agency, which would be a municipal utilities district, was suggested by a 15-member ad hoc committee formed some time ago to study the question of consolidating special utility districts.

The committee said it considered various kinds of agencies to serve the purpose — such as a county water district and public utility district — but decided the municipal utility district provides the most advantages legally.

Under it, existing single-purpose districts can continue to operate as they do now, if they choose, leaving long-range waste water management to the umbrella agency.

Should they elect to dissolve or consolidate, the umbrella agency can take over their functions, according to the report.

If voters approve the new agency, it would cover the North Marin County Water District, Marin Municipal Water District and 18 sanitary districts in eastern Marin.

Supervisors debated at length whether to ask the agency formation commission also to recommend which districts should be dissolved and which consolidated under the new agency.

But supervisors rejected that plan after Supervisor Robert A. Roumiguiere warned that it would promote oppositon from the special districts.

"It will be defeated if we go at it this way," he said. "Can you imagine their reaction if they wake up in the morning and read that the supervisors have recommended their agencies be dissolved."

Supervisor Gary T. Giacomini suggested that the board first create the new agency, then work to dissolve or consolidate existing districts.

His motion to refer the matter to the agencies commission with a recommendation that a committee be formed to study the matter passed unanimously.

The ad hoc committee which suggested the agency is headed by Euguee A. Miller, a former member of the Marin Municipal Water District board.

Memo Says Nixon Asked Coverup

WASHINGTON(UPI) — A House Judiciary Committee memo states that President Nixon told John N. Mitchell in 1973 to "stonewall it, plead the 5th ammendment" in order to contain the Watergate coverup and protect any White House people who may be involved.

The memo entitled "Dean Report", first obtained by the Los Angeles Times and later by UPI, was written by an impeachment inquiry staff member and intended for the 38 committee members studying Nixon's possible impeachment.

"The following language from the few Presidential conversations which the committee received may be interpreted to support the assumption that the President never asked Dean (John W. Dean III, his former counsel) to write a report for the purpose of giving him additional facts, but merely so it could be relied on as an excuse in the event things came 'unstuck' and the President needed justification for his inaction," the memo said.

"The following quotations are taken from the committee transcripts and consequently I assume this memorandum is covered by the committee's rules of confidentiality." It then quoted from the committee's transcript which has been described as more accurate and complete than the White House transcripts released April 30.

On the tape for March 22, 1973, the day after Nixon says he first heard the story of the Watergate cover-up, the Times quoted the memo as saying Nixon can be heard instructing Mitchell, his former campaign manager and attorney general:

"I want you to (unintelligible) stonewall it —plead the Fifth Amendment ... even up to this point, the whole theory has been containment, as you know, John. That's the thing I was concerned with. We're going to protect our people if we can."

The Times said the staff memo, by lawyer William P. Dixon, "has yet to be presented to committee members."

Dixon claims some of the discrepancies between the White House transcripts and the tapes themselves "may be interpreted to support the assumption that the President never asked Dean to write a report for the purpose of giving him additional facts, but merely so it could be relied on as an excuse in the event things 'came unstuck' and the President needed justification for his inaction."

The memo's version of the tape quotes the President as telling Dean, while considering alternative courses of action:

"The middle ground taken would be, uh, if you as White House counsel, John, uh, on direction —uh, I ask for a, a written report which I think uh, which is very general, understand?

"Understand I don't want it that goddammed specific. I'm thinking now in far more general terms, but if you make it general, in terms of my, your investigation indicates 'this man did not do it, this man did not do it, this man did not do that' ... "

The memo quotes former No. 2 aide John Ehrlichman on the proposed Dean report as saying that if "some corner of this thing comes unstuck at some time, you are then in a position to say 'look, that document I published is the document I relied on. That's the report I relied on ... and this new development is a surprise to me. I'm going to fire A,B,C, and D now."

Later, when the scandal reached into the White House, it was Ehrlichman and H.R. Haldeman whose resignations were taken by the President, and Dean was fired.

Although the President at one point said the Dean report had cleared his staff of involvement, Dean has testified he never wrote any report because he thought he was being ordered to write "a fairy tale." The White House said he did not write it because he was himself too deeply involved in the cover-up.

Social Services Seek Bigger Budget Share

A standing-room-only audience filled the Marin County supervisors' meeting room at Civic Center today to urge that a greater share of the proposed $52.2 million county budget be allocated to social service programs.

The request came during the first of seven days of hearings on the record spending program and brought pledges from supervisors that they will consider each program separately and on its merits.

The proposed budget, revised upwards yesterday from the original $51.3 million spending plan submitted by County Administrator John F. Barrows, would require a tax rate of $2.465 per $100 assessed valuation. The current rate is $2.58.

County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell said the budget increase resulted largely from programs and funds being carried over from the current budget and new federal minimum wage laws.

Members of the Marin Council of Agencies, an organization of private social service groups, urged supervisors to set aside 1.5 per cent of the budget, or about $750,000, for their programs.

Rita York told supervisors the request was "symbolic" and, if approved, would show the board's committment to local "human service programs."

Supervisors Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. and Gary T. Giacomini said it would be irresponsible to set aside a block amount and added that they will consider individual requests from the groups tomorrow.

Since the requests are coming near the start of budget hearings, "You won't get the excuse that we don't have the money," Giacomini told the groups.

"Some will be funded and some won't, depending on their merits," Arrigoni added. "That's the way it works."

On the other side of the fence, Niels J. Schultz Jr. president of the Marin Property Owners Association, urged the board to hold the line on spending.

He said the increased value of homes and property in Marin "does not mean a greater ability by homeowners to pay taxes." Schultz said the increase in assessed valuation was caused, in part, by factors influencing the construction and real estate industries.

Rex T. Silvernale, head of a new and as yet unnamed taxpayers group, urged supervisors to keep down the number of county employees and their salaries.

Reagan Explains Low GOP Vote

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan says many Republican voters may have stayed away from the polls last week because his party's gubernatorial primary campaign stirred little controversy.

"I don't think we had the emtotionalism and the bitterness in our gubernatorial primary that the other party had and that always brings out more people when you have more factions contesting each other," the governor told a news conference yesterday.

San Pedro Housing Plan Rejected

By ERIK INGRAM

The controversial San Pedro Reserve project, a plan to build 456 townhouses on the ridgelands overlooking Santa Venetia, was rejected unanimously yesterday by Marin County supervisors.

The board's vote came several hours after a closed door meeting with County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney, who advised supervisors that the project's backers are threatening an inverse condemnation suit.

Yesterday's action was the latest in a series of county rejections of the development, unveiled 18 months ago by Sausalito architect Eugene Wedell.

At that time, Wedell proposed 1,200 dwellings in five clustered villages on the 256-acre site behind the Rafael Convalescent Hospital on North San Pedro Road.

Wedell's clients, landowners Ronald and Jack Fierman of Philadelphia, later revised the plan to show 456 dwellings on about seven acres of the site, the remainder of which was to remain open.

Amid strong community opposition, that plan was rejected by the planning commission and then put on ice by supervisors when they imposed a six-month building moratorium on the land so negotiations for its purchase by area residents could be undertaken.

Maloney, noting yesterday that the moratorium had expired, said negotiations have been fruitless so far. He urged supervisors to consider the project "on its merits" and disregard testimony dealing with its acquisition.

In rejecting the proposal, supervisors refused to grant a needed rezoning to allow the 456 units. Instead, they rezoned the land to allow one unit per acre for a total of 256 dwellings.

Area residents applauded the decision. They had earlier reinterated past concerns of increased traffic, drainage and other problems.

Planning commissioner Marie J. Sessi called the project "over clustering" since by her figures it would total 62 units per acre.

By comparison, she said, the controversial Loring Heights apartments near Hamilton Air Force Base total 42 units per acre.

The Fiermans' attorney, Peter Townsend of San Francisco, said the project would conform to the county general plan in that it would provide open space, low and moderate-income housing, recycling and its own bus system, among other things.

He said the move to cut the number of dwellings to 256 was really an attempt to make the project economically infeasible. "If it's uneconomical, then the property owner has lost reasonable use of his land."

He said his clients were willing to sell the land "at fair market value" but so far the county has been unwilling.

Townsend later told the Independent-Journal his clients had offered the hillside acreage for $550,000 but the county had refused.

(The Fierman brothers purchased the land three years ago for $180,000.)

The county has declined to say what it has offered for the land. The Fiermans contend they should be repaid for about $250,000 in planning and engineering costs.

In rejecting the rezoning request, supervisors said the master plan would be modified and resubmitted showing not more than 256 units "in the least obtrusive area."

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Crisis In Italy

ROME (UPI) — Italy's political and economic crisis deepened today, with a bitter feud between two influential political parties hampering attempts to form a new coalition government.

President Giovanni Leone entered his second day of talks with political leaders in an urgent search to find a successor to Premier Mariano Rumor. Politicians called it Italy's worst crisis since World War II.

Rumor resigned Monday after the two main parties in his center-left coalition — the Christian Democrats and the Socialists — failed to agree on ways to stem the rising coast of living.

Politicians said the collapse of Italy's 36th post-war government, coupled with inflation and mounting political violence, has put Italian democracy in its greatest danger since the fall of facism.

The crisis left Italy leaderless at a time when inflation is mounting at a yearly rate of nearly 20 per cent and the lira has lost 18.67 per cent of its value on foreign exchange markets in a year.

A wave of kidnapings and bombings by extermists of the right and left and bribery scandals have undermined the government's credibility.

Tightening Belt

PARIS (UPI) — President Valery Giscard d'Estaing called his cabinet into session today to approve a sweeping economic belt-tightening program for France.

Premier Jacques Chirac said the cabinet would adopt "energetic measures," including higher taxes, to slow inflation and reduce the nation's balance of payments deficit.

Government officials said the tax increases would hit mainly upper bracket taxpayers and business firms. They said the increases would be put in effect in graduated stages.

The officials said the government hoped the tax hikes would take excess money out of circulation and remove one of the major factors fanning France's annual inflation rate of 15 to 18 per cent.

Victory For Watchdog Stennis

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate passed the Pentagon's weapons bill yesterday after seven days of debate that in the end shaved only one-tenth of 1 per cent off the funding.

Stennis

The 84-6 passage was a major victory for chairman John C. Stennis of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

The only money-cutting amendment to pass was introduced by Stennis himself after the Mississippi Democrat discovered that $25 million for submarine parts had already been authorized in an earlier bill.

Altogether, 36 amendments were proposed. All the substantive ones aimed at cutting weapons like the B1 bomber or reducing troop strength abroad were defeated.

What got through the Stennis wall were peripheral issues, including a ban on using dogs to test poisons and a cutback in the number of servants assigned generals.

The bill, as approved by Stennis' committee and the House, comes to $21.8 billion, $1.5 billion less than the administration had requested and $1.1 billion less than the House had earlier approved.

Rebel Rockets

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Rebel gunners fired six Chinese-built 107mm rockets into the extreme southern portion of Phnom Penh today, wounding three civilians, military officials said.

The huge weapons exploded in the Chak Angre section of the capital, but most of them went off without causing any damage.

It was the first such attack to hit the city since Friday when one 107mm rocket tore into the east side of Phnom Penh and two others exploded harmlessly in the Tonle Sap River.

One person was killed and five others wounded in that attack, bringing the number of casualties in the latest series of assaults to 39 persons killed and 74 wounded. Most of the victims were civilians.

Another Arrest

BELFAST (UPI) — British troops, acting on a tip from an informer, arrested another leading member of the Provisional wing of the Irish Republican Army, security sources said today.

They said Patrick Rice, 24, was detained early Monday in the Falls Road Area, a Roman Catholic distict of Belfast. No reason was given for the delay in announcing his detention.

Planks For Peace

SAIGON (UPI) — The South Vietnamese government today gave the Viet Cong and North Vietnam a six-point demand for peace. The action came at the end of one year of the second cease-fire agreement between the two warring sides.

The United States, South Vietnam, the Viet Cong and North Vietnam last June 13 signed a joint communique calling for strict observance of the Jan. 28, 1973, cease-fire agreement.

It called for immediate end of all cease-fire violations; return of Communist troops to pre-cease-fire lines; withdrawal of North Vietnamese troops and war materials to the North; release of government civilian and military prisoners; respect for the international peacekeeping force, and serious negotiations for an overall solution to the war.

Plea To Portugal

MOGADISHU, Somalia (UPI) — African and Arab leaders began a summit conference today by urging Portugal to dissolve its empire in Africa.

Heads of state of the 42-nation Organization of African Unity met in this capital on the Indian Ocean to discuss and approve a 43-item agenda drawn up in six days of talks among their senior ministers.

The agenda covered such diverse problems as the Middle East conflict, the devastating drought in West and East Africa and the future of the Portuguese territories of Mozambique, Angola and Portuguese Guinea.

Foreign ministers drew up a draft resolution yesterday urging the Lisbon government to immediately recognize the right of its African colonies to independence before talks with various liberation movements went ahead.

Reports Say Kissinger Asked Taps

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's account of his role in wiretapping of government officials and newsmen is contradicted by a series of FBI memoranda stretching over four years, according to published reports today.

The Washington Post, The New York Times and the Boston Globe said FBI documents had been examined by the House Judiciary Committee as part of its impeachment inquiry against President Nixon.

Kissinger says he never directly requested wiretaps on telephones of 13 government officials and four newsmen as a result of leaks of sensitive information in 1969-71.

The newspapers said FBI documents showed some of the taps were requested by Kissinger or by his top aide at the time on the National Security Council, Gen. Alexander M. Haig, now President Nixon's chief of staff.

The Times and Post both quoted an FBI memorandum prepared for acting FBI Director William D. Ruckelshaus on May 12, 1973, which said tte bureau, "at the request of the White House, provided highly sensitive wiretap coverage in the interests of national security" from the spring of 1969 to early summer, 1971.

The 15-page summary said the White House was extremely concerned over leaks about the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT), apparently emanating from the Security Council.

The Post said it obtained a copy of a memorandum written by FBI chief Hoover to then Attorney General John N. Mitchell, dated May 9, 1969, saying Kissinger had called him that day to complain of "an extraordinarily damaging" news leak.

Former POW Is Winner In Maine

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

A former prisoner of war from Maine, a law professor in Arkansas, and two men in Virginia who want to see President Nixon impeached, won Democratic nominations to Congress yesterday.

They will all face Republican incumbents in the November elections.

Ex-POW Mark Gartley of Lewiston, Me., was nominated to challenge Rep. William S. Cohen, R-Maine.

In Arkansas another political newcomer, law professor Bill Clinton, 27, was nominated to try to unseat Rep. John Paul Hammerschmidt, R-Ark., Nov. 5.

Virginia Democrats nominated two candidates who have both publicly supported impeachment to challenge conservative GOP incumbents in November. One of them, Herbert E. Harris, will face Rep. Stanford E. Parris, R-Va. The other, Joseph L. Fisher, a veteran local official, will go against Rep. Joel T. Broyhill, R-Va.

Gartley, a Navy pilot who was held captive in North Vietnam for four years, said he was suprised by public discontent and disgust he said he saw while campaigning.

Clinton, of Fayetteville, Ark., soundly defeated state Sen. W.E. (Gene) Rainwater, 37,552 to 16,907, with most of the votes counted.

After winning the Democratic congressional nomination in Virginia's northern suburbs, Fisher, 60, vice chairman of the Arlington County board, said Watergate will definitely be an issue in his campaign.

GEORGE MITCHELL
A nominee for governor

Maine's Democrats nominated lawyer George Mitchell, former aide to Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, for governor. Incumbent Kenneth M. Curtis, a Democrat, has held the office for two terms but is barred under state law from running again.

Returns from three out of five wards showed a 1,211-375 vote against showing "obscene, hard-core pornographic" films.

Resignation Threat Is An Old Ploy

NEW YORK (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger has used the threat of resignation as a tactic in the past, according to the New York Post.

The Post, which is publishing a copyrighted, 12-part series on the secretary of state's life, said Monday that Kissinger had threatened to resign several times while working on a project in the 1950s for former New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

In 1955, Rockefeller quit his post in the Eisenhower administration to undertake a study of the United States' assets and debits. Kissinger was named the project's executive director.

"Kissinger subsisted on five or six hours' sleep a night, plus occasional catnaps," the Post's article, entitled "The Rockefeller Years," said. "The strain caused some blow-ups with veteran Rockefeller staff people who jealously blocked Kissinger's access at times.

Denture Loss Suit Is Filed

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Ronald O'Banion figures $15,250 should compensate for the "humiliation and embarassment" he suffered for 33 days after his false teeth were lost.

O'Banion filed a suit for that amount of money yesterday against Jewish Hospital, where his false teeth disappeared with his meal tray.

He said he had just returned from surgery, was heavily sedated and placed the dentures on the food tray before falling asleep. O'Banion said when he awoke, the tray was gone and so were his teeth.

Film Stars Safe Following Fire

SOUTHSEA, England (UPI) — Film stars Oliver Reed and Ann-Margret escaped injury late yesterday when fire swept through a seaside pier where they were shooting a scene for a rock musical, police said.

"Oliver and I were dancing for the cameras — a real smoochy number — when one of the production crew ran in shouting 'fire!'" the actress said. "We cut short the cheek-to-cheek stuff and got out fast."

Police said an electrical fault was believed to have caused the blaze that badly damaged the 70-year-old Hampshire pier.

Great-Grandmother Gets Her Diploma

BURLINGAME, Calif. (UPI) — Margaret Moore, a 64-year-old greatgrandmother, finally has her diploma today.

Mrs. Moore, mother of six children, grandmother of 22, and greatgrandmother of two, has been working 10 years for the high school diploma she received Tuesday night at Burlingame High School.

Shots Wound Police Chief Of Union City

UNION CITY, Calif. (UPI) — The police chief of Union City, a town wracked by racial tensions, was shot and critically wounded last night while speaking at a community meeting called to quell the unrest.

Four other persons were injured when about six shots were fired from a window into the hall of Holy Rosary Church where about 50 persons were gathered to discuss protests of the Mexican-American community against the police.

William Cann, 32, the police chief, was hit twice in the neck. He fell to the floor unconscious and was taken to a hospital in critical condition.

(Chief Cann served on the Novato police force from 1964 to 1969. Prior to that period, he was with the San Anselmo police.)

The other injured were two men and two women, one of whom suffered a sprained ankle when the crowd fell to the floor of the church hall to avoid the gunfire.

Police said they had no suspects.

Karen Holzmeister, 26, a reporter for the Daily Review, of nearby Hayward, was at the meeting.

"Fifty persons were seated in a semi-circle and the chief was discussing the recent incidents," she related. "Everybody hit the deck. The shots came from a window about 40 feet away. No one saw the assailants because it was dark outside."

Miss Holzmeister said Cann, who was dressed in civilian clothes, "fell to the floor on his back" and appeared to be unconscious when he was rushed to a hospital.

Scores of police from nearby communities surrounded the church in the predominantly Mexican-American Decoto section of the city after the shooting.

The meeting was called by Cann in hopes of easing tension among the Mexican-American population over the fatal shooting of Alberto Terrones Jr., a 31-year-old robbery suspect, and other incidents of alleged police harassment of Mexican-Americans.

Chief Cann was the only police representative at the meeting. He had asked other officers to stay away in order not to arouse any further ill-feeling.

Union City encompasses a burgeoning suburban area on the southeast side of San Francisco Bay. About 4,000 of the population of 27,000 are Mexican-Americans, who originally settled here to work in nearby farms.

The group at the church included some members of the Latin community, but did not appear to be a hostile audience as Cann discussed the shooting of Terrones when the suspect allegedly drew a knife on an arresting officer.

NIXON

leader to negotiate with Israel.

Sadat praised Nixon for his leadership in working out cease-fires between Israel and its Arab neighbors, Egypt and Syria, saying:

"And despite the fact this is but one step, it is however a right one and in the right direction and without it no progress could have been achieved along the long road to peace."

Basking with Nixon in the warm welcome by Egyptians were First Lady Pat Nixon and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, who has become a familiar figure to Egyptian officials while negotiating the cease-fire agreements.

Kissinger, whose constant trips back and forth across the Mideast brought the cease-fires that made Nixon's journey possible, smiled and waved to his many Egyptian friends in the airport reception line. The tension of his resignation threat yesterday was apparently put aside.

Nixon and Sadat began their formal talks about an hour behind schedule because a crowd of about 60,000 formed a semicircle about Koubbeh Palace, slowing Nixon's ride to Tahra Palace, Sadat's temporary residence.

When Nixon and his wife arrived for a courtesy call, Sadat and his wife surprised them with a portrait of Nixon by an Egyptian female artist, Eitemad el Taraboulsi. Nixon smiled at the gift and thanked Sadat.

About the only part of the welcome that Sadat could not control were the mosquitoes that hummed around the leaders at the airport even though a tank truck sprayed the runway with repellant before Nixon's arrival. Swatting a mosquito with his hand was one of Nixon's first acts as he left his plane.

"Well, this is a great day," Nixon said as he stepped from The Spirit of '76 jet.

"It is indeed a great day for us," Sadat replied.

As a gesture of good will, Sadat announced shortly before Nixon's arrival that Egypt was giving up the American University in Cairo that was seized in 1967 during the Arab-Israeli war.

In his speech from the balcony of Koubbeh Palace, Sadat told his guest:

"I am fully aware that you share with me the belief that this is a unique moment, a major turning point which should not be lost —but rather grasped with vigilance, persistence and dedication —to build an endurable and honorable peace."

San Francisco Crime Is Down

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — There were 3,564 major crimes in May in San Francisco compared with 3,866 in the same month a year ago, the Police Department reported yesterday.

The crimes, with 1974 figure first:

Murder 10-10; rape, 29-36; robbery, 342-431; aggravated assault, 309-229; burglary, 1,209-1,341; larceny, 1,061-1,066; auto theft, 704-753.

Strauss: Nixon Can Take Credit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Robert Strauss said yesterday President Nixon has a right to take credit for the administration's Mideast diplomatic successes.

The Democratic national chairman told reporters that just as Nixon had responsibility for having chosen men involved in the Watergate scandals, "it should be said that the same President also used the power of appointment to appoint a secretary of state (Henry Kissinger) ... and to give him support."

Voters Adamant On Tax Increase

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Voters rejected a 25 per cent increase in their school tax levy yesterday, the seventh levy increase failure in four years. But officials said they will try again before the summer is out.

City and school officials began working on their strategy for the new election and said if some kind of levy increase isn't passed, the prospects for quality education in the nearly bankrupt school district are nonexistent.

ter."

Broemmel later told the Independent-Journal that The Tamalpais "is just a piker," compared to retirement centers in luxurious settings in Southern California which have tax-exempt status.

He said their nonprofit exemptions have been upheld in court and that the only way to change the situation was through new legislation, possibly setting a ceiling on the level of housing for the elderly which could be tax exempt.

Broemmel also emphasized that he played no part in the closed-door discussions between Tamalpais officials and Larkspur representatives. He said that it was his decision to remove The Tamalpais from tax rolls but that he has not yet officially done so.

He said that the application for the exempt status was sent to Sacramento from his office on April 1, prior to the negotiations with Larkspur officials. He said he was not even aware such discussions were going on.

He said there are four other facilities in the county with the same status — The Redwoods, Aldersly Danish Home, Martinelli House and Nazareth House. (All provide housing for elderly people, but none is as expensive or luxurious as The Tamalpais.)

Broemmel said that under current state legislation and court interpretation of it, the luxuriousness of a facility like The Tamalpais plays no part in determining the tax exempt status.

Joining the county supervisors in protesting the situation yesterday was Lotte Schiller, a member of the Tamalpais High School District Baord of Trustees. Under the current tax rates her district would lose $56,485 a year from The Tamalpais' removal from the tax rolls. Also hard hit would be the Kentfield School District ($76,636 per year), Marin Community College District ($27,211 per year), and Ross Valley Sanitary District ($25,768).

Two Priceless Vases Stolen

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Thieves who stole $86,000 in cash from a warehouse owned by Howard Hughes last week also made off with two "priceless" China vases, police disclosed Monday.

In addition to the cash and vases, the thieves also stole an antique Mongolian eating bowl valued at from $2,000 to $3,000.

Police described the burglary as "well planned," but did not believe the thieves were professionals.

Scientist Urges More Space Funds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Edward Teller called for increased expenditures for the nation's civilian space program yesterday to support a broad range of practical applications of space technology.

The nuclear physicist told the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics that he believes the space program can make major contributions in fields ranging from weather forecasts to crop disease detection to the manufacture of crystals for electronics.

Black Minister In White Church

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — A black minister has been appointed pastor of a 1,200-member white Methodist church in a pioneer move in the denomination's biracial system for appointing ministers.

The Rev. O. Eugene Slater, resident bishop of the San Antonio area United Methodist churches, Monday announced the appointment of the Rev. J. Garfield Owens as senior minister of Jefferson Methodist Church.

OBITUARIES

Ada R. Ruf Dies At 76

Funeral for Ada R. Ruf of San Rafael, a longtime Marin resident, will be Friday at 11 a.m. at the Chapel of the Hills in San Anselmo.

Mrs. Ruf died Monday in a local hospital after a brief illness. She was 76.

She was born in Sacramento, and moved to Marin 42 years ago. She lived at 1829 Second Street.

Mrs. Ruf was a three-time president of Fairfax Parlor Number 225, Native Daughters of the Golden West. She was also a member of Genessee Council Number 180, Degree of Pocohontas.

She is survived by a daughter, Evelyn Monte of San Anselmo, a sister, Jane Williams of Petaluma, two grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

A memorial service will be tomorrow at 8:30 p.m. at the Chapel of the Hills, under the auspices of Fairfax Parlor Number 225 NDGW. Inurnment will be private.

MRS. DWYER

Private funeral was today for Laetitia Elizabeth Dwyer, a resident of Marin for the last 67 years.

Mrs. Dwyer died Monday in a San Rafael hospital after a short illness. She was 93.

A native of San Francisco, she and her husband, the late William H. Dwyer, moved to San Anselmo in 1907 to open a building-contracting business.

She lived on Hillcrest Court in San Anselmo until five years ago when she went to live with her daughter, Alys Wargin at 4 Third Street in San Rafael.

She also is survived by another daughter, Claire E. Tilden of San Rafael; a brother, Arthur M. Blade of San Rafael; two grandchildren, and five great-grandchildren.

MRS. BECK

Grace Burris Beck, former teacher and principal at the Belvedere School, died yesterday at her San Francisco home following a brief illness. She was 80.

A native of Alameda, Mrs. Beck moved to Marin in 1910 and lived in Inverness.

As Grace Burris McCurdy, Mrs. Beck joined the teaching staff at the Belvedere School in 1926 and worked there as a teacher and principal until 1942.

In 1941, she married Joseph R. Beck, a marine engineer, and a year later retired from teaching. Beck died in 1959.

Mrs. Beck is survived by her son, Arthur B. McCurdy of San Rafael, and five grandchildren.

Funeral will be Friday at 1:30 p.m. at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael. Burial will be at Cypress Lawn Memorial Park, Colma.

MRS. McCARTHY

Muriel H. McCarthy, mother of Mrs. Hugh Harris of Belvedere, died yesterday in a San Francisco hospital after a long illness.

She was the wife of attorney Richard I. McCarthy.

Mrs. McCarthy was a lifelong San Francisco resident.

In addition to her daughter and her husband, she is survived by two sons, Richard I. McCarthy Jr. and Joseph A. McCarthy, both of Milpitas; a brother, William C. Hopper, and a sister, Alice Devine, both of San Francisco, and three grandchildren.

The rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at Carew and English in San Francisco. Mass of the Christian Burial will be offered at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow at St. Vincent de Paul Church, San Francisco. Entombment will be in Holy Cross Mausoleum, Colma.

ALBERT V. ARMSTRONG

Funeral for Albert V. Armstrong of Petaluma, a lifetime resident of Southern Sonoma, will be at 11:30 a.m. tomorrow at the Sorensen Funeral Home.

Armstrong, 88, died in a local hospital Monday after a brief illness.

Until his retirement, he was a building contractor. He lived at 70 Raymond Heights.

During World War I, Armstrong served as a corporal in the Army.

Armstrong is survived by his wife, Madeleine Armstrong; two brothers, Earl Armstrong of Petalulma and Roy Armstrong of Riverside, Los Angeles County; two sisters, Ruby Fuller of Petaluma and Hazel Murray of San Bruno.

Burial will be at Cypress Hill Memorial Park in Petaluma.

GLADYS MUMY

Gladys Kresy Mumy, 45, of San Rafael, a registered nurse, died unexpectedly yesterday at a local hospital after collapsing earlier in the day.

Mrs. Mumy was born in New York but had lived in Marin the past 20 years.

She trained at Mount Zion Hospital in Philadelphia.

Mrs. Mumy had worked at Marin General Hospital and had done private duty nursing. Most recently, she had worked at Parkway Convalescent Hospital in San Rafael.

She was a member of the California Nurses Association.

Mrs. Mumy is survived by two children, Janet and John Mumy of San Rafael, and two brothers, Gerald Kresy of Oakland and Jack Kresy of New York.

EMILY HUNT

Private funeral for Emily Dillehay Hunt, long-time San Rafael resident, was held Monday at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

She died Thursday in a Santa Barbara hospital after a long illness. She was 54.

Mrs. Hunt was born in San Francisco but lived most of her life in San Rafael. She moved to Arroyo Grande, San Luis Obispo County, six years ago.

She was a member of the First Congregational Church of San Rafael, the Business and Professional Women's Club of San Rafael and Women in Construction.

Mrs. Hunt is survived by her husband, Welby L. Hunt of the home; a son, Kenneth Dillehay of Alhambra; a daughter, Pamela Hunt of Arroyo Grande, and a sister, Mrs. George Knowles of San Rafael.

Memorial gifts to the American Cancer Society would be preferred by the family.

MRS. SHILZONY

Funeral has been held for Gertrude T. Shilzony of Mill Valley, a 22-year resident of Marin.

Mrs. Shilzony, 85, of 47 North Knoll Road, died Saturday at a local hospital.

A native of Germany, she had lived in California 48 years.

Surviving are two sons, Fred and Victor Shilzony, both of Mill Valley, and two grandchildren.

Burial was private.

ARTHUR KLINCKMANN

Funeral for Arthur Klinckmann of Corte Madera, retired businessman, will be at 4 p.m. tomorrow in Memory Chapel at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery in San Rafael.

Klinckmann, 78, of 63 Lakeside Drive, died Sunday at a local hospital after a long illness.

He was founder and co-owner for 20 years of Eureka X-Ray Tube Corp. in Chicago. He retired in 1954 and moved from Chicago to Marin six years ago.

Klinckmann, a native of Chicago, attended the University of Illinois.

Surviving are his wife, Alice M. Klinckmann of Corte Madera; three daughters, Muriel Klinckmann of Corte Madera, Evelyn Klinckmann of Mill Valley and Dorothy Mock of Clearwater, Fla., and four grandchildren.

Friends may call between 3 and 4 p.m. tomorrow at Memory Chapel. Burial will be at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery. The family requests memorial gifts to the Sierra Club.

LEO KEMPER

Leo E. Kemper, longtime Sausalito resident and former publisher, died Monday in a local hospital after a brief illness. He was 79.

No funeral is planned but friends may call at the Russell and Gooch Funeral Home in Mill Valley, beginning at noon Friday.

A native of Greenfield, Iowa, Kemper had lived in Sausalito since the early 1920s. For the last few years before his illness, he lived at the Alta Mira Hotel. Before that, he owned a home near the Star of the Sea Church.

He operated a printing business in San Francisco until his retirement in the late 1940s and was for a time publisher of The American Tobacconist, a trade magazine.

Kemper attended the University of Washington. During World War I, he was a second lieutenant in the Army Signal Corps. He was a member of the American Legion Mill Valley Post No. 284.

He was the husband of the late Lucretia Hutchinson Kemper. Survivors include a sister, Lou Carbaugh, of Tappinash, Wash.

EUGENE RYAN

Mass of Christian Burial for Eugene A. Ryan of Corte Madera, owner of a San Francisco shipping firm, will be at 9 a.m. tomorrow at St. Patrick's Church in Larkspur.

Ryan, 63, of 50 Golden Hinde Passage, died Sunday in a local hospital after a brief illness.

Since 1946, he owned Pacific Transfer Co., a baggage shipping operation headquartered on Treasure Island.

Surviving are his wife, Jean Ryan of Corte Madera; a daughter, Joan Bartmess of San Jose; three brothers, John A. Ryan of Santa Rosa, Francis M. Ryan of San Carlos and Joseph P. Ryan of Palo Alto, and three grandchildren.

Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Russell and Gooch Mortuary in Mill Valley. Burial will be in Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma.

LESTER HANNAH

Word has been received here of the death of Lester J. Hannah, former Marin County resident and advertising man. He died May 25 in the Veterans Hospital in San Diego.

Hannah went into the advertising business in the early 1920s, operating his own agency in Chicago and San Francisco. He worked for J. Walter Thompson, Milton Beal, Campbell Ewald, Blackman and Wallace Silversmiths.

When he lived in Marin, he worked for E. D. Bullard Co. of Sausalito. At one time he was president of Hannah Laboratories, Inc. of Carmel Valley and gave his name to the poison oak remedy known as "So Help Me Hannah." He was a veteran of World War I.

He was a member of the Lakeside Golf Club, the Olympic Club of San Francisco and the Rancho Bernardo post of the Veterans of World War I.

He is survived by his wife, Norma Hannah, who was the Kentfield School District's first librarian from 1961 to 1968; and a son, Jay Hannah, New London, Conn.

Memorial gifts to the Braille Institute of America, 741 North Vermont Avenue, Los Angeles, would be preferred by the family.

MOUNT TAMALPAIS CEMETERY Marin's Peaceful Place of final rest

Mount Tamalpais Cemetery is a true haven of beauty, a lovely site of green lawns and rolling hills guarded by handsome trees.

The beauty of this setting is guarded, too, by an ever-growing endowment fund which guarantees the care of this property in the years ahead.

Perhaps—like many Marin families—you will want to consider the advantages of making final arrangements at Mount Tamalpais now. This thoughtfulness can spare loved ones difficult decisions in time of sorrow. We invite your visit, or suggest that you write for our brochure which explains our facilities.

DENIED BY PINKERTON

Sister Of Butch Cassidy Says He Survived Bolivia

LOGAN, Utah (UPI) — Butch Cassidy, leader of the Wild Bunch, wasn't killed in South America with the Sundance Kid, says the outlaw's 90-year-old sister.

But William C. Linn, vice president of the Pinkerton Detective Agency, which hounded Cassidy out of the country, says an eyewitness saw his body.

Mrs. Lula Parker Betenson and Linn spoke at the opening of a new outlaw and lawman library at Utah State University.

"Butch was a good boy who got off on the wrong foot," said Mrs. Betenson, of Circleville, Utah.

"The only thing I hold against him is that he hurt my parents so much. He broke my mother's heart."

"But I'll tell you this," Mrs. Betenson added, "Butch wasn't killed in South America. He came back to this country and lived a good many years."

However, Linn said the Pinkerton file on Robert Leroy Parker, alias Butch Cassidy, ends with the "sworn statement of an eyewitness who saw the bodies."

LULA PARKER BETENSON
Famed outlaw's sister

Linn said Parker and Harry Longabaugh, also known as the Sundance Kid, were shot by the Bolivian Army in 1911.

"I have talked to a lot of people who claim Butch returned to the United States, but I have never been able to pin down any solid evidence," Linn said.

But 80-year-old "Cowboy Joe" Marsters, who claims he rode with the Wild Bunch at the age of 14, said he saw Cassidy at the San Francisco World's Fair in 1915.

Marsters, of Sacramento, Calif., said he was riding bucking broncs in a wild west show and after one performance a man walked up to him and said, "Your old boss would like to see you."

"I said 'How is Butch?' and this fella said, 'Look over there and see for yourself'."

Marsters said a man in the crowd raised his arm and waved-and then disappeared.

"It was Butch," he said.

Pinkerton men, working for the railroads, tracked the Wild Bunch and other outlaws and built immense files on them before police agencies began keeping criminal records.

The Pinkerton vice president presented the library with documents and photos dealing with the Wild Bunch. He said the company would also give the library its files on Frank and Jesse James, the Younger Brothers and other outlaws.

Cuts Asked In Tam Fire Budget

Directors of the Tamalpais Fire Protection District have recommended cuts totaling $50,000 from the district's proposed 1974-75 budget of $395,576, which is $15,576 higher than the current spending program.

The reductions, suggested at a meeting Monday, are in the budget's capital improvement section, according to Fire Chief Dale N. Bennett. The recommendations will be explored further at a hearing at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday .

Even with the cuts, the spending plan is expected to raise the district tax rate to 96.5 cents per $100 of assessed valuation. It currently is 93 cents per $100, Bennett said.

The chief attributed the budget increase to inflation and federal legislation that limits the working hours of firemen to 60 a week, requiring the district to hire two additional men at a cost of about $30,000 a year.

In other business, directors hired the Sausalito architectural firm of Donald Olsen and Associates to design a new firehouse proposed to replace Fire Station No. 1 on Poplar Street.

Following the public meeting, board members adjourned to closed session to discuss wage negotiations with district employees.

Subdivision Permit Is Rescinded

The Corte Madera Planning Commission has rescinded a permit it granted last year for the controversial Madera del Presidio subdivision.

The commission voted unanimously Monday to revoke the permit for the first part of the project, according to Town Mgr. Ronald E. Bartels.

Developer of the project, Cal West Communities Inc., did not oppose the commission's action and plans to submit new plans for the project to the town council June 24, Bartels said.

The council had recommended that the commission consider revoking the permit.

"Everybody just felt it would be good to start with a clean slate," Bartels said.

Bartels said Monday's public hearing on the matter drew very little response from the small audience.

The original Madera Del Presidio plans were approved in 1972, but were halted by a citizens suit. Cal West then submitted plans for a smaller project which were approved last year.

The Corte Madera Planning Commission also:

HEARINGS — Set public hearings for July 8 on: the proposed Corte Madera general plan; a request by Mrs. Thomas Lee Young to build a single-family home at 26 Fairview Avenue; requests from Capital Planning Associates, owners of the Corte Madera Shopping Center, for permission to build a parking structure at the center.

STORE — Upheld board of design denial of a request by Town Improvement Co. to build a small retail store at 3 El Camino Drive. Area residents thought the store would generate too much traffic.

PARK — Approved additional landscaping and recreational facilities for the town park near the Granada tennis courts.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to July 8 at 7:30 p.m. in town hall.

Taxpayers Miss Protest Chance

NEW YORK (UPI) — The city's Finance Committee held a public hearing at city hall yesterday to give the nearly eight million New Yorkers a chance to sound off on a proposal to increase the city's sales tax rate from 7 per cent to 8 per cent.

Nobody showed up.

A Few Films

OGDEN, Utah (UPI) — Police report a gunman walked into the Adult Book and Cinema Shop in the downtown area, brandished a pistol and made off with $130 in cash and 65 films.

FOILING MOTHER NATURE

Much to the consternation of neighbors, the City of Sausalito permitted a property owner to lay a drainage pipe and fill a portion of creek, left, that meanders past 67 Woodward Avenue. The creek (right) is shown a few yards upstream in its more natural state. The destruction of a part of the creek recently was called to the attention of the city council by Raymond and Margot Gergus, who said it illustrated that environmental damage "is still going on" and that "little by little we are destroying what attracted us to Sausalito." Councilmen said that because of the cost, about $10,000, the city can't restore the creek, but city fathers confessed to learning a lesson. "What we can do," said Councilman Robin Sweeny, "is make damn sure this doesn't happen again." (Photos by Bob Hax)

Three Named Boys State Delegates

Kevin Barr of San Rafael High School, Jeffrey Knotts of Marin Catholic High School and Jeffrey Brusati of Terra Linda High School have been selected to attend Boys State by Wilkins Post 37 of the American Legion.

They will go to Sacramento June 22 to take part in the annual affair on the Sacramento State University campus with 900 other high school students from all over California.

The students will be assigned to political parties and carry on elections and conduct a miniature state government. Two boys will be selected to go to Washington D.C. for Boys Nation. Both events are sponsored by the American Legion.

Barr is the son of Dr. and Mrs. William Barr, 11 Maywood Drive, San Rafael. He is vice president of St. Raphael's Teen Club, a member of California Scholarship Federation, the school's soccer team and vice president of the San Rafael Fire Department's Explorers Post 321.

Knotts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Knotts, 44 Curtis Avenue, San Rafael, is on Marin Catholic's baseball, basketball and football teams. He was in the school's production of "Guys and Dolls."

Brusati is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Romolo Brusati, 95 Meriam Drive, San Rafael. He is a member of the Terra Linda High School basketball and football teams.

Britain's Home Office says it has ordered police to destroy photographs of cleared suspects and acquitted defendants rather than add the pictures to police files.

Petaluma To Use Funds For A City Bus System

The Petaluma City Council will spend $50,000 in federal revenue sharing funds to establish a city bus system.

In deciding how to allocate $435,000 in revenue sharing which the city will receive in fiscal 1974-75, the council Monday took a first step toward the transit system recommended several months ago in a Kaiser Engineers study.

City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer told the council the city can use federal funds distributed for road improvements to start a bus service. But Meyer warned that citizens will not use a bus system unless it is large enough to provide convenient service.

The council also agreed to put aside $67,534 for recreation projects, including baseball diamonds and playing fields at Kenilworth Junior High School.

Other revenue sharing allocations were: $65,000 to the police department to update communications and photography equipment and expand its building; $6,000 to replace 12 fire hydrants; $13,000 for a mid-decade census; $6,000 for the people's service center, a medical and social referral agency; $20,000 to remodel the west wing of city hall; $10,000 to hire a consultant to prepare the seismic safety element of the general plan; $12,000 to update fire department radio gear, and $28,000 for street improvements.

In other business, the council agreed to keep Petaluma's overtime parking fine at one dollar, even though Police Chief Larry D. Higgins had asked that it be doubled.

A Chance To Practice Lesson

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — A University of Puget Sound law professor lecturing his class on the need to defend the hated was given a chance to practice what he preached.

Midway through his presentation last week, Prof. Jim Beaver was interrupted by a male streaker who paused at the podium to say, "Don't mind me, I'm leaving."

Beaver carried on with admirable cool: "Now back to the defense of the hated — that fellow, for instance."

Expo Officials Expecting Boom

SPOKANE, Wash. (UPI) — Officials of the Expo '74 World's Fair are ready for the expected big attendance boom this summer.

As of Monday night, the exposition had drawn 1,102,322 persons since it opened May 4, well above anticipated attendance for the early part of the year.

Budget Is Adopted By Strawberry Board

The Strawberry Recreation District board has adopted a final 1974-75 budget of $119,675,-35, up $22,366 over this year's.

District Mgr. Gayle L. Hunter said the spending program approved Monday probably will require the same tax rate as this year, 52 cents per $100 assessed valuation. The district expects a rise in assessed valuation which will increase property taxes to $86,525.35 from $72,209.20 this year, so no tax hike will be need to finance the higher budget, she said.

The 1974-75 budget allocates $34,230.35 for salaries, compared to $30,994.20 for 1973-74.

Operating expenses for next year will total $45,585, compared to $34,265 for this year. This 1974-75 figure includes expenses for handling the newly approved $500,000 open space bond issue for the district.

Capital expenditures for next year will be $13,260, compared to $7,250 this year. Suggested capital improvements include building a tot lot, increasing landscaping and furnishing an arts and crafts room.

The district board also will spend $20,743 for interests and payments on loans, compared to $21,943 this year and also will set aside a reserve of $5,857.

Besides property tax income, the district expects revenue of $500 from building rental; $3,-500 from swim club payments; $150 for tennis court keys; $20,-700 from recreation programs; $5,000 from its garbage franchise; $300 from a car wash, and $3,000 from sale of open space bonds.

Living Cost Up

OTTAWA (UPI) — Food and petroleum prices drove the May cost of living in Canada up 1.7 per cent from the previous month and 10.9 per cent above that of May, 1973, Statistics Canada reported today.

MRS. DUCK NOW A MAMA

Joyce Zimmerman, (top photo) director of the Tamalpais Nursery School and her young charges offer food to a duck and her ducklings in the creek behind the school. The duck formerly made a morning run to the school, and the youngsters fed her. Since becoming a mother, though, she will not leave the water and expects curb service for her morning meal. In the bottom photo, she and her ducklings make tiny concentric circles as they swim about.

Sausalito Will Study Recycling Depot Plan

The City of Sausalito will explore the possibility of a pilot waste recycling depot, councilmen said last night.

Councilmen told city staff to work on the pilot proposal with Survival, Inc., a countywide recycling firm founded in 1971, and Bay Cities Refuse, Sausalito's garbage collection service.

The plan was in answer to a request by Elisa Harman of Survival, Inc. for $1,000 to buy bins to be placed at a strategic place in the city for residents to take newspapers, tin, aluminum cans, glass and rags.

The recycling firm has six depots throughout the county and there is evidence that a Sausalito depot would be successful, she said.

City Mgr. Thomas P. McKenzie pointed out that Bay Cities Refuse had agreed to donate waste collection bins to the city for recycling purposes.

He urged, and councilmen agreed, that the city should not spend any money until an experimental depot has been set up by the refuse collection firm and Survival and until there is proof that citizens will use the depot.

The Sausalito City Council also:

MORATORIUM — Set a public hearing for 8 p.m. Tuesday on extending for eight months the city's freeze on waterfront construction.

GENERAL PLAN — Declined to ask the state for a one-year extension of time to complete mandatory elements in the city's general plan. Councilmen asked staff and the planning commission for estimates when the elements, such as housing, seismic safety and noise, would be finished. The state deadline is Sept. 23.

LOADING — Established a loading zone at Locust and Caledonia Streets.

PARKING — Established a no-parking zone adjacent to 104 Glen Drive.

DEVELOPMENT — Voted 3-1, Sally Stanford dissenting, to require developers to present evidence that all utilities are available for a project before a building permit may be issued.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned until 8 p.m. Tuesday in council chambers.

Allin Installed In Bishop Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Rt. Rev. John Maury Allin was formally installed yesterday as the 23rd presiding bishop of the Episcopal Church during colorful ceremonies at the Washington Cathedral.

He had been serving as bishop of Mississippi and was elected last October to succeed the Rt. Rev. John E. Hines.

The ceremony began with a procession of an estimated 700 church and lay leaders.

Bishop Allin was welcomed to the cathedral by its dean, the Very Rev. Francis B. Sayre Jr., and conducted to the stall designated for the presiding bishop by Bishop William F. Creighton of Washington.

Sausalito Fireworks Display Is Approved

The traditional Fourth of July fireworks show in Sausalito will go on again this year, the city council decided last night.

Last week, councilmen turned thumbs down on the Independence Day pyrotechnics because of traffic and crowd control problems that plagued the city last year.

But resident Robert Sachs asked the council to reconsider its stand last night. There are "no solutions for the problems of last year," Sachs admitted. "All we can do is minimize them with sensible plans this year."

He adjourned to an outer office to discuss his proposal with Police Chief James D. Wright and Fire Chief Robert Quayle.

They emerged a short time later with a plan accepted by councilmen after some resistance from Councilman Sally Stanford.

The proposal involves closing all but the northern entrance to the city to all cars except those of residents on July 4 at 6 p.m. From the north, police will allow persons to drive downtown if they are going to restaurants.

Urged by members of the audience, councilmen agreed that the city should pay $800 in overtime to policemen who will man roadblocks at closed streets.

Although Miss Stanford objected to closing southern entrances because her restaurant, the Valhalla, is in the south of the city, she finally gave in. She also supported the city paying for police overtime.

Mead Attacks Food Program

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — Dr. Margaret Mead says the United States is forcing a number of poor countries into bankruptcy by using food the same way the Arab nations use oil for political gain.

The anthropologist said 40 developing nations would be bankrupt by the end of the year at the present rate of world food consumption.

"The United States has been using food in the same way the Arab nations have used oil," she said. "We sold $20 million worth of food while people were starving. We have food, but we will only sell it to people who can pay us in political coin.

French Students Need Home

Twenty homes in the Marin area are still needed for a group of French students who will visit the county from July 16 to Aug. 15.

The students, sponsored by the Foreign Study League, are boys and girls aged 15 to 18. During their stay in Marin, they will attend classes at Sir Francis Drake High School in San Anselmo.

Those interested in serving as hosts to a French student should contact Maynard Brusman, 53 Foothill Road, San Anselmo.

Louisiana's Madison Parish contains several Indian ceremonial mounds.

Patrol Aims At Rustlers

RENO (UPI) — Nevada highway patrolmen will attend classes on brand inspection in an effort to catch cattle rustlers.

Patrol Chief James Lambert said his men will study administration of brand laws and will learn about techniques modern rustlers use. Ranchers say thieves commonly shoot a cow, drag it into a van and butcher it while the van travels to the nearest possible market.

Patrolmen routinely will record pertinent information on vehicles and drivers involved in livestock shipments.

Johnson's Impeachment Trial Rolls For Camera

RALEIGH, N.C. (UPI) — Raleigh, the birthplace of Andrew Johnson, is the scene this week of the filming of the lowest point in his political career — his impeachment trial.

Producer Al Vecchione chose Raleigh for the scene of the hour-long television documentary because the Senate chamber in the state's old Capitol closely resembles the U.S. Senate chamber used in Johnson's 1868 trial. Johnson was born here but reared in Tennessee.

The documentary is a joint effort of the National Public Affairs Center for Television, the British Broadcasting Co. and the Canadian Broadcasting Co. It will be aired on the public television network July 1 at 8 p.m.

"We're doing the story because people need to know about impeachment," said producer Al Vecchione. "It's a damn treacherous procedure. Treacherous as hell. And the only precedent we have for it is the Johnson impeachment that occurred more than 100 years ago."

Seven New York actors star in the documentary, including former "Exorcist" star Barton Heyman. Heyman is cast as Ben Butler who will execute the modern-day role of House Judiciary Committee Chairman Rep. Peter Rodino, D-N.J.

A "reporter" will narrate the documentary explaing the dialogue of the film, about 95 per cent of which is directly from the impeachment transcripts.

The film opens with the Senate seargeant-at-arms shouting, "All persons are commanded to keep silence on pain of imprisonment while the Senate of the United States is sitting for the trial of articles of impeachment exhibited against Andrew Johnson, President of the United States."

Although a bill of impeachment was returned against Johnson, he was found innocent in the Senate trial by only one vote.

Traffic Lights Helping Bay Bridge Commuters

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A new traffic light system designed to smooth vehicle flow across the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge has cut accidents and stalls by 15 per cent, it was announced today.

Since the system went into operation March 12, vehicle travel time through the toll plaza has been sliced by 2½ minutes between 7:15 and 8:30 a.m., the state Department of Transportation said.

Under the new traffic light system, cars line up behind traffic lights facing individual lanes and move forward to the toll plaza when the light flashes green.

"With metering smoothing out traffic as many as 8,800 cars have crossed the bridge during the peak commute hour as compared to an average of 8,300 before metering," the department statement said.

The present system affects cars traveling west across the bridge to San Francisco from the East Bay.

In its statement, the department also said it was going to extend its Bay Bridge system of giving westbound cars carrying three or more persons the right to travel in a priority lane which has less traffic.

The system, now in effect between 6 a.m. and 9 a.m., also will go into effect July 1 between 3 p.m. and 6 p.m.

Weekend Link With Buses Set

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The Municipal Railway's connection with Golden Gate Transit buses at the Golden Gate Bridge toll plaza will be extended to weekends, starting Sunday.

The expanded service will mean the Route 28 line through the Presidio and along Nineteenth Avenue will operate every day.

The connection service is provided roughly every 10 minutes weekdays between 6:35 a.m. and 8:50 p.m., and every 20 to 25 minutes on weekends and holidays between 8:50 a.m. and 8:50 p.m., according to a spokesman for the Municipal Railway.

Police Revamp Plan Is Approved

A plan to improve citizens' police protection by reorganizing the San Rafael Police Department was approved last night by the city council.

The council acted during a budget session to review proposed spending plans for 1974-75 for police, fire, parks and recreation and library.

Under the new plan, which eliminates the positions of a lieutenant and a patrolman, the department's five divisions will be consolidated into three units: administration, investigation and uniform, each headed by a captain, accoding to Police Chief Joseph J. Brusatori.

He said the first division will provide centralized management and other services, ranging from communications support to community relations and training.

Adult and juvenile investigations will be combined under the second unit which will handle cases initiated by the uniform division, the chief said.

The uniform unit, sometimes called the action arm of the police department, conducts preliminary investigations in major crimes, keeps the peace and performs numerous other services, he said.

By dividing watch patrols into teams to provide each of the department's three daily shifts with equal manpower, the new organization will insure that all areas of the city are protected adequately around the clock, according to Brusatori.

Although acknowledging that police activity will be increased next year, the council made no changes in the $1,207,045 budgeted for the 1974-75 fiscal year. The appropriation is $15,000 less than this year's.

Fire department representatives told the council that they have trimmed their staff by one man yet improved service by implementing a "flying squad," a backup unit to increase the safety of crews and families in crisis situations.

The fire department, which has the largest budget of any city department, is one of the few departments which the city manager William J. Bielser has recommended should get more money. His proposed spending plan for the fire department is $1,350,897, approximately $80,000 more than this year.

The council also looked over next year's proposed recreation department budget of $154,940, down approximately $22,000 from the current spending plan.

Councilmen learned that by allowing supervisors to work in the evenings the recreation department will be able to eliminate one position in fiscal 1974-75.

In other action, the council approved an allocation of $50,000 to expand floor space in the downtown library by 3,000 feet as an interim move before eventual construction of a branch library.

For that purpose, the council approved a second $50,000 allocation for the purchase of a 1.7-acre branch library and park site adjacent to St. Isabella's Church in Terra Linda.

The council next meets at 7:30 p.m. June 18 in the city hall to continue discussion of the 1974-75 budget, including accounts for capital improvements, gas tax and general services.

Soviet Building Is Firebombed

NEW YORK (UPI) — A number of Molotov cocktails were hurled early today at a building being constructed in the Bronx to house the Soviet consulate and mission to the United Nations, the fire department reported.

The firebombs started a small fire which was quickly extinguished by firemen.

A Fair Winner's Name Corrected

Tami Rettig of 15 Hickox Road, Novato, a member of the Novato Stars 4-H Club, was the winner of the arts and crafts award in the West Marin Junior Livestock Show at Point Reyes Station last Saturday.

Crash Is Blamed On Folded Wings

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — The reason a carrier-based jet fighter crashed into a residential area here in March was that the pilot took off with the plane's wings folded, the Navy said yesterday.

Several homes were damaged, one person was slightly injured and the $1 million A7F Corsair was destroyed. The pilot, Lt. Robert A. Schreiber of Fresno, Calif., ejected and parachuted safely.

School Pay Increase Will Drain Reserves

A proposed 8.2 per cent cost of living pay increase for employees of San Rafael's two school districts will cause the districts to dip more than $900,000 into reserve funds, the San Rafael Board of Education learned last night.

Supt. Donald Leisey told trustees that 75 per cent of the districts' reserves will have to be depleted to provide the pay raises for teachers and other employees without eliminating major programs for the 1974-75 school year.

He also predicted that the high school and elementary districts will have to ask voters to increase the per pupil spending limitation imposed by Senate Bill 90 if they are to make ends meet in 1975-76.

Trustees approved a tentative combined spending program of $13.3 million — $7 million for the high school district and $6.3 million for the elementary school district — and set July 9 for approval of the publication budget.

The combined spending plan for the two districts is up $575,000 from the budget proposed by Leisey in April.

The new increase is caused by an across-the-board 6.2 per cent pay hike for district employees, plus a 2 per cent raise granted in January, Leisey said.

Teachers have asked for 15.2 per cent raises, Leisey said.

The current tax rates per $100 assessed valuation are $2.15 for the high school district, and $3.15 for the elementary school district. These are expected to decline next year, Leisey said, although tax bills on the whole will rise because of increases in property values.

The San Rafael Board of Education also:

CREDIT — Approved a pilot program that allows teachers to award variable credit for art classes at Terra Linda High School depending on the amount of work and initiative displayed by the student. Currently, either full five-unit credit or no credit at all is given.

ENVIRONMENTAL — Discontinued the sixth grade outdoor education program, and ordered a task force to prepare an "environmental education" program for all elementary and middle school grades.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted resignations of custodian J. L. Coffey, teacher Powell Ownby, and instructional aide Daniel Passini; and granted a one-year leave of absence to teacher Robert Hixson.

PACIFIC CREST — Received $129.50 in gifts to Pacific Crest alternative school offered in memory of Jonathan Reem, a student at the school killed in a motorcycle accident a month ago.

Schultz Gets Stanford Post

STANFORD (UPI) — George P. Schultz, outgoing secretary of the treasury, has been appointed to the faculty at Stanford University's Graduate School of Business.

Schultz, 53, will have the title of professor of management and public policy, a Stanford spokesman said.

Schultz served as dean and professor of industrial relations at the University of Chicago's Graduate School of Business before joining the Nixon administration in 1969.

Needless Drug Deaths Claimed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A University of California physician says that 100,000 Americans die needlessly each year from the side effects of drugs given them in hospitals by doctors.

Dr. Philip R. Lee, former UC Medical Center chancellor, put the blame yesterday on pharmaceutical industry promotions, physicians and patients.

"Doctors often don't take the time to find out about drugs and many patients are not satisfied if something, anything, is not prescribed," he said.

The doctor's contentions are in a book called "Pills, Profits and Politics," which he wrote with pharmacologist Milton Silverman.

The use of prescription drugs is "completely out of hand," he declared.

Fire Chief Doesn't Want Extra Duties

The Fairfax Town Council, which fired Town Administrator Robert E. Crowe Monday, learned last night that the man named to act in his place doesn't want the job.

After the council dismissed Crowe at the session, it appointed Fire Chief Charles Thornton (who was not at the meeting) acting town administrator. But Thornton told councilmen last night he doesn't want the extra duties.

So councilmen decided they themselves will act as interm administrators until a successor to Crowe is found.

Mayor Frank J. Egger and Councilman Jean Marie Mahoney both will sign all routine purchase agreements normally approved by the administrator. Councilman Priscilla C. Gray will serve as alternate, in case one or the other is not available.

Meanwhile, councilmen took action to get the already-late budget process underway. They set a June 17 meeting to start going over department fund requests so that a preliminary budget for 1974-75 can be prepared.

The Fairfax Town Council also:

STORAGE — Sold a surplus 1,000-gallon gasoline container for $265 to the Armanino Co. of San Francisco.

NOISE — Agreed to pay $250 for a city-county noise study survey.

RETIRED — Introduced an ordinance granting a 5 per cent cost of living increase to retired town employees' pensions.

OPEN SPACE — Decided to appoint members to an open space committee at its next June 17 session.

NEGOTIATIONS — Agreed that the police chief and reserve police officers would be included with the members of the police officers association in salary negotiations.

FINES — Decided to join some other Marin cities in adopting a uniform fine schedule for parking tickets. Fees for parking violations will double. For example, a $5 citation for parking near a fire hydrant, will be raised to $10.

ADJOURNED — To 8 p.m. Monday at the Fairfax Women's Club.

Fire Fighters Being Released

SOLEDAD (UPI) — The state Division of Forestry started releasing some of 600 fire fighters yesterday with the containment of a 3,400-acre blaze that edged into Pinnacles National Monument.

Beginning with a ranch control blaze on Sunday, the fire is expected to be completely under control tonight.

There was no structural damage and only two minor injuries.

Hearing Tonight On Impact Report

A public hearing on the environmental impact report on the proposed Sequoia Pacific development for downtown Tiburon will be held by the Tiburon Planning Commission today at 8 p.m. at city hall.

The 36-acre development would include a marina, inn-conference center, offices and retail shops and several housing complexes.

Crowe Jury Selection Under Way

Jury selection began late this morning for the trial of former Fairfax Town Administrator Robert E. Crowe on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Crowe is accused of cutting a Fairfax teen-ager with a double bladed ax in a predawn fracas March 6, following a town council election.

Crowe's trial was switched this morning to the court of Superior Court Judge Henry J. Broderick, because Judge Charles Read Best, originally assigned to the case, will be on vacation next week.

Judge Broderick noted there has been much publicity concerning the case and Crowe's firing by the Fairfax Town Council on Monday.

He said he will take special pains in questioning prospective jurors about their knowledge of the case, Crowe's controversy with the council or personal acquaintance with any of the figures in the case.

Broderick said the case probably will be concluded late next week.

Meanwhile, a pretrial conference for Kenneth M. Davidson, Crowe's 19-year-old opponent in the fracas, was postponed today to June 26 by Municipal Judge Robert A. Smallman. Davidson is charged with disturbing the peace.

Driver Is Injured As Cycle Hits Pole

A San Rafael man was reported in satisfactory condition with broken ribs at Marin General Hospital today following a motorcycle accident.

John Rowan Griffith, 26, of 7 Perry Walk, was hurt about 1:30 a.m. when his motorcycle struck a telephone pole at the intersection of Woodland Avenue and Lindaro Street, police said.

$45,000 Will Be Used To Help Sonoma Dairies

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Sonoma supervisors will appropriate $45,000 during the next two years to help Sonoma dairies find ways to meet stringent new water pollution control regulations.

The county grant, approved this week, will match an identical grant from the U.S. Soil Conservation Service.

County officials estimate that about 40 per cent of Sonoma's 140 dairies do not meet rules set by the state's Porter-Cologne Act, which establishes water quality standards.

The North Coast Water Quality Control Board has begun a crackdown on dairies which allow run-off of animal wastes and wash water into streams.

Dairy spokesman Gene Benedetti told the supervisors the money will go to hire two engineers to design systems for the dairies to install.

Under the arrangement, the dairies themselves will not be required to help finance the venture, and the supervisors tentatively agreed to use revenue sharing money for the county share.

The board of supervisors also instructed the county planning commission to consider flood plain zoning along the lower reaches of the Petaluma River.

According to a zoning plan presented by Sonoma Water Agency director Gordon L. Miller, the zoning would begin just south of Petaluma.

Miller said it would preserve the marshland near San Pablo Bay and would allow agricultural use.

Arizona produced 54 per cent of all the copper mined in the United States in 1973.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Bagley's Protection Legislation Killed

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to ban the increasing use of social security numbers on a myriad of state government and private business forms was killed yesterday by the Assembly Judiciary Committee.

The bill, AB 2802 by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, was opposed by spokesmen for both public and private agencies.

Bagley said the bill was needed because the numbers are "becoming more social and less secure all the time" in a computerized society that gathers personal data about virtually every citizen.

The growing trend to use the numbers as standard universal identifiers enables anyone to pull together every kind of information available about a person, Bagley said.

BART IDEA

SACRAMENTO — A bill that could mean Marin will be served some day by Bay Area Rapid Transit District trains has been introduced in the Senate.

The measure, SB 2393 by Senate President Pro Tem James R. Mills, D-San Diego, would prohibit the Golden Gate Bridge District from building any "transit guideway" unless the state found it was "physically compatible" with the BART system.

The bridge district's long-range transit plan envisions a system of buses running on a fixed guideway between Novato and downtown San Francisco. The plan avoided the issue of a rail system after widespread opposition from Marin citizens to the population growth that would come with trains.

JUNIPER BUSHES

SACRAMENTO — A bill to require the state to reimburse property owners whose diseased juniper bushes have been removed under a state eradication program was killed yesterday.

The Senate Agriculture and Water Resources Committee scuttled the bill on the grounds it would set a costly precedent for state reimbursement for a host of plants eradicated to control other diseases.

The bill, SB 2398 by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, was asked by the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

PIPELINES

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to force major oil and gas companies to share their intra state pipelines withother companies yesterday was endorsed by the Senate Public Utilities and Corporation Committee.

The bill, SB 2179 by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, went to the finance committee.

A similar bill by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, was killed Monday in an Assembly committee.

The measure empowers the Public Utilities Commission to assure that pipelines are open to all companies to transport petroleum products within the state. Companies excluded from using the pipes cannot compete with companies big enough to afford building them, Behr said.

TWO PLANS

SACRAMENTO — Bills eliminating sales and use taxes on food at children's athletic events, and preventing citizens from borrowing money at state expense, have been introduced by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

The first, AB4394, would apply to such events as Little League baseball and Pop Warner football. The exemption would be limited to food served by a nonprofit organization.

The second, AB 4417, requires taxpayers to pay interest on unpaid taxes at the prevailing market interest rate.

Present law limits the rate to 6 per cent a year, so far below the market rate that many persons invest their money instead of paying their taxes. The bill also requires the state to pay the market interest rate on overpayment of taxes.

Las Vegas Runs Found Appealing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The president of Amtrak Corp. has called "quite attractive" a proposal for weekend runs through Las Vegas from Los Angeles to Ogden, Utah.

Roger Lewis said yesterday the route would be considered by Amtrak if an experimental proposal along the same line falls through. Nevada Senator Howard Cannon has urged that the route, one of several under consideration by the Department of Transportation, be designated Amtrak's annual experimental run.

Lewis told Cannon at a Senate Commerce Committee meeting that if the route does not become an experimental project, it would still compare favorable with other routes for extension on a more permanent basis.

Woman Reports Kidnap-Robbery

A San Rafael woman told police she was kidnaped and robbed at gunpoint yesterday by a male hitchhiker, according to police.

Officers said Patricia Josephson, 25, stopped at 4 p.m. yesterday at the Mission and Irwin on-ramp to Highway 101 to give a ride to the man.

After getting into the car, the man slapped Miss Josephson and ordered her to drive him to Mendocino, she reported. She said the man robbed her of $70 and a watch at gunpoint before she dropped him off in Sonoma.

The hitchhiker is described as a white male, early 20s, blond hair, six feet tall, weighing about 190 pounds.

Fund-Raiser

Jail Educational Plan Well Received

An educational program for inmates at the Marin County Jail was well received during a trial period this year and should be continued for the 1974-75 school year, the Marin County Board of Education decided last night.

Robert E. Spain, assistant superintendent, said trustees approved the program for next year after learning that state funds will pay the cost of it.

James B. Orrell, supervising teacher of the county program at San Quentin Prison, told trustees that county jail personnel, inmates and teachers all support its continuation. He also recommended that trustees expand the program to include female inmates.

Spain said trustees took no action on the suggestion, but agreed to study it.

The Marin County Board of Education also:

SUBSTITUTES — Received and referred to its salary negotiator a request from the Marin County Substitute Teachers Association that sustitutes pay be raised from $32 to $35 per day.

PRESCHOOL — Applied to the State Department of Education for $69,875 to continue its preschool education program.

JURY — Were told that Supt. Virgil S. Hollis has responded to grand jury reports on vocational-technical-career education and the Juvenile Hall education program, generally agreeing with both reports.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to June 25 at 8 p.m. in the county schools office.

Nonresidential Tennis Lessons Are Protested

Mill Valley should no longer let nonresidents take tennis lessons on city courts, the Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Commission has recommended.

The commission recommendation, approved Monday, will go to the city council for discussion, according to parks and recreation director Don L. Dimitratos.

Dimitratos said that the commission decision came after some residents presented a petition with 119 signatures protesting against five hours of lessons given on the courts each day.

Dimitratos said he did not know if excluding nonresidents from lessons would have much effect. Right now only 25 out of 175 people signed up for lessons given by the city are nonresidents.

Spice Cakes Are Always Welcome

By PHYLLIS HANES
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

Spice cakes are old-fashioned favorites that never wear out their welcome. They are often concocted with a fruit of the season or a touch such as prunes, applesauce or rhubarb to make a rich and moist dessert.

Making cakes from scratch need not be time consuming. Pitted prunes, ready to snip into bits, canned applesauce and pumpkin pie spice are some of the shortcuts.

While fresh rhubarb is naturally the choice in the spring, a recipe using rhubarb sauce should not be limited to those few spring-summer months. Make it year-round using frozen rhubarb, which is available in the supermarket anytime.

These cakes are fine enough for dessert when there's company, and they're a good treat with milk for children.

PRUNE APPLESAUCE CAKE

½ cup shortening
½ cup granulated sugar
½ cup brown sugar, packed
1 egg
1 cup applesauce
1¾ cups flour
1 tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
1½ tsps. pumpkin pie spice
½ cup chopped pitted prunes
Confectioners' sugar icing

Cream shortening and sugars until light and fluffy. Beat in egg and applesauce. Combine flour, baking powder, salt and spice. Add the prunes and mix lightly. Add dry ingredients to creamed mixture and beat until smooth

Spoon into greased and floured eight-inch square pan. Bake in 350-degree oven 45 to 50 minutes. Cool in pan 10 minutes, then remove from pan and continue cooling. Lightly glaze with confectioners' sugar icing.

Makes eight servings.

RHUBARB RIPPLE

2 pounds fresh rhubarb, cut in 1-inch lengths (about 5 cups)
1½ cups water
1 stick (2 to 3 inches) cinnamon
1 cup sugar
2 Tbsps. enriched flour
Red food coloring (optional)
Spice Scone
1 egg white
1 Tbsp. sugar
Whipped cream or ice cream

Combine rhubarb, water, and cinnamon stick in 2½-quart baking dish. Blend together sugar and flour; stir into rhubarb. Add food coloring, if desired. Bake in preheated 425-degree oven 20 or 25 minutes until bubbly. Arrange Spice Scone wedges on hot rhubarb. Beat egg white until foamy; brush over scone. Sprinkle top of scone with one tablespoon sugar. Return to oven for 20 minutes. Cover with foil last 10 minutes to prevent overbrowning.

Serve warm with whipped cream or ice cream.

SPICE SCONE

1 cup enriched flour
3 Tbsps. sugar
1½ tsps. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. ground allspice
¼ tsp. ground cinnamon
¼ cup shortening
½ cup chopped pecans
1 egg, beaten
2 Tbsps. milk

Stir together dry ingredients. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Stir in pecans. Combine egg and milk. Add liquid ingredients all at once to flour mixture, stirring until a soft dough is formed. Turn onto lightly floured surface and knead gently 15 seconds. Roll or pat out to circle quarter-inch thick. Cut into eight pie-shaped wedges.

(Spoon flour into measuring cup; level. Do not scoop. If self-rising flour is used, omit baking powder and salt.)

Two packages (one pound each) frozen cut rhubarb and juices may be used in place of fresh. Omit 1½ cups water and reduce sugar to quarter cup; add one teaspoon lemon juice.

Meal Salad Has Flavor Of Mexico

Fresh dairy products are natural mates for nutritious summer menus. Take for instance this luncheon salad accompanied by a glass of milk. It is a great medley of tastes and textures and a good example of a well planned menu. Based on protein rich foods like Monterey jack cheese and chicken, and vitamin rich fresh fruits and vegetables, the salad is a real winner. Hearty enough for a mansize appetite it can easily be put together in smaller size versions as appetites dictate.

This meal combination salad reflects the influence of Mexican cuisine on our California way of putting things together. It's the kind of salad that is made up of both finger foods and fork foods and eating it in this way adds to the enjoyment of the meal. Pick up pieces of Monterey jack cheese, crisp tortilla chips and shiny ripe olives are arranged artistically with bite size pieces of shredded chicken, orange slices and avocado crescents.

The base of the tasteful salad is shredded lettuce and the special dressing is dairy sour cream done up for the occasion in a contrasting mod color. The hot pink sour cream dressing brings with it overtones of lemon, mustard, a faint touch of garlic, chili powder and chili sauce. The chili sour cream dressing might very well become your favorite "house" dressing. It does beautiful things to a tossed vegetable salad.

THE FRESH foods of summer can be enjoyed in a great way on the patio. This is a combination salad and finger-food plate.

SUMMER SALAD

2 chicken breasts
2 tsp. salt
1 tsp. whole black peppers
1 carrot, sliced
1 onion, cut into wedges
Water
1 head romaine lettuce
3 oranges
2 avocados
1 pound monterey jack cheese
20 ripe olives
Tortilla chips
*Chili Dressing

Combine chicken, salt, black peppers, carrot and onion. Add water to cover. Cover pan and bring to boil. Simmer gently 45 minutes or until chicken is tender. Lift chicken from broth and remove meat from skin and bones. Tear or shred into bite size pieces. Wrap and chill.

To assemble salads, line four individual salad plates with outer leaves of romaine. Cut up remaining lettuce and heap into center of plates. Top with chicken. Pare and slice oranges. Remove seed and skin from avocados and cut into crescents. Cut cheese into sticks. Arrange orange, avocado and cheese around chicken.

Garnish with ripe olives and tortilla chips. Serve with Chili Dressing. Makes four servings.

Chili Dressing: Blend one cup dairy sour cream with three tbsp. lemon juice, 1 tsp. dry mustard, one-half tsp. garlic salt, one and one-half tsp. chili powder and one-fourth cup bottled chili sauce. Makes 1⅓ cups dressing.

Cabbage Takes On Celebrity Status

By Marion Odmark
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

CHICAGO — The common cabbage has suddenly come into its own. It's the new pet of the supermarket produce counters. Predictably it will be the home gardener's most pampered produce prize this coming summer and fall.

Budget-bound cooks and fashionable hostesses who have long snubbed this member of the mustard family are searching for new ways to include it in their daily menus and entertaining plans. Mrs. Wiggs of the cabbage patch would never have believed this craze for the lowly vegetable.

But cabbage juice is becoming a buffet favorite at many parties. Slaw and kraut are no longer ethnic specialties.

Boiled cabbage, cooked in a little salted boiling water until tender, is dressed up with well-seasoned sauces, chopped, and mixed with crisp bacon, cheese, sour cream and prepared mustard.

Cabbage leaves stuffed with spinach, egg, sharp cheddar cheese, rice and onion is a tasty replacement for meat dishes. Baked scalloped cabbage with chopped, canned tomatoes, white sauce, cheese and bread crumbs is a casserole with class.

Here are some Old World cabbage recipes now back in circulation. Russian cabbage soup, similar to borscht, uses cabbage instead of beets as the identifying ingredient. Called s'chee, or shchi, it has many variations. Here is one.

RUSSIAN CABBAGE SOUP

1 head cabbage, cut in wedges, remove stalks
2 carrots, scraped and sliced
2 stalks celery, cut in pieces, with leaves
1 turnip, peeled and quartered
6 cups beef bouillon
1 can tomato paste
Salt and pepper
1 clove garlic
3 tbsps. bacon fat
3 medium potatoes, peeled and quartered
Sour cream
Chopped fresh dill
Chopped fresh parsley

Simmer cabbage, carrots, celery, and turnips in the bouillon. Add tomato paste, salt, and pepper. Simmer for 2 or 3 hours. Saute onions and garlic in bacon fat. Add to the soup with potatoes. Cook for another half hour. Serve in large tureen with a bowl of sour cream on the side, with dill and parsley to sprinkle on top.

Serves six to eight.

DUTCH RED CABBAGE

3 tbsps. butter
1 small red cabbage, shredded
2 tbsps. wine vinegar
3 cooking apples, cored, diced, not peeled
Salt and pepper
1 tbsp. sugar
3 tbsps. of currant jelly

Heat butter in a heavy skillet, add cabbage, vinegar, apples, salt and pepper, and sugar. Cover tightly and cook over low

Peanuts Popular With Americans

NEW YORK (UPI) — Americans gobble an average of eight and one-half pounds of goobers per person per year. That's one and one-half pounds more peanuts than the per capita consumption ten years ago, says the Cornell University Extension Service.

The increase apparently is due to the high price of other protein foods such as beef, poultry and dairy products.

Turning A Hot Dog Into A German Dish

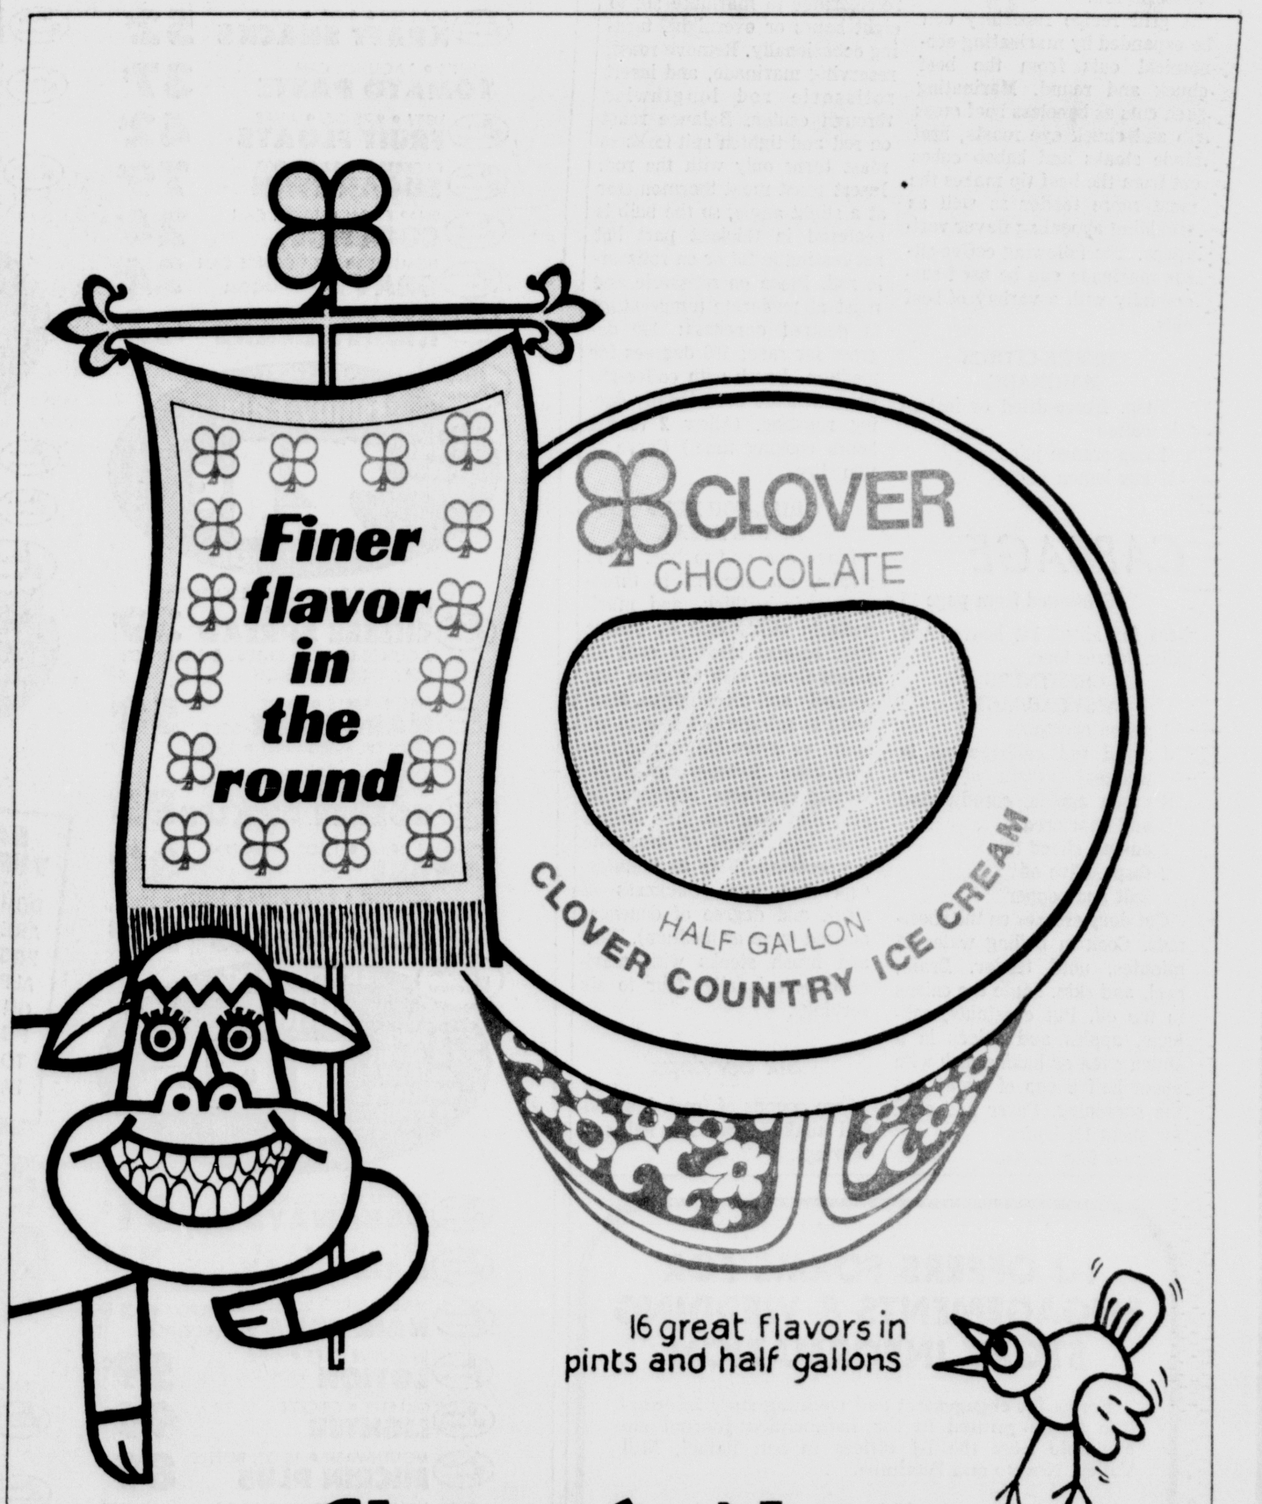
This hearty German dish combines real Old World flavor with a New World favorite — the hot dog. Served with sauerkraut and a stein of lager beer, this is the perfect meal for Oktoberfest celebrations. But don't wait until fall to enjoy this satisfying fare — it's great anytime.

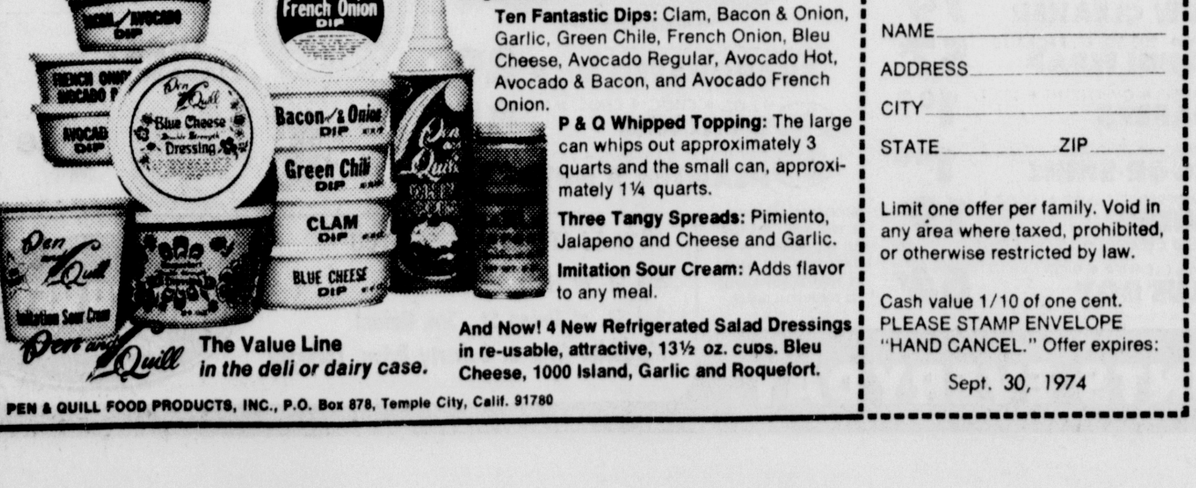
OLD BERLINER FRANKFURTER SKILLET

4 slices bacon, cut-up
½ cup minced onion
1 cup water
1 cup vinegar
2 tbsp. sugar
1 tsp. instant chicken boullion
1 tsp. mixed pickling spices
½ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
8 cups shredded red or green cabbage
1 package (1 lb.) frankfurters

In a large skillet fry bacon until almost brown; add onion and cook until tender. Add water, vinegar, sugar, boullion, pickling spice, salt and pepper — stirring to deglaze. Add cabbage; cover and simmer 45 minutes, stirring occasionally. Slash frankfurters crosswise six or seven times, not cutting all the way through. Place slashed frankfurters atop cooked cabbage. Cover and continue to simmer for 15 to 20 minutes.

Makes four servings.





French Cooks 'Know' Vegetables

The French consider vegetables a culinary joy, as well as a nutritional necessity. Highly esteemed, vegetables are often served as a separate course after the entree, or, for a light meal, as the main course.

Unfortunately vegetables have been sorely neglected in America. Three or four common varieties dominate our meals and usually they are overcooked and unseasoned.

Being perfectionists in the kitchen, the French give vegetables the attention they deserve. Whenever possible they are purchased fresh, and cooking methods are designed to retain their full color, flavor and nutrients. Variety in preparation insures that vegetables are never a bore.

SPINACH TIMBALE

8 eggs
1 tbsp grated onion
¾ tsp salt
dash pepper
1½ cups milk, scalded
½ cup heavy cream
2 packages (10-ounce) frozen chopped spinach, cooked and well drained
1 tbsp margarine

In large bowl, beat together eggs, onion, salt and pepper. Gradually stir in milk, cream and spinach until well blended. Pour in a 6½ cup ring mold greased with 1 tablespoon margarine. Set in a pan of boiling water. Bake at 325 degrees about 45 minutes, or until a knife inserted in the center comes out clean. Run a knife around edges of mold to loosen; unmold onto warm platter. Serve with cheddar sauce (recipe below). Makes four to six servings.

Cheddar Sauce: In heavy saucepan, melt six tablespoons margarine. Blend in one-quarter cup flour, one-half teaspoon salt and a dash of pepper. Cook over low heat, stirring until mixture is smooth and bubbly. Remove from heat and gradually stir in two cups milk. Return to heat and bring mixture to a boil, stirring constantly. Cook one minute longer. Remove from heat and stir in one cup shredded Cheddar cheese until melted.

TOMATOES PROVENCALE

6 large firm tomatoes
salt
¾ cup freshly-made fine bread crumbs
3 tbsp softened margarine
3 tbsp chopped parsley
1 clove garlic, minced

Cut tomatoes crosswise into halves. Sprinkle cut surface with salt.

Blend together bread crumbs, margarine, parsley and garlic. Spread over cut surface of tomatoes.

Broil slowly about six inches from source of heat for 25 minutes, or until tender and lightly browned. If desired, garnish with additional parsley. Makes six servings.

CAULIFLOWER AND TOMATOES AU GRATIN

2 cups water
1¼ tsp salt
1 head cauliflower (about 2 pounds), cut into flowerets
⅓ cup margarine
1 cup grated Swiss cheese
½ cup fine dry bread crumbs
½ tsp celery salt
⅛ tsp pepper
3 medium tomatoes, peeled, seeded and cut into strips ½-inch wide

Bring water and one teaspoon salt to a boil in a large saucepan. Add cauliflower, cover and return to a boil. Reduce heat and cook about 15 minutes, or until cauliflower is tender. Drain; set aside.

Melt margarine in a small saucepan. Stir in cheese, bread crumbs, celery salt, remaining one-quarter teaspoon salt and pepper. Sprinkle one-half of crumb mixture over bottom of a shallow 1½ quart baking dish. Arrange cauliflower and tomatoes over crumbs. Top with remaining crumb mixture.

Bake at 375 degrees about 20 minutes until golden brown. Makes eight to 10 servings.

BRAISED PEAS WITH LETTUCE

2 cups shredded lettuce
2 cups shelled fresh peas (about 2 pounds in pod)
¼ cup sliced scallions
1 tsp sugar
¼ tsp salt
¼ tsp crushed summer savory leaves
⅛ tsp white pepper
3 tbsp margarine, cut up

Place one cup shredded lettuce in a saucepan. Top with peas and scallions. Sprinkle with sugar, salt, savory and pepper. Dot with margarine. Top with remaining cup of shredded lettuce. Cover; cook over medium-low heat 15 to 20 minutes or until peas are tender. Makes four servings.

Clip And File For Backyard Cookouts

Every family has its own tried and true cookout fare — menu selections relied upon over and over throughout the summer. Beefburgers and tender steaks from the loin are all America's favorite choices. But for even greater eating enjoyment, that great beef flavor can be offered in dozens and dozens of different ways.

Real outdoor enthusiasts are familiar with and use the many other cuts of beef appropriate for cooking on grill top or rotisserie rod.

A grill recipe repertory can be expanded by marinating economical cuts from the beef chuck and round. Marinating such cuts as boneless beef cross rib and chuck eye roasts, beef blade steaks and kabob cubes cut from the beef tip makes the meat more tender as well as providing appealing flavor variations. The following coffee-citrus marinade can be used successfully with a variety of beef cuts.

COFFEE-CITRUS MARINADE

2 tsp. freeze-dried or instant coffee
1 cup orange juice
¼ cup lemon juice
¼ cup salad oil
2 Tbsp. brown sugar
1½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. nutmeg

BEEF ROTISSERIE ROAST

Place four to six-pound boneless beef cross rib or chuck eye roast and coffee-citrus marinade in plastic bag in pan. Close bag securely and place in refrigerator to marinate six to eight hours or overnight, turning occasionally. Remove roast, reserving marinade, and insert rotisserie rod lengthwise through center. Balance roast on rod and tighten spit-forks so roast turns only with the rod. Insert roast meat thermometer at a slight angle, so the bulb is centered in thickest part but not resting in fat or on rotisserie rod. Place on rotisserie and roast at moderate temperature to desired doneness: 140 degrees for rare; 160 degrees for medium. Brush with coffee-citrus marinade occasionally during roasting. (Allow 2 to 2½ hours cooking time.) Carve in thin slices.

GRILL-TOP BEEF BLADE STEAK

Place one or two beef blade steaks, cut one-half to three-quarter-inch thick, and marinade in utility dish or plastic bag, turning meat to coat all sides. Cover dish or close bag securely and place in pan. Marinate in refrigerator four to six hours or overnight, turning at least once. Remove steaks, reserving marinade, and place on grill top four to five inches from heat. Broil at moderate temperature 15 to 25 minutes, depending upon thickness of steak and degree of doneness desired (rare or medium). Turn and brush steaks with marinade occasionally, four to six servings.

Six Servings

Two pounds of fresh broccoli will make about six half-cup servings.

CABBAGE

CHESTNUTS AND CABBAGE

1 pound chestnuts
1 small red cabbage cut in wedges
4 green apples, cored, peeled and quartered
4 onions, sliced thin
2 tbsps. olive oil
Salt and pepper

Cut deep crosses on the chestnuts. Cook in boiling water 25 minutes, until tender. Drain, peel, and skin. Saute the onions in the oil. Put chestnuts, cabbage, apples and onions in a Dutch oven or baking dish with about half a cup of water and the seasoning. Cover and cook for about 1½ hours.

Serves four to six.

SUPER SLEUTHING

How simple it would be to do comparison shopping if everything were packaged into the same size containers. It would be quite impractical of course. A pound of coffee seems a reasonable amount, but anyone who would buy a pound of cumin at a time would have to be "institutionalized." Shopping would be a little monotonous too. Can't you visualize shelf after shelf of the same size bottles or boxes? Pretty "ticky tacky."

But we can have variety and compare prices too. Alpha Beta introduced "Price Per" in 1971 to help you better understand what you're getting for your money. "Price Per" is a special addition to our regular shelf price tag. It shows you the exact price of the item in terms of its weight or its measure—price per ounce, for example. Then, it's up to you to decide which size or which brand is a better buy to meet your needs. You can compare the unit prices of the various sizes and brands of similar merchandise.

Just remember, "Price Per" is only a calculation of exact unit price. It can't weigh the relative merits of one product against the other. It's only a measure of quantity. The decision on quality is yours. "Price Per" will help you become a "super sleuth."

Incidentally, "Price Per" is a good way to help youngsters appreciate decimals. If you have children with you when you're shopping, have them tell you which products have the lowest unit price.

MRS. GEORGE Worden arranges the sweet peas that her husband grows in the garden. They are celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary this year, and their daughters, Virginia Fraser of Novato and Mrs. John Reardon of Oxford, Ohio, will have an open house at the Rolling Hills Country Club in Novato on June 30. The couple was married on April 15, 1924, in Olathe, Kan.

Wordens Observe 50th Anniversary

A spring celebration was held and another is planned in the summer for Mr. and Mrs. George Worden of Novato in celebration of their golden wedding anniversary.

The couple was married April 15, 1924, in Olathe, Kan.

A surprise reception was held for them at the Novato United Methodist Church, where they are active members. On June 30 their daughters, Mrs. Virgina Fraser of Novato and Mrs. John Reardon of Oxford, Ohio, will entertain family and friends of their parents at an open house at the Rolling Hills Country Club in Novato.

Mrs. Worden, the former Floring Kohler, was born in Harrisonville, Mo., on the same ranch where her father and grandfather were born. Also born in a small town, Worden is a native of Kingsville, Mo. The Wordens still maintain the ranch in Harrisonville.

Although they were both born in Missouri, they didn't meet until both moved to Olathe. Their first date was at a Chautauqua at the Methodist Church in Olathe, where they recall listening to a bird imitator.

Mrs. Worden's first job was as a teacher in Olathe in a rural school, where she taught all eight grades of 20 to 25 pupils. She said she not only taught school, but also swept the school, shoveled snow in the winter and built the fire. But, she added, when the children left school they knew how to read and write.

After serving in World War I Worden joined the post office and retired after 20 years. His next career was in the Air Force from which he also retired after 20 years as a major.

The Wordens spent part of his tour of duty in England and Germany, which they say was one of the happiest times of their lives. They had their daughters with them, and Mrs. Worden worked in the special investigation service for the Air Force in Germany.

On a trip to visit their daughter Virginia who was living in the Philippines they became interested in Philippine art. In 1964 they opened the House of Fraser in Sausalito, where the art is sold. The shop is managed by their daughter.

It was also in 1964 that the Wordens returned to the Novato home they had bought while Worden was stationed at Hamilton Air Force Base in 1952.

"We've had a good life together," Mrs. Worden said.

Her hobbies are bridge and reading, and her husband enjoys gardening. She belongs to the antique appreciation group of the Novato Federated Women's Club. Worden was a Boy Scout master for 10 years and has received the 50-year pin in the Independent Order of Odd Fellows. He has also been a member of the Masonic Lodge for 48 years.

The couple has 12 grandchildren

GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

Liberal Parents Don't Breed Promiscuity In Their Children

A Washington mother wrote to Generation Rap recently, "Like many others in my generation, I'm beginning to see that the New Morality is an honest approach to love. I now would be neither surprised nor terribly saddened if our college-freshman daughter had a responsible affair. But I keep on pretending I would, because if our children knew our views had changed they might take too many liberties with sex... Do openly liberal parents (and I don't mean 'libertines') breed promiscuous kids?"

The answer, according to our Teen-age Questionnaire is "No!"

We ran a special computer study of the response from teen-agers who indicated their parents aren't strongly opposed to premarital sex (about 25 per cent of respondents), and we found:

Products of so-called liberal homes reported only 10 per cent less virginity than did children whose parents were "very firmly opposed to all unwed intercourse." The figures were: 60 per cent virgins in the liberal-parent group; 70 per cent virgins in the ultraconservative-parent group; and about 65 per cent virgins (68 per cent female, 61 per cent male) among all teen-age respondents.

In attitudes, however, we saw more startling differences: Only 18 per cent of teen-agers from liberal-sex-view homes expect to be virgin at marriage, as compared to 43 per cent of those from conservative homes (but they still favored traditional marriage 4 to 1).

Only 7 per cent of liberally raised young people considered premarital sex "never okay," and 70 per cent thought it was "okay if you care about each other, although not planning marriage." This compares with 24 per cent and 50 per cent respectively among all teen-agers, and 29 per cent and 44 per cent among the conservatively raised.

The number (2 per cent girls, 10 per cent boys) of votes for "recreational sex, any time with anyone" remained unchanged, regardless of parents' open or closed views. Clearly, fun and games without commitment is not popular with today's youth.

On the plus side, children of liberal-minded parents reported far better family communication. Seventy per cent answered "Yes" to: "Do your parents generally discuss moral and ethical values with you and listen to your side?" More than half of those from more conservative homes said, "No! They just lay down the law."

More of the liberally raised felt their parents understood them, but in answer to "Do you basically agree with your parents' viewpoints on politics, your career, drug abuse, minority races, what constitutes a successful life," they agreed with their peers in saying "No" an average 60 per cent of the time.

"Do you agree with your parents on the New Morality?" brought only 34 per cent "Yes" votes from teen-agers whose folks were trying to accept it — which may prove the kids are always several jumps ahead of their elders, no matter what.

Another plus for the "liberals" is that considerably fewer disliked themselves and their lives, probably because communication lines at home had remained open. Also, they indicated in greater numbers that they would tell their parents if they contracted VD (50 per cent, vs. 37 per cent in conservative homes); were involved in an abortion, (54 vs. 41 per cent); or were raped (73 vs. 70 per cent). We learned in last year's adult survey that over three-fourths of the parents think they'd be consulted about these problems.

As expected, teen-agers reared in New Morality-oriented homes were more liberal in other areas, too. They favored legalization of marijuana by 50 per cent as compared to the national teen-age average of 47 per cent; and 53 per cent of them had tried it (vs. 44 per cent of all respondents). Seventy-seven and 68 per cent respectively wanted a lessening of penalties for private use.

Nearly 80 per cent wanted the legal liquor age uniformly lowered to 18, a slightly higher

Marin Teen-Agers Strange Liberal-Conservative Mix

By HELEN BOTTEL

Marin County youth showed a mixture of conservative and liberal thinking in several areas:

They nearly tied the conservative Midwest in their 28 per cent "Yes" answers to "Do you think premarital sex for teen-agers is never okay?"

Yet 12 per cent, as compared to a nationwide 3 per cent vote, believed "sex is just another appetite, okay any time, with anyone." A 12 per cent (vs. 22 per cent overall) thought "sex is okay if you're engaged," and the remaining 48 per cent approved "if you care about each other though are not planning marriage."

LESS THAN two-thirds of Marin residents who answered our teen-age questionnaire believed their parents are "very firmly against all premarital sex for girls." This compares with a 75 per cent guess nationwide, and appears to affect local teen-agers' attitudes, if not their present actions.

As we mentioned earlier, scarcely more than one-fourth expect to be virgins at marriage (the lowest percentage recorded anywhere in the country), but the number of 13-through-19-year-old virgins here almost equals the national average, and surpasses other parts of the West.

Concerning booze and dope local young people were also ambivalent. Over half revealed they have tried marijuana (all-area average, 44 per cent), and 68 per cent, as opposed to an overall 47 per cent, want pot legalized. Yet 56 per cent believe illegal drug use is still a major problem among teens, and only 40 per cent think the problem is diminishing.

Barely 60 per cent, as compared with a 74 per cent nationwide vote, want the legal liquor age lowered to 18, and 52 per cent of area respondents considered excessive use of alcohol a major problem among the young.

FEWER THAN the national average (32 vs. 38 per cent) said they could "personally accept an abortion," but slightly more (72 vs. 68 per cent) okayed abortion for others.

If local young people were involved in abortion, however, they would be 20 per cent more apt to confide in their parents, they revealed.

Asked, "Would you tell your parents if you contracted VD?" 40 per cent answered, "Yes," and 80 per cent said they would seek parental guidance in case of rape. This is a higher confidence rating than that received by the elders in other geographical locations.

But while local youth registered general approval of parents almost half of them, a sizeable portion (16 per cent vs. only 6 to 9 per cent elsewhere) rated them "Not much interested in me." Another 40 per cent called them "over-anxious or over-protective" and often both.

Tomorrow: More Marin teen-agers' attitudes toward parents.

Send-Off Party Is Planned For Crew Members Of The Intrepid

Marin Women

Wednesday, June 12, 1974 Independent-Journal, 17

By MOLLY MARIN

Two San Francisco Yacht Club members, who will crew the Intrepid In the America's Cup eliminations, will be given a send-off cocktail party and dinner tomorrow at the yacht club in Belvedere.

Steve Taft and Doug Best, both of Tiburon, will leave this weekend for Newport, R.I., for the first of three elimination race series. They will summer there, racing and tuning-up the West Coast representative.

Winner of the American eliminations will meet the winner of the eliminations between France and Australia in the America's Cup on Sept. 10.

A program of films and slides of the intrepid will follow the 6 p.m. cocktail party and 8 p.m. dinner.

The Intrepid was purchased a year ago by three West Coast sailing enthusiasts, among them George (Fritz) Jewett Jr. of Ross, and donated to the Seattle Sailing Foundation.

The bon voyage party will benefit the Intrepid and her crew; public support enables her to compete, according to Taft.

MRS. TURUS Mercer of San Rafael will attend the Tuolumne County reunion Sunday. The reunion is being held in memory of her father, Charles A. (Buster) Holland, who died in September at the age of 79.

Mrs. Mercer will present the association with the minute book of the Tuolumne County Reunion Association, dating back to June 25, 1876, which belonged to her father.

MR. AND MRS. Roger Dixon entertained at a cocktail party Sunday in honor of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dixon, who are visiting from Coventry, England. The party for 50 guests was held at the home of Mrs. Lee S. Jones in Tiburon.

The senior Dixons arrived June 1 and will spend the month in Marin and Yosemite, where they spent last weekend with their son and daughter-in-law.

TWO CRUISES are planned this summer for members of the Sausalito Yacht Club. The Commodore's cruise from the club to Monterey will start Saturday and return June 23. This cruise will be led by Commodore Clarence Nelson aboard the flagship, the Cal-40, Green Buffalo.

The rear Commodore's Cruise up the river will start the morning of July 4 and rendezvous at Madeville Cut in the Delta region in the late afternoon. A three-week cruise is planned. Rear Commodore Carl Liscleske will command this

Mrs. Paul's asks:

Are there natural onion rings in the onion rings you buy?

Mrs. Paul's makes the natural ring.

This is the real, genuine onion ring made by Mrs. Paul's. Because inside the delicious outer covering, is a real, genuine natural onion ring.

Mrs. Paul's makes onion rings only one way. The same way you would: with all natural ingredients.

Just read our list of ingredients. You'll find that each one starts out with a thick, juicy natural onion ring. Then it's dipped in a delightful batter and deep fried to perfection.

Mrs. Paul's goes to the trouble of making onion rings the natural way for a very good reason: taste. We guarantee your satisfaction or your money back.

Other onion rings aren't what they appear to be.

On the surface this looks like an onion ring. But inside there isn't any natural ring of onion.

If you read the ingredients panel on their package, you'll find that their "onion ring" is really diced, chopped onions mixed in a batter and shaped like an onion ring.

It looks pretty good. But it won't taste like a natural onion ring. Because there isn't a natural onion ring inside.

There is a real difference we'd like you to taste. Here's 7¢ to put us to the test.

College Program For Women Set

Women considering entering College of Marin or Indian Valley Colleges are invited to the College of Marin College Center Saturday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. to hear and ask questions about the Women's Educational Reentry Programs.

Coordinators of the event are Inez Heckman, public relations director for the program, and Ruth Downing, College of Marin counselor.

Purpose of the event is to let women know what is available, bring them together and find their particular needs, according to Mrs. Heckman.

Tables of interest in a variety of categories will be set up, and the women will be introduced to resources persons and counselors in the program.

Jini Lama of Single Mothers of Marin and Arlene Konkoff of Emerging Women will discuss their support groups for women.

At 11 a.m. the program will focus on the media. Women who will participate are Jorie Parr of KTIM; Earlene Jones, public relations director for the college; Marion Bowdry of KBHK; public relations woman Mildred Howie; Melody Brumis of KABL; Billie Johnson of KNEW; Betty Reese, head of the College of Marin journalism department; and Joan Lisetor of the Independent-Journal.

Linda Marie Tisdale Weds Mark C. Euless

Linda Marie Tisdale of Woodacre and Mark Carey Euless of Fresno were married at Kingdom Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses in Fairfax on June 1.

Linda is the daughter of Mrs. Laird Williams of Woodacre and Arthur Tisdale of Happy Camp, and Mark is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Euless of Fresno.

Lynaya Forster of Woodacre was maid of honor, and Tom Nelson of Fresno was best man for the bridegroom.

Following a wedding reception at the Marin Valley Mobile Country Club the couple took a wedding trip to Carmel. They will live in Fresno.

The bride was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and is employed at Hibernia Bank in San Francisco. She is the sister of Kenneth Tisdale of Woodacre and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Krozak of Novato and Mrs. Jeane Rosier of Santa Barbara.

The bridegroom was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and attended the College of Marin and Fresno City College. He is employed at Alexander's Refrigeration Co. in Fresno.

He is the brother of Mike and Melanee Euless of Fresno and Mrs. George Shawver of Novato. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Euless of Morro Bay are his grandparents.

Newlyweds On Honeymoon Cruise In The Caribbean

On a two-week cruise of the Caribbean are Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn Mac Stanck (Paula Malvino), who were married Saturday at Stanford Memorial Chapel.

Matron of honor for the ceremony was Mrs. George Sibbett of San Francisco, and Morgan Stuart of San Jose was the best man. Guests were ushered to their seats by the bride's brother, Steven Malvino of Larkspur, and George Faas of Berkeley.

A reception followed at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Ronald Castellion in Atherton.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred J. Malvino of Larkspur. She was graduated from Redwood High School and Samuel Merritt Hospital School of Nursing. Paula also attended College of Marin. She is employed in the intensive care nursery at Stanford Medical Center in Palo Alto.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley J. Stanek of Austin, Minn., are the bridegroom's parents. He was graduated from Austin High School and Mankato State College in Mankato, Minn. He has just completed four years as aviation navigator with the Navy. Vaughn is the brother of Mrs. Bruce Henry of Minneapolis and Valerie Stanek of Austin. Mrs. Elmer McFarland of Austin is his grandmother.

The newlyweds are living in Mountain View.

PARENT AND CHILD

Punishment In The School System

By CYNTHIA PARSONS
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

Several years ago when I visited a British junior school, I asked the head teacher if children in England were still being paddled.

He blushed, stammered, led me into an office, and pulled out an old copy book.

There, written in meticulous Italic script, for a period of several years, were notations of all paddlings administered by this head teacher either at his own or another teacher's instigation.

Each entry bore a date, an offense, the initials of the teacher, name of pupil and number of strokes.

ONE LAD'S name was repeated several times. I asked how he was coming along. "He's not in school now."

"Do you think paddlings help?" was my next question. He pondered this for a moment, and then said in effect. "They do more for the ones not paddled. Discourages them from doing wrong. But those you have to paddle more than once generally get hardened and hate school too much to learn."

There seems to be an upsurge of public outcry in the United States about school children being physically beaten, paddled and hand-spanked.

Parents in most parts of the world have said rather clearly that they do not want their children beaten at school. Even parents who inflict physical punishment on their own children are against school authorities using this form of punishment.

School administrators who believe in corporal punishment argue that some children display such bad behavior that only the fear of strong physical punishment will make them behave.

Yet, almost all those who have any knowledge of children maintain that violence begets violence. What one may win in the short run by meting out physical punishment is lost in the long run by teaching children to go after what they want through physical force.

CERTAINLY ALL children should be taught obedience. Some children are more obedient at school than are others. Generally, those who do well in school and love the school's activities require the least discipline. Those who do not do well are generally those who receive the most discipline.

One "solution" is to beat children into submission. Another is to vary the activities so that those who don't now succeed will be able to do so.

What should be done, for example, for children who have short attention spans and cannot sit still for extended periods of time doing close literacy work?

In most schools, children with those problems are punished. They may be physically spanked or hit. They may receive mental punishment in the form of ridicule. They may be given low grades and threatened with failure. They may be ignored and hence leave school functionally illiterate.

In a few schools, such children are given extra support. More aides help out the regular teachers. Activities are tailored to suit the learning habits of the child with a gradual movement toward more and more extended periods of academic work. Play times and study times are spaced to let the more physically active children develop athletically as well as academically.

THERE ALSO is a selfish financial reason for community interest in helping children in a nonviolent way when they are young. It costs more for a village, town or city to deal with a deviant or delinquent than it does to prepare a good student for college or university.

Even if it cost two or three times as much to reach a problem child in school than it does an obedient successful child, a town would still be ahead in terms -- ..... should a child become the state's responsibility through criminal action.

And of course, humanitarian reasons compel us all to do what we can for children —all children. Even those whom school authorities say respond only to beatings and threats of beatings.

Deanna Day Weds Edward L. Jones

Mill Valley Methodist Church was the setting for the wedding of Deanna Day of Mill Valley and Edward L. Jones of Novato on Saturday.

Attendants for the bride were Evelyn Spangler of Mill Valley, maid of honor, and Susie Newberry of Larkspur.

Rodger Chaffin of Mill Valley served as best man for the bridegroom, and the usher was Tom Day of Mill Valley, the bride's brother.

After the reception at Scout Hall in Mill Valley, the newlyweds left on a wedding trip to the Madonna Inn in San Luis Obispo. They will live in Huntington Beach.

Deanna's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Benton A. Day Jr. of Mill Valley. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Maude Miller of Goleta and Benton A. Day of Priest River, Idaho.

She was graduated from Tamalpais High School.

Edward is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jones of Novato and the grandson of Mrs. Guiditta Birigozzi of San Rafael and Mrs. Don Wensell of Santa Rosa.

He is the brother of Chuck Jones of San Rafael, Casey Jones of Novato and Mrs. Clyde Campbell and Mrs. Patt Anderson, both of Huntington Beach.

Edward was graduated from San Marin High School and is employed by Beeson Sand and Gravel Co. in Santa Ana.

P-TA Honorary Service Award To Fred Welsh

Fred Welsh of Fairfax received the John MacPhail School Parent-Teacher Association honorary service award.

He has been with the San Rafael City Schools District for 12 years and at MacPhail School for five. As custodian he has included the children in the feelings of responsibility of maintaining a clean and orderly school complex, according to Ann Klink of the P-TA.

Many parents feel his policy of student helpers has been instrumental in reducing vandalism at the school, she said. John MacPhail has the lowest rate of vandalism in the school district.

The honorary service award is presented annually by P-TAs to "the person who has best demonstrated through personal efforts the spirit of interest and concern for the welfare of children."

Change Reported In Handbag Sizes

Daytime bags are getting bigger while nighttime ones get smaller, says Women's Wear Daily.

The most popular daytime style is wider than it is deep. It also comes with detachable shoulder straps.

Save 10¢ on the margarine you squeeze

Squeeze it in the kitchen. It's great for sautéing, basting, measuring.

Squeeze it if you're on a low cholesterol diet. It's high in polyunsaturates.

Or, squeeze it, just because it's fun to squeeze it.

Movie Makers Use Fashion To Promote New Pictures

By PHYLLIS FELDKAMP
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

NEW YORK, N.Y. — Movie companies now are wise in the ways of promoting new productions via fashion. "The Great Gatsby," was touted as a fashion influence long before the picture was even cast. And now there is "Mame," in which Lucille Ball plays the indomitable Auntie Mame in the new musical movie version.

Since her wardrobe for the musical has been created by Theodora Van Runkle, whose designs for "Bonnie and Clyde" resulted in a wave of gangster stripes and baby gun-moll looks, what Auntie Mame wears in the picture may be expected to add its share to the current surge of nostalgia.

Mame dances the tango in a Vionnet-style dress at a speakeasy and leads the Charleston on a transatlantic liner wearing a blue velvet dolman-sleeved number. She would feel right at home with today's revivals of big band swing music, too, as she never missed a thing. Among the 35 costumes she wears in the new movie are a Picasso-inspired hat and a Van Dongen blue tweed suit. (Mame also appreciated art.)

Dorothy Gray has named a lipstick and nail polish "Flaming Mame." (Auntie Mame was a faithful consumer of cosmetics and in the film, she goes through a series of hair colors: blonde, red, brunette, and gray white.)

DESIGNER LEO Narducci has been commissioned by Trevira, a synthetic fiber subsidiary of the Hoechst chemical combine, to do a "Mame" collection, and Tom Hann for Kurt Jr. has done a small snap-brim cloche in the "Mame" manner.

Although nostalgia has a special appeal to the young, the Mame brand shouldn't displease the generation that has been where she's been before.

1974 The Christian Science Publishing Society

THIS SMALL snap brimmed cloche was adapted from "Mame" by Tom Hann for Kurt Jr. fashions, reflecting how movies set style modes. It is worn in the film by the second lead, Vera, (design shown in background).

percentage than the overall average. They were more in favor of equal rights for women (75 per cent vs. 69 per cent), and a slightly greater number (81 per cent) approved of mothers working outside the home.

While 57 per cent of all respondents felt their parents judged teen-age friends by the way they dress and wear their hair, only 41 per cent of liberal parents appear to make these judgments.

Some 47 per cent said they could personally accept abortion and 75 per cent said they could accept it for others. The overall average here was 38 and 68 per cent.

Eighty-four per cent of all teen-agers thought that in their lifetimes the U.S. would send fighting combat troops to another overseas war such as Vietnam. Answering, "If so, would you fight the draft?" 64 per cent of the liberally raised, and 57 per cent of the "conservative" crowd, turned in an emphatic "Yes!"

More Funds Aimed For Youth Jobs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon has signed legislation providing an additional $306 million in federal funds to create jobs for young people this summer, the White House announced yesterday.

In a statement, Nixon said the money in the new bill plus $91 million obligated several weeks ago will produce an estimated 709,000 summer job opportunities for needy youths.

"I urge all responsible elected officials to take the necessary steps as rapidly as possible to insure that their program plans are in order so that all those who should benefit from these funds are able to do so," said Nixon, who signed the bill last Saturday before he left for the Middle East.

This year state and local officials for the first time will be administering the federally assisted summer jobs program after getting the money from the Labor Department, which has been in charge of hiring in the past.

"This marks a major step forward in the direction of decentralization and decategorization which is so essential for effective social programs," Nixon said in his statement.

Novato Slates Public Auction

Twenty-eight bicycles will be among items for sale at the City of Novato's semi-annual public auction at 10 a.m. June 22 at the Novato City Hall parking lot.

Vehicles for sale include nine passenger cars, two half-ton pickups and a street sweeper.

MUSIC, ART, DRAMA

Stern Grove Festival To Open

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

The San Francisco Ballet will launch the annual Midsummer Stern Grove Music Festival on Sunday afternoon.

In the nine Sundays to follow there will be appearances by such groups as the Preservation Hall Jazz Band, the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra with Arthur Fiedler as guest conductor, the Ballet Folklorico Mexicano de Graciela Tapia and the San Francisco Opera, featuring members of the 1974 Merola Opera program.

MUSIC

Also on Sunday afternoon at the Opera House, the San Francisco Art Commission will present three choral theatrical pieces, including the world premiere of the cantata "A King's Contest" by Kirkie Mechem of San Francisco. Also featured will be Prokofieff's "Alexander Nevsky" cantata with Winifred Baker conducting.

The grand finales of the annual San Francisco Opera auditions will be held Wednesday night at the Opera House, marking the 20th anniversary of the auditions.

B. B. King, master of the blues guitar, will appear Friday night at the Paramount Theater of the Arts in Oakland. Also sharing billing will be Sonny Freeman and the Unusuals and the Pacesetters.

DRAMA

"The Mind With the Dirty Man," will open next Wednesday at the On Broadway Theater in San Francisco. It is the story of a hypocritical antisex zealot who stands as a model of integrity, according to playwright Jules. Cast members include Richard Erdman, Jo de Winter, and J. Steven White.

The American Conservatory Theater of San Francisco announced this week extension of Neil Simon's "The Sunshine Boys," through July 7. It is currently at the Geary Theater with Jose Ferrer and Phil Leeds.

ART

The California Historical Society has opened a three-month exhibition of paintings by Fortunato Arriola, a 19th Century San Francisco artist. It will be at the society's headquarters, 2090 Jackson Street, through September.

Other events:

Geary Theater — "The Sunshine Boys," Tuesday through Saturday, 8:30 p.m., Sunday, 3 and 7:30 p.m.; Saturday, 2:30 p.m.

San Francisco Museum of Art — Six paintings by Gerland Murphy and photos of his life in Europe, through July 24; A Third World paintings/sculpture exhibition, through July 28; "Bruce Nauman: works from 1965 to 1972," through July 14.

Oakland Museum — Special exhibition by Oakland painters through Sunday; also modern prints, Goya to Beckmann, through Sunday.

University Art Museum, Berkeley — Sculpture by Deborah Butterfield and Rudy Serra, through July 7; an environmental installation and window piece by Elyn Zimmerman through June 23; "3D into 2D," through June 23.

Land Plans Bill Killed By House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Legislation calling for national land use planning was killed yesterday when the House refused even to debate the measure.

The bill was killed by a vote of 211 to 204 after Republican conservatives charged that it would lead to government control of private property.

The measure was sent back to the House Interior Committee after the vote rejecting the rule by which it had been sent to the House floor by the House Rules Committee.

The narrow vote to kill the bill came despite urgings from both Republicans and Democrats for a chance to debate the measure.

"You can't hear the truth about this bill because so much noise gets in the way," Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., the chief House sponsor of the measure, said at one point in asking that the measure be debated.

Plea Date Set In Drug Case

Gerald Jay Billings, 32, of Cotati, has been ordered to appear June 21 in Marin Superior Court to plead on charges of possessing marijuana and barbiturates for sale.

Municipal Judge Robert A. Smallman ordered Billings held to answer following a preliminary hearing.

Novato police said they stopped the Cotati man for speeding May 24 and found more than 10,000 barbiturate tablets and a quantity of marijuana in his car.

GRADUATION, THEN WHAT?

Many Factors Influence The Choice Of A College

By PAUL CANE
(Second of five articles)

"There are nine and sixty ways of constructing tribal laws. And every single one of them is right."

— Rudyard Kipling

So it is with choosing colleges. Some select a school because of its location, others because of the reputation of a particular academic department. Many opt for the most prestigious school they can get into; some attend the alma mater of one's parents; others pick the school with the fanciest facilities. A sizable number visit several schools and choose the one that seems to have the most pleasant campus life.

But regardless of how the decision is made, most students are happy with their college choices.

Even though there is no "right" way to do it, Sir Francis Drake High School has done as well as any school around trying to get its students on the right track in their college planning.

In an annual 30-page bulletin to students, Drake proposes nine questions that students should ask themselves about the kind of college they'd like to attend — such as size, region, cost, and desired field of study.

So when the student walks in and tells his counselor, "I want to go to a small, private, all-male four-year college in the South offering a good bio-physics program," the counselor presumably can look in his handy college guidebook and say, "Well, clearly the school for you is Podunk U. in Boondocktown, Ala."

Unfortunately, decisions usually aren't made that way, according to Drake counselor Merrill Convis. "In many cases — for example, when a student is trying to decide between San Francisco State and Humboldt State — it's a pretty clear-cut decision. If you like the city you go to San Francisco, if you want to get away from it you go to Humboldt," he said.

But in other cases, he said, a student might be bewildered and unsure of what he wants. "He says he wants to go to college, but often he just doesn't know where or why or for what," Convis said. "Our guide can get him starting to think about the factors involved in making a decision."

Professionally produced college guides, such as those published by Lovejoy and Barrons, enjoy a great popularity among students wanting capsule information about a school.

But many believe that the brief, unanimated sketches of college facts and figures does not represent the feeling, the spirit that is the essence of college life, and it was to combat this that "The Underground Guide to the College of Your Choice" was born three years ago.

With bizarre topic headings under each school such as "Academic Bull—," "Survival" and "Brothers and Sisters," the underground guide gives students the results of study about things the editors believe really matter to students entering college — not dry statistics, but colorful prose on subjects ranging from social life and popular courses to the availability of marijuana and birth control pills.

Students often investigate their tentative college choices through catalogs, and then meet representatives of the universities through school-sponsored college nights and meetings.

The major one of these, the Marin County College Night, is cosponsored by all local high schools, and draws admissions officers and representatives from most University of California and California State University campuses, other west coast private and public schools, a few eastern institutions, and the College of Marin.

Next fall's college night, designed especially for the class of 1975, but welcoming high school students of all ages, is scheduled Oct. 23 at 8 p.m. at Sir Francis Drake High School.

At the gathering, students and parents meet in groups with the college representatives to hear formal presentations by officials, to ask them questions about schools for information in greater depth than can be provided by the guidance counselor.

School senior newsletters, lunchtime school meetings with visiting college representatives, and friends' recommendations are other ways that students are able to learn about particular schools.

Campus visits are often touted by college students as aids in deciding where to attend. Guidance counselors said they believe that students do not really experience the true feeling of a school until they have visited and toured it, met students there, and attended a class or two.

Seniors frequently take time off from classes in the final months of school for college-touring junkets around the state and country, to the detriment of final term grades — but as an investment in their enjoyment of future college life.

After all the investigation is completed, where do students finally choose to go to school?

Marin youths overwhelmingly pick the College of Marin for further education after high school graduation, according to reports of counselors. Approximately 70 per cent of all local graduating seniors go on to college (some high schools more, some less) and of these, 50 per cent go to College of Marin or the Indian Valley Colleges, counselors estimate.

According to Marin Community College District publicist Earlene Jones, 25 per cent of the students entering College of Marin said they plan to transfer to other schools after two years. Eighty-five per cent of those planning to transfer choose the University of California or state university systems, she said.

Although a recent study conducted by College of Marin shows that a decreasing number of community college students enter with plans to transfer later to a four-year school, Convis said he found more and more Drake students opting to attend College of Marin for two years before moving to another school.

"It's like getting a two-year scholarship. Marin provides a good education inexpensively" particularly for required courses, he said.

Nineteen state universities and eight U.C. schools admit freshmen. Next to the College of Marin, these are the predominant choices of local youths.

Stanford University and the Ivy League schools, and other private institutions are the goals of many of the top scholars graduating from local high schools, counselors report.

(Tomorrow: Admissions testing.)

Nicasio School To Graduate 10

Ten eighth graders will graduate from Nicasio School in ceremonies at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the school.

Student speakers will be Bonnie Dougan, Terri Farley, Greg Farley, Jane Shepherd and Brian Dolcini. Mark Casartelli will give the prophecy for the seventh grade.

Diplomas will be awarded by a member of the board of trustees.

A Human Rights Approach Urged

NEW YORK (UPI) — Russian scientist Andrei D. Sakharov, one of the most outspoken dissidents in the Soviet Union, called today for a world government based on human rights.

Sakharov issued his appeal in an article written for Saturday Review-World magazine and telephoned May 14 from his home in Moscow to New York.

The magazine said Sakharov's 4,000-word article was scheduled to be published in the August issue, the occasion of the publication's 50th anniversary.

Adoption Of Juvenile Hall Plan Delayed

Marin County supervisors postponed adoption yesterday of a consultant's recommendations for improvements to Juvenile Hall until a separate study on the future of the detention center is completed. (Other supervisors stories, page 1.)

The consultant's report, prepared by architect George V. Banning of San Rafael, calls for a four-stage improvement program over the next 20 years.

The total cost would be about $2.6 million and would provide new residential buildings, staff offices and recreational facilities such as a swimming pool.

Board action was delayed, however, pending the outcome of a study by the Juvenile Justice Commission into whether portions of Juvenile Hall should be shut down.

A committee of the commission recommended such action in March and said the county should place all but hard-core juvenile offenders in foster care and group homes.

Supervisors Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. and Arnold M. Baptiste urged the consultant's report be placed on the back burner until the commission's study is finished.

"It doesn't make sense to spend this kind of money (on capital improvements) when we're not sure of the direction of juvenile justice," Arrigoni said.

Baptiste added that major expenditures would tend to lock the county into the present structured form of juvenile detention.

All appeared to agree, however, that the senior boy's section of the hall must be renovated. The unit has been criticized for its "prisonlike atmosphere."

The supervisors informally agreed with the juvenile justice commission and Superior Court Judge Henry J. Broderick that its remodeling should be the first order of business, at an estimated cost of $115,000.

Bella H. Aaron, head of the criminal-justice planning agency, has indicated she will attempt to get state funding for the project.

Barrows and the consultant had recommended the first stage should be the razing of the old county hospital which is used to house the juvenile court and reception staff.

The consultant recommended a new two-story building be built to house these activities, at a total cost of $554,000, while Barrows recommended remodeling an existing building, at a total cost of $411,500.

The board favored a new building but delayed any decision.

Supervisor Robert A. Roumiguiere said the boy's area would have to be remodeled no matter what the result of the commission's study and urged the board to consider funding for that project during budget hearings.

Loitering Problem Discussed

"A very small minority" of Sir Francis Drake High School students is making life miserable for residents in the Fern Avenue area, citizens last night told the San Anselmo City Council.

The students are noisily racing motorcycles up and down the street, endangering small children, blocking roads with their cars, littering yards with lunch-hour trash, and insulting housewives attempting to drive through the loiterers, residents said.

"It's not the first time for this problem," commented councilman Kenneth L. Anderson. He called for a joint crackdown by city police and high school officials.

"An adult's decision to no longer tolerate the behavior of juveniles will do very little to moderate the behavior," argued Mayor Martin G. Blinder, a psychiatrist. He suggested residents attempt to live with the problem for the two remaining school days before vacation begins, then seek a solution for the fall semester.

Councilman Pieter Toal reported he's already asked school officials and police to work on plans for closing the Fern Avenue gate to the school grounds during the day and for other steps in the fall.

The council agreed to review the situation in October.

The San Anselmo City Council also:

MARKET — Agreed to postpone to July 9, action on San Rafael Avenue residents' complaints that the Stop and Go market is a public nuisance due to 24-hour operation, litter, weeds, and crowds of juveniles. City Atty. Hadden W. Roth said he'd look into the legality of forcing the market to shorten its hours. A new manager said he is attempting to clean up the market and parking lot.

FOOT BRIDGE — Postponed a decision until budget sessions, on hiring Hoffman and Albritton consultants to prepare plans for rebuilding the footbridge at Sais and Earl avenues.

TAXI — Approved a request by Robert C. Jennings of San Rafael, owner of the Yellow Cab Co. to increase rates to 70 cents for the first one-seventh of a mile and 10 cents additional for each additional seventh of a mile.

VACANCY — Reappointed, as recommended by the San Anselmo School District, Thomas Peacock to the city parks and recreation commission.

FREEZE — Denied permits for proposed homes on Greenfield Avenue and Butterfield Road, saying they did not qualify for exemption from the city's moratorium on building before the general plan is revised, due by October.

ADJOURNED — To a closed session Monday for meeting with the city's negotiators on salaries.

Closed Meeting

Kentfield School District trustees will hold a special closed session tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the district office to discuss salary negotiations with their negotiator.

A Defense Made On Strike Plans

Marin County Administrator John F. Barrows yesterday defended his "contingency plans" for a possible strike by county employees as a "planning effort that I thought was part of my responsibility."

Barrows told the board of supervisors, though, he would "apologize if necessary" for his action.

Barrows had met earlier this month with fellow county officials and told them "to begin thinking in terms of alternatives in operating your department," should salary negotiations with county employees stalemate.

Frank J. O'Connell, general manager of the county's largest employee group, the Marin Association of Public Employees, yesterday told the supervisors that "the word 'strike' has never entered into any of our conversations."

He also said he thought negotiations with county officials were "moving smoothly," and board Chairman Michael Wornum agreed with him.

O'Connell said that report of strike talk had made his members "confused or militant" since the association has never been involved in a strike or work slowdown.

Hotel Use Tax Is Hiked 1 Per Cent

A 1 per cent hike in the county's hotel-motel use tax — expected to raise an additional $9,800 next year — was approved yesterday by the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

The board's decision, on a 4-to-1 vote with Supervisor Robert A. Roumiguiere dissenting, pushes the hotel-motel tax to 6 per cent, effective next month.

County Administrator John F. Barrows recommended the increase to keep the tax in line with the state sales tax.

The tax, imposed eight years ago on those using hotels and motels in the unincorporated area, produced about $48,000 in revenues this fiscal year.

The funds have traditionally been divided between the county chamber of commerce and various civic and performing groups.

Roumiguiere, in casting his dissenting vote, urged the matter be delayed to make sure hotel and motel owners were aware of the tax increase.

Marin County Board of Supervisors Also:

GRAND JURY — Referred to the personnel director and county administrator a grand jury report critical of Barrows' influence in personnel matters and recommending the personnel office be established as a separate department.

STUDY — Allocated an additional $3,000 for the Tomales sewage study by the North Marin County Water District. The board previously had contributed $10,000 toward the study to solve sewage problems.

VIDEO — Allocated about $550 to the Marin Community Video, a local video tape group, to film a consultant's presentation on the economic impact of the county general plan. The tape will be shown on local cable television.

HEARINGS — Rejected a proposal from county administrator Barrows that the county pay $1,000 to advertise the budget hearings of other public agencies. Supervisors have long complained that other agencies, primarily the schools, don't get enough public attention at budget time.

TENNIS — Rejected the appeal of the Monte Cristo Homeowners Association that an environmental impact report for a tennis complex at Camp Lilienthal near Fairfax is inadequate. Supervisors said they considered the report adequate and urged the plans for the Redwood Racquet Club be considered.

McINNIS — Postponed to Tuesday a hearing on an environmental impact report and master plan for the John F. McInnis Park near Santa Venetia.

CHANGE ORDER — Approved a $5,670 change order (addition) to the $28,344 grading and paving contract awarded Bresnan and Dalecio Inc. for the access road to the county maintenance yard near Juvenile Hall. The added cost resulted from excessive subsurface water along part of the roadway.

REDEVELOPMENT — Agreed in concept with a proposal for a redevelopment project in the Richardson Bay area, but postponed allocation of funds for preliminary planning.

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation of Betty L. Presley, longtime county welfare director and most recently head of the huge Department of Health and Human Services, effective June 30. A widespread recruiting effort for her successor is planned. In the interim, the board appointed her assistant, Donald Sanford, as acting director.

COMMISSION — Appointed Peggy Robinson of San Anselmo to the youth commission from District 2.

AUDITORIUM — Turned down a request that the rental rate for the Marin Veterans Memorial Building be reduced or waived for a benefit concert for veterans.

Belvedere Panel Picks New Chairman

George L. McCoy last night was elected chairman of the Belvedere Parks and Recreation Commission.

Hub Plan Consultant Is Booted

By JEFF GREER

George S. Gatter, consultant hired to modernize San Anselmo's general plan, was fired by a 3-to-1 city council vote last night and his contract was, in effect, bought out.

Councilmen said Gatter claimed he had completed the job, but indicated they aren't satisfied with his work. They ratified the negotiations by City Atty. Hadden W. Roth under which Gatter will receive a total of $15,550 for the work.

Councilman Pieter Toal voted against the firing and the negotiated payoff and councilman John H. Colteaux was absent.

The dismissal actually was decided at a closed-door council meeting last week, it was revealed.

Planning commission chairman Cynthia Barrows, reporting last night on the commission's long efforts to review the general plan, complained that the panel was "in limbo. We don't feel able to proceed" since the council halted Gatter's work on the plan in May, she said.

"What happened to the consultant?" asked veteran council-watcher Attilio Segale.

"We fired him," replied Councilman Kenneth L. Anderson.

Mayor Martin G. Blinder said that action was taken in closed session because, "we had to weigh the public right to know, against innuendos. . . we didn't want rumors."

Roth, questioned by the Independent-Journal, admitted that what Blinder called the "practically unanimous" council action hadn't been voted publicly. He said it was because Gatter had threatened to sue over his fee.

"Mr. Gatter's attorney accepted my offer, so it's fait accompli," Roth told the council. When ordered to stop work, Gatter billed the council for $19,600, of which the city had already paid him $12,401, Roth said. Gatter accepted the final figure of $15,550, the attorney reported.

The Sausalito consultant was hired last August to revise the city's general plan to conform to state requirements. His fee originally was set at $20,000 but later was raised to $22,000.

Mayor Blinder promised Mrs. Barrows the council is "working with all reasonable haste" to find a new consultant.

Blinder said the council will discuss the consultant need at its June 25 session.

Gerald Ford Says What Needed Saying

Vice President Gerald R. Ford said what needed to be said the other day in Cleveland, Ohio.

Addressing a meeting of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, the vice president denounced those who attempt to depict as innocent victims of police brutality the Symbionese Liberation Army outlaws who were shot to death in Los Angeles.

Ford incorporated this into a denunciation of "doomsayers" who, he said, attempt "to construct a self-fulfilling prophecy of defeat and despair."

He decried the "effort to portray the outlaws as persons of high moral standing."

"Somewhere in their emotionalism," he said, "the doomsayers arrived at a distorted conclusion that the outlaws were innocent victims and the police and society were the offenders."

IT'S TIME somebody in high position said something like this.

Let's look at the record of the little gang calling themselves the "Symbionese Liberation Army":

The first "liberation" for which these banditti claimed credit was the murder of Marcus Foster, superintendent of Oakland schools.

Marcus Foster was one of the top black educators in the United States — or in the world. In Philadelphia, he made a remarkable record of upgrading "ghetto" schools and bringing together divergent portions of the populace. He was on his way to accomplishing the same thing in Oakland.

But in the name of "eradicating the fascist insect," some criminals identifying themselves with the "Symbionese Liberation Army" murdered him from ambush. They even used bullets containing cyanide.

THE "ARMY'S" next "liberation" was the kidnaping of Patricia Hearst.

It demanded that, as ransom, the "fascist insect" give $6 million to feed the "poor." It demanded the food be distributed without check on whether the recipients needed it.

And after $2 million in food had been distributed, it reneged on the promise to arrange for Patricia's release. She had become an SLA member, she announced via tape recording.

To prove it, she then participated in a bank holdup. The money stolen from the bank was not even ostensibly to feed the poor. It went into the SLA's treasury. And the robbers shot two innocent passersby.

THE SLA NEXT surfaced — in actions, not in the meandering rhetoric of its tape recordings — with the holdup of a sporting goods store in Los Angeles, again with a needless spray of bullets.

Then, surprised by police and federal agents in a Los Angeles hideout, the SLA members opened fire with automatic weapons which are legally obtainable only by the armed forces. Six of its members died in that shootout and fire. And it is these six that maudlin sentimentalists seek to make "heroes."

John Dillinger, Pretty Boy Floyd, Machine Gun Kelly and other holdup gang leaders of the '30s were no more violent and bloodthirsty than these SLA members.

And at least they were more honest: They did not pretend they robbed and killed "to help the poor."

Ramsey's Mistake: Didn't Go On Welfare

WASHINGTON — Put yourself in John Ramsey's place.

His place has four rooms, no running water and electricity only sometime. It is barely furnished. It sits in Gallant Green, a hamlet east of Waldorf, Md., where they grow tobacco.

Ramsey and his wife, Lillian, are not the only poor people in Charles County, but they are the only ones on whom Fate and the Authorities have converged so severely in these past few days.

UNTIL LATE MAY, the Ramseys were living — in squalor, but together — with their six children. Then a 1-year-old son, Ernie Lee, died. Doctors found ticks embedded in the child's scalp and surmised he had died of Rocky Mountain spotted fever carried by the ticks. The boy's 2-year-old brother is in a Washington hospital with that disease.

They are among more than two dozen persons who have contracted Rocky Mountain fever in this area this spring. For some reason it is more common here in the Potomac Valley than in the mountains for which it is named. Yet many people with better educations than the Ramseys do not know it exists at all. Like them, the Ramseys were guilty of ignorance, unaware that, when children or grown-ups or dogs have been playing in the weeds and woods in springtime, their bodies and especially their hair should be searched thoroughly for ticks every evening.

It was bad enough, then, that by ignorance they lost one boy and came close to losing another. But that was just the beginning. When the state's attorney's office and the county Department of Social Services started looking into the boys' illness, they saw how the Ramseys were living. A county child welfare worker said conditions at their house were "terrible" and "dirty."

And a few days later a county judge signed an order for removal of the reamining four children from their parents, and their placement in foster homes until a court hearing next week decides whether that move should be permanent.

THAT IS THE COLD step-by-step version of it. There also was the fact that the children cried when they were taken from their parents, except for the 4-year-old boy who was told he was going to a carnival. "I'd have to be crazy to let them take my children," Ramsey said.

What the Ramsey case brings up is the absurd inconsistency with which municipal and state and federal governments deal with people who need help. If Mrs. Ramsey had been living in the city with six children, she probably would have all of them today. Two would not have had spotted fever, and four would not have been taken away.

And she would be drawing more money to live on than the family gets today — if, that is, her husband left her without support and she went on welfare.

THAT MAY BE John Ramsey's big mistake: that he never went on welfare. He works, and takes care of his children the best he can. He hauls scrap metal with his truck. In a good week he brings in $100, in a bad week more like $30. When the electricity bill came last, it was a bad week: He could not pay the $32, and the company cut off his power. That was how it was when the county officials came around.

Whatever it costs the county to keep four children in foster homes, it cannot be much. But neither would it cost much for the county to see to it that Ramsey's electricity stayed on, or that he got water piped into his house. Neither would it cost much to put John Ramsey into a county job, doing very much what he is doing on his own but earning considerably more.

But as of now, the only offers of help he has had have come from many private citizens who read about his case in the papers. The county's help has been mainly punitive, at least from his point of view.

What his case proves is that if you insist on being poor, it is better to abandon your wife and your job. It pays better.

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

An Open Letter To House On Campaign Reform Need

WASHINGTON —
Members of the House
Congress of the United States Washington, D.C.

Ladies and Gentlemen: I just want to make sure you are getting your mail — and reading it. Particularly the messages from Califonia and from the National Governors' Conference in Seattle, Wash.

Both deal with the pressing matter of campaign reform. Both give it the highest urgency.

Rarely, if ever, have you received a communication, pleading with you to do something, signed by 3,040,349 voters, and another communication to the same purpose endorsed by all the governors of the United States who were present.

THERE IS NO REASON to doubt that the American people want you to pay attention, expect you to pay attention — and have something in mind if you don't pay attention.

The voters of California, by supporting Propositon 9 by 2-to-1, and the governors of the nation, by unanimously endorsing the toughest campaign reform resolution ever to come before them (a few talked against it but did not dare vote against it), made it pretty clear that the public feels strongly that NOW is the time:

1 — To take money corruption out of election campaigns through far sterner measures than now on the books.

2 — To wipe out conflicts of interest by public officials and require a higher ethical standard in the conduct of public business.

3 — To put lobbyists on a short leash by preventing them from making political contributions in whatever form.

SO FAR, the states have led the way in campaign reform.

So far, action by Congress has added up to a big fat zero.

It is not the fault of the Senate, since it has made an admirable beginning by decisively passing a bill providing for a mix of private and public financing of federal elections.

It may not, indeed, be the wish of the majority of the House, where campaign reform legislation has been brazenly locked for 16 months in the deep freeze of the House Administration Committee, whose Democratic chairman, Wayne Hays of Ohio, promised to have a bill out in March.

March has passed; so have April and May. It is time and beyond time for Representative Hays to redeem his promise. And it is time for the Democrats who control the House to show that they can control Chairman Hays — or the voters will know what to do this November.

ONE COMMENTATOR remarked that the overwhelming vote in favor of Proposition 9 in California and the similar resolution by the governors would "wake up the country" to the urgency of campaign reform.

No, that's not their value; that's not necessary. The country is already awake. The need is to wake up Congress to the fact that it cannot safely disdain the mounting public demand for political reform.

John Gardner, whose Common Cause did so much to help promote Proposition 9, said to the governors last week:

"Most members of Congress, if asked today, 'What did you do to prevent future Watergates?' would have to answer honestly: "We did as little as we could get away with.' "

Friends, Congressmen and Politicians — do not turn a deaf ear to voter wishes!

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

Report Of Nonexistent Suit Discloses Anomalous Situation

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Some strange things happen in the infighting between the two big teacher unions for the hearts and minds of the nation's teachers and eventual control of its schools.

On Feb. 27, the American Federation of Teachers issued a news release from its Washington headquarters reporting:

"The National Education Association will be charged with 'reprehensible and retrogressive' racism in a suit to be brought by the Anti-Defamation League of the B'nai B'rith."

The story went on to say that the suit, "to be filed under the 1964 Civil Rights Act," would attack the NEA's new bylaws for giving "special preference to blacks, Chicanos, other Spanish-speaking minorities, Asian-Americans and native Americans among NEA officerships and committees."

It even specified the section of the Civil Rights Act which it said ADL would allege was violated by the NEA's quota system.

NO FURTHER WORD arrived on the filing of the suit. So this week, I checked with the Anti-Defamation League. I was referred to Joy Myers in its New York headquarters as the person who would know if such a suit had been filed or prepared.

Miss Myers said there is no such suit. "It's just something that we've talked about," she said. No aggrieved party has appeared to ask the ADL to file a suit, and no complaint has been drawn up, she asserted. She professed puzzlement over the AFT release.

WHETHER THE AFT report was issued in good faith though prematurely or whether it was merely put out as propaganda, it did serve to point up an anomalous situation.

The Equal Employment Opportunities Commission, set up under the Civil Rights Act, is actively pressuring private employers to hire minority race members on the basis of quotas approximating their percentage in the total population. It calls this "affirmative action."

The California State Board of Education a few months ago incorporated into its administrative code a requirement that all school districts adopt "affirmative action" programs. Quite a few of them had already done so.

THE NEA REPRESENTATIVE assembly, in amending NEA bylaws last July, was attempting to carry out the mandate of EEOC and what it considered to be the intent of the Civil Rights Law.

The amendments require:

1. That state and local NEA affiliates (which include the California Teachers Association and all its local chapters) "apply the one-man, one-vote principle . . . except that the affiliate shall guarantee ethnic-minority representation at least proportionate to its ethnic-minority membership."

2. That at least 20 per cent of the board of directors, the executive committee, and all standing committees, joint committees, commissions and councils of the NEA be made up of ethnic-minority members.

3. That each state unit entitled to two or more directors shall guarantee that at least one of them shall be from the largest minority group in its membership.

4. That if after 11 years, beginning this year, no member of an ethnic minority has served as NEA president, the nominations for president and vice president shall be restricted to ethnic minorities.

5. That the ethnic-minority representation "shall specifically include Black, Mexican American (Chicano), other Spanish-speaking groups, Oriental, and First Americans."

THE ADL SUIT — which, according to ADL, has never been prepared — was, according to AFT, to challenge all these on the basis that they "deny members the right and responsibility to select the best qualified leadership and staff personnel without regard to ethnic or racial background."

Of course, they do. Any quota system does. When officers, delegates, representatives or employees are chosen by a quota system, democracy vanishes. And inevitably, such a system pits race against race.

The American Federation of Teachers apparently does not believe in that kind of denial of democracy.

But it, along with NEA, believes in another kind of denial of democracy: the denial of the right to teach to those who will not pay dues to a union. Both AFT and NEA are pushing for federal and state laws to legalize compulsory union membership in public employment, including school teachers.

Imaginary Conversation On Capitol Steps

Jaworski talks to Washington:

Jaworski: Good morning, Mister Washington. What are you doing here on the capitol steps?

George: Just thought I'd drop around and see what's going on.

George: Who's this fellow Nixon?

Jaworski: He took your place. . .

George: Maybe I should have a talk with him.

Jaworski: If you see him would you tell him there are a few questions I'd like to ask him?

George: What kind of questions?. . .

Jaworski: What would you do with a man who claimed executive privilege as a divine right?

George: I would let the Congress take care of him.

Jaworski: What if he kept Congress and the people at a distance with endless judicial delays?

George: I would get rid of him.

Jaworski: But how?

George: There are only two alternatives.

Jaworski: Do you mean you would ask him to resign?

George: Maybe.

Jaworski: What if he refused? What if he considered himself indispensable? You mean that in that case you would—?

George: Sic um!

Cable Television Promised Too Much

I have noted your last article on "TV Cables," with interest, and here is one more:

"Cable television companies have suffered severe problems in entering the urban markets. Many of the large companies have not only stopped seeking urban franchises, but ever have given up some they had won at great expense, reports Radio and Television Weekly. One executive summed it up this way: 'Cable TV bombed in the cities, and we will be a long time recovering from it. We not only oversold ourselves and made ridiculous promises, we underestimated the cost of wiring urban communities and the kinds of services the urban consumer would require.' Hollis Won't Use Signs In '78 Campaign

I read with interest the letters from your readers expressing great distress about political signs and their appearance on our landscape. I thoroughly agree with your readers and feel that political signs are certainly not attractive.

During this recent campaign for reelections as the Marin County superintendent of schools, we posted our signs in compliance with local and county regulations and on private property only with permission of the property owner.

Nevertheless, I would like to indicate at this time that during my campaign for reelection in 1978, I will not use any political signs. We may use bumper stickers and store and window signs, which seems to me to indicate personal support. . .

WASHINGTON WINDOW

Two And One-Half Hours Work Each Day To Pay Your Taxes

By DONALD LAMBRO

WASHINGTON (UPI) — This year the average American taxpayer will work more than two and a half hours a day to pay all of his federal, state and local taxes.

The Tax Foundation Inc., a New York City-based tax research group, has computed that the time the average American wage earner must put in just to pay his 1974 taxes will amount to two hours and 38 minutes out of every eight-hour day.

Multiplied by five, the annual tax bite requires 13 hours and 10 minutes of labor out of a 40-hour work week.

In other words, you must work all day Monday and until 10 minutes past 2 p.m. on Tuesday to pay your due to the government each week.

SEEN IN ANOTHER perspective, it took the average worker from Jan. 1 until May 1 to earn enough money to pay his 1974 taxes, according to the foundation's caluclations.

Like the old adage about "death and taxes," the trend in ever-rising local, state and federal taxes goes on.

Curiously, when one seeks an explanation from elected officials about the reasons for the dismal rating Americans give their representatives, rarely does anyone suggest disgruntlement over taxes.

Much is heard in Congress nowadays about closing tax loopholes used by the wealthy and big business. Such talk usually comes under the umbrella of "tax reform," which for some strange reason seldom includes tax reductions.

Lately, there has been discussion in Congress about a temporary tax cut to head off the possibility of recession even though many experts believe it would probably feed inflation.

Still, permanently reducing taxes to ease the burden on all Americans —not to mention those lower and middle income Americans least able to shoulder it — isn't a fashionable issue to champion in Congress.

Championing ambitious social welfare programs is.

THUS, AS CONGRESS wrestles this year with a $305 billion budget, and state governments try to devise new sources of revenue, government leaders are still proposing new and costly programs to deal with a myriad of problems.

It's difficult to find anyone in Congress who opposes periodic Social Security increases for the elderly, but at the same time the rise in Social Security taxes since 1972 alone will boost tax payments by $17.1 billion.

The trend in government programs is to accumulate more and more tax revenue so as to provide the public with more and more social services.

The result is that it takes the average American longer and longer to pay his share of government's cost before he can begin working for himself.

The Tax Foundation's latest figures on the sweat and toil it takes to pay off one's taxes makes this point painfully clear.

WILL ROGERS SAYS . . .

"Now take for instance wheat, prices went up but it didn't do the farmer any good. He had to sell his wheat early because he had to get something to eat. So the high price of wheat is just like some one telling you the big price they got for your house, after you had been foreclosed out of it on a mortgage.

"Steak on the plate went up, steak on the hoof went down. Prosperity remained with them that had." — March 15, 1925.

If all the people who want Nixon to resign were laid end to end, the White House would like to have it done in about 30 feet of water.

Equalization Board Asks For Property Tax Relief

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The state Board of Equalization yesterday called for a comprehensive property tax relief program based solely on need to help homeowners with difficult tax burdens.

The board, the state's major tax revenue agency, said that despite the 1969 homeowners' property tax exemption "there are still some persons who need additional help in paying their property taxes."

The property tax exemption provides an annual tax reduction of more than $200 for the homeowner.

The board said it believed a system of assistance to families with difficult burdens "based on need should be instituted."

Citing the 1967 Senior Citizens Property Tax Assistance Program, the board said, "we believe a similar program which applies to all persons in need, regardless of age, is essential to provide a 'circuit breaker' for property tax 'overloads.'"

The senior citizens program provides a direct grant of a percentage of property taxes paid, increasing from zero for persons whose income is over $10,000 a year to 96 per cent for those with incomes of $1,400 or less.

The board, which administers eight state taxes and guides local property taxation, made the recommendation in a list of 15 proposals to improve state tax laws.

Other proposals included:

An increase in state funding of school costs with guaranteed decreases in local property taxes.

Charge churches, hospitals, colleges and organizations which enjoy property tax exemption for those local government services related to protection of their property.

Raise the assessment level from 25 per cent to 100 per cent with a corresponding cut in the tax rate to eliminate the "mumbo jumbo" of fractional assessment.

In the business taxes field, the board recommended:

Increasing the tax on alcoholic beverages.

Lowering the rate and expanding the coverage of the sales tax to include some services, such as auto, television and appliance repairs, dry cleaning and laundry, and theater and sporting events admissions.

Revising insurance company taxes.

Homes Needed For Japanese

Interstudy, a nonprofit group which arranges study tours for European and Asian students in the United States, is looking for families in Marin to house 50 Japanese students for a month this summer.

Janet Moss of Mill Valley, a member of the group, said personal contact with American families is the heart of the interstudy program. During their stay, the students, aged 16 through 23, will have classes in English and American civilization and take tours together.

Interested families should contact Miss Moss at 149 Throckmorton Avenue, Mill Valley.

Pleas Against Whale Killing

TOKYO (UPI) — People from around the world have been writing the Japanese government asking that Japanese fishermen quit killing whales, the foreign ministry said today.

The ministry said Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka's office gets more than 300 letters of protest a month while Japanese diplomatic agencies in the United States and Canada receive between 10 and 20 letters daily.

The Ministry of International Trade and Industry has also been receiving about 50 protest letters a month so have the fisheries agency, various fishing firms, and even the Japan External Trade Organization.

UNDOF—Latest UN Acronym Now In Use

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Staring into his alphabet soup in the UN cafeteria the other day, one diner said to another, "This must be where the United Nations gets the letters for all those acronyms it makes up for new operations."

The latest acronym to come out of the pot is "UNDOF," for the new UN Disengagement Observer Force being deployed in the Syria-Israeli buffer zone in the Golan Heights.

The initials in such a combination are not pronounced one after another but spoken as a single word.

Accordingly, care must be taken not to produce the wrong combination. There was some panic at an advance report, which turned out to be false, that the new operation would be the UN Disengagement Observer Group, or UNDOG. If there is anywhere that "dog" is a bad word, it is the Middle East.

There have been similarly strange though not quite so embarrassing UN acronyms. What was known as the UN Relief Office in Dacca, or UNROD, until the United Nations recognized Bangladesh, thereafter had to become the UN Relief Operation in Bangladesh, or UNROB.

One acronym has outlived the name it was created to convey. UNICEF came into use as the symbol for Fund. When the name was changed to just UN Children's Fund, the old initials were kept because they had become so well known around the world.

Typhoon Dinah

HONG KONG (UPI) — Typhoon Dinah intensified early today and was centered on a course for the Chinese island of Hainan. Fringe winds of 50 miles an hour lashed parts of Hong Kong.

SALES CAREER

You can earn recognition and an outstanding income (salary/comm.) while providing a valuable service to professionals, businessmen and family men through the Planned Estate Service approach to life insurance sales.
We are seeking an individual capable of directing his own activities; a self-starting individual who is searching for a lifetime career with comensurate rewards in direct proportion to effort. We want someone who has a record of success but has limited advancement possibilities.
Our intensive training program would give you both product knowledge and sales technique in the areas of personal estate analysis, business and group insurance; pension and profit sharing plans. You will have the opportunity to grow with a young agency of a highly respected New York based company in Marin County.
If you fit this brief outline, please send a short note along with your resume, if available, to P.O. Box 29, San Rafael, 94902. Replies confidential.

SUBARU MONOCOQUE CONSTRUCTION
This one piece welded construction provides added strength and eliminates excess weight, squeaks and rattles.
SUBARU 4 WHEEL INDEPENDENT SUSPENSION
You will get a super smooth ride.
SUBARU ELECTRIC FAN
Thermostatically controlled, uses less engine horsepower, prevents overheating in heavy traffic. Quieter ride.
SUBARU FRONT WHEEL DRIVE
The Wheels that power the car steer the car. Front Wheel drive gives you superior traction, better cornering and outstanding road holding ability.
SUBARU ECONOMY
Subaru saves you money all around. Up to 30 M.P.G. on regular gasoline. Routine maintenance is fast, easy and inexpensive.
SUBARU LIQUID COOLED QUADROZONTAL ENGINE
It's unique in many ways. It's set right over the driving wheels to give you tough gripping and traction in snow, ice and strong winds. The 4 pistons are arranged in 2 opposing pairs to balance each power stroke and to eliminate vibration. You get quick response, smooth operation and quiet power.

ADVERTISEMENT FOR BIDS

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Board of Trustees of the Lincoln School, Marin County, California, will receive bids for furnishing all labor, materials, transportation and services for the

on the property of the School District at Lincoln School, Marin County, California; each bid to be in accordance with plans, specifications and other Contract Documents now on file with Engle and Engle, Structural Engineers, 1539 Fourth Street, San Rafael, California. Plans may be examined and copies obtained at the office of Engle and Engle. Plans shall be returned in good condition within five (5) days after bids are opened.

Bidders are hereby notified that pursuant to the statutes of the State of California, or local laws thereto applicable, the Board of Trustees of the Lincoln School, has ascertained the general prevailing rate of wages and rates for legal holiday and overtime work in the locality in which this work is to be performed, for each craft or type of workman or mechanic needed to execute the Contract which will be awarded to the successful bidder.

A schedule of the Prevailing rates so determined is on file in the office of the Superintendent of Schools, Marin County, California.

It shall be mandatory upon the Contractor to whom the Contract is awarded, and upon any subcontractor under him, to pay not less than the said specified rates to all laborers, workmen and mechanics employed by them in the execution of the Contract.

Notice is hereby given that all bidders may submit with their bids, a sworn statement of their financial responsibility, technical ability and experience. Such sworn statement may be required to be furnished before award is made to any particular bidder.

Bids shall be made out on forms to be obtained at the office of Engle and Engle, 1539 Fourth Street, San Rafael, California; shall be accompanied by a certified cashier's check or bid bond for ten per cent (10%) of the amount of the bid made payable to the Lincoln School; shall be sealed and clearly marked:

REHABILITATION OF LINCOLN SCHOOL

and filed with Engle and Engle at 1539 Fourth Street, San Rafael, California, on or before 4:00 P.M. June 25, 1974 at San Rafael, California, and will be opened and publicly read aloud at that hour on that date in the office of Engle and Engle, 1539 Fourth Street, San Rafael, California.

The above mentioned check or bond shall be given as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into the Contract if awarded to him and will be declared forfeited if the successful bidder refuses to enter into said Contract after being requested to do so by the Lincoln School.

The Lincoln School reserves the right to reject any and all bids or waive any informality in the bid.

No bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of thirty (30) days after the date set for the opening thereof.

Box 9000, Presidio Station, San Francisco, California 94129, or by delivery to the Office of the Secretary of the District at the Administration Building, Toll Plaza, Golden Gate Bridge, San Francisco, California, until 2:00 p.m. Pacific Daylight Savings Time, Tuesday, July 16, 1974, at which time bids will be publicly opened and read in the Board Room of said building, for the following:

CONTRACT 74B LARKSPUR FERRY TERMINAL MARIN COUNTY, CALIFORNIA

The work involved in constructing the Larkspur Ferry Terminal generally consists of: mobilizing and demobilizing clamshell and hydraulic suction dredging equipment and pile driving equipment; dredging a navigation channel and turning basin: transporting and placing the dredged material at land and offshore disposal areas; furnishing and placing riprap; furnishing and driving steel piling; constructing the terminal space frame, service building and miscellaneous structures; fabricating and installing three floating boarding landings; earthwork; asphalt concrete paving; constructing site utilities and fuel oil storage system; furnishing and installing landscape planting and irrigation system; furnishing and installing signs, graphics, navigational aids and seismographic instrumentation; and furnishing all additional labor, materials, tools, equipment, services and incidentals required to construct the Larkspur Ferry Terminal, all as shown on the Contract Drawings and as specified.

Bids shall be submitted on District's "PROPOSAL" which shall not be removed from the bound Bid Document. The bound set shall be enclosed in a District furnished envelope, sealed and plainly marked with the bidder's name.

Bids must be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check or Bidder's Bond, as described in the Contract Documents, which shall be applied to damages sustained by the District if the successful bidder fails or refuses to enter into a contract awarded him.

Bids will be examined and reported to the Board of Directors of the District. The Board of Directors reserves the right to reject any and all bids or to waive any irregularities or informalities in any bid or in the bidding procedure. No bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of sixty (60) days after the date of opening of the bids. Each bidder will be notified of award, if award is made.

This contract is subject to a financial assistance contract between the District and the U.S. Department of Transportation. Any name appearing on the Comptroller General's list of ineligible contractors for federally financed and assisted construction is not an eligible bidder, and any contract that may be entered into with such a contractor may be cancelled, terminated or suspended by the District.

The contractor will be required to comply with all applicable equal employment opportunity laws and regulations.

The attention of bidders is directed to the requirements of the Occupational Safety and Health Administration of the U.S. Department of Labor, which requirements shall apply to all work to be done under this contract.

The District has determined the general rate of per diem wages applicable to the work to be done. These wage rates are set forth in the Special Provisions.

Contract Drawings, Specifications and Proposal Forms to be used for bidding this project may be inspected and purchased at the Office of the Secretary of the District, Administration Building, Toll Plaza, Golden Gate Bridge, San Francisco, California.

Dated at San Francisco, California, this 31st day of May, 1974.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Multiple Sclerosis Symptoms Come And Go, Always Worsen

A 40-year-old husband writes: "Has the progress of multiple sclerosis ever been arrested? My wife, who has MS, was improving until she got pregnant and now her condition has worsened."

Multiple sclerosis (MS) is a progressive disease of the brain and spinal cord. There are periods of marked improvement, remission, and relapse. Symptoms may subside for months or years and, when this happens, undeserved credit often is given the last medicine used. Initial attacks and subsequent relapses may be precipitated by pregnancy, vaccinations, emotional stress, injury, or infection.

MS is a crippler of young adults between the ages of 20 and 40. There is some evidence that it represents a reaction to a viral infection related to measles. There is a patchy degeneration of the myelin sheathing of certain nerves which is replaced by scar tissue. Additional disability follows each attack. Euphoria is a late manifestation of MS and explains why the victim seems to be so happy despite his medical predicament.

MULTIPLE SCLEROSIS is difficult to recognize at the onset, especially when the symptoms are mild and fleeting in character. Mary, for example, developed temporary numbness in her hand. Blurring of vision also ensued. By the next day, she was fine. Two months later when the symptoms returned, they lasted a little longer. In fact, the clumsiness, numbness, and tingling of the fingers were so bad that her left hand was almost useless.

During the next five years, the areas of myelin degeneration increased and she began to have trouble walking. First her gait was unsteady, and later the muscles became too weak to move.

SHE HAD double vision and her eyes were very tender and painful. Now and then a band-like sensation developed in her legs. Occasionally the extremities felt hot and then they felt cold. Painful muscle spasms were especially troublesome when she was sitting.

MS signs and symptoms vary greatly from patient to patient. One of the most distressing is loss of bladder or bowel control. The disease is easily recognized once the pattern of repeated attacks and remissions sets in. Changes in spinal fluid may also be noted. At present, there is no cure for MS, but medications and general measures help to relieve the distress and improve the feeling of well-being. Lack of a remedy is unfortunate because multiple sclerosis imposes tremendous emotional, physical, and financial burdens on the victim and his family.

Dr. Van Dellen welcomes reader questions. While he cannot reply to them individually, he will answer those of general interest in his column. Write to Dr. Van Dellen, c/o the Independent-Journal, PO Box 330, 1040 B St., San Rafael, Ca. 94902.

THYROID, WEIGHT

S. S. writes: Why does a person put on weight when the thyroid becomes sluggish?

REPLY

Because too much of the food he eats is stored and too little is utilized for energy.

Boston Legal Battle Looms Around Rights Of A Fetus

By WARREN LEARY

BOSTON (AP) — Around Boston City Hospital, Dr. Kenneth Edelin is known as one of the good guys.

There is a lot of talk about his skill, his interest in the black ghetto community surrounding the hospital, and his compassion.

And so, Boston's medical community is asking why the district attorney is accusing Dr. Kenneth Edelin of manslaughter in the death of a fetus he aborted in a legal operation.

The indictment of the 35-year-old doctor, the first black chief resident in obstetrics and gynecology at Boston City Hospital-BCH, could make medical and legal history, but Dr. Edelin says he would prefer that someone else have the historical recognition.

The rugged-looking, mustached physician finds himself, along with several colleagues, in the middle of separate, but related legal actions concerning legalized abortions, the rights of the fetus and fetal experimentation.

No stranger to revolutionary confrontation, Boston is bracing itself for a precedent-setting legal battle that could lead to a new legal definition of a human person and challenge the U.S. Supreme Court's abortion rulings.

When, after conception, does the growing mass of cells in a woman's womb become a human with a right to life and the legal protection entitled a human being? This and related questions have divided society's thinkers for centuries.

The Supreme Court last year struck down restrictive state abortion laws, but left unanswered the basic question of when a fetus becomes a human being capable of life and entitled to legal rights.

For the nation's medical community, the question came dramatically before them on April 11 when the "Boston Indictments," as they've become known in medical circles, were handed down by a Suffolk County grand jury.

Dr. Edelin was indicted for manslaughter in connection with the death of a 22-to 24-week-old male fetus. In separate indictments, delivered the same day, four other BCH doctors were indicted for research conducted with fetuses aborted at the hospital. The two cases are not directly related.

Charged under an 1814 state law designed to curb grave robbing were Drs. Leon D. Sabath and Leonard Berman and two others who had left the hospital, Dr. David Charles, now in Newfoundland, and Dr. Agenta Philipson, now in Sweden.

The doctors are not charged with grave robbing, but with carrying away bodies — aborted fetuses — for the purpose of dissection without authorization. Dr. Berman, a BCH pathologist, supplied fetal material to the other doctors for their study.

That study, published in the June 7, 1973 issue of the New England Journal of Medicine, described the doctors' experiment to determine how well two antibiotics passed through the placenta from mother to fetus. The antibiotics were given to 33 mothers before their abortions. Dr. Sabath said in an interview that all 33 gave their informed consent to participate in the study. He asserted that the abortions would have been performed anyway, even if the women had not participated in the study.

Using small amounts of tissue from aborted fetuses was "the safest and most moral way" to conduct the study, Dr. Sabath said, rather than using full-term babies who might have been harmed by the drugs.

The Committe of Human Studies at BCH, which sees that proper safeguards are followed in human experiments, approved the study beforehand, Dr. Sabath added.

"It's rather paradoxical that this study has attracted so much nonprofessional interest after we went through so much trouble to do everything properly."

The study attracted the attention of Right-to-Life committees in heavily Roman Catholic Boston. The city council held hearings on the BCH research and after strong anti-abortion sentiment was voiced, the council called for a criminal investigation.

Dist. Atty. Garrett Byrne's eight-month investigation culminated with the grand jury indictments. During the investigation, the hospital records of the 33 mothers were examined by the grand jury. Numerous hospital staff members were called to testify.

The grand jury became aware of the Dr. Edelin abortion as a result of the investigation of the BCH research project.

Critics of the indictments charge they were politically motivated. They say the doctors are being used as scapegoats to challenge the U.S. Supreme Court abortion rulings, which permit abortion almost on demand during the first six months of pregnancy.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Newman A. Flanagan, chief prosecutor in the doctors' cases, heatedly denies the indictments have anything to do with politics, although Byrne, a 22-year incumbent, is running for re-election this year.

The district attorney's office released few details of the indictments, and the defendants say they are not sure what, specifically, they are charged with. Lawyers for Dr. Edelin and the doctors in the other case say they must get more details before they can prepare a defense.

As a result of the BCH controversy, the Massachussetts Legislature is considering bills increasing controls over abortion and fetal research.

The results of the Boston cases could determine if similar restrictive legislation is introduced elsewhere in the country. Researchers say such measures could stifle medical progress. But critics of fetal research say medical progress should not come at the expense of mothers or fetuses, which they consider human.

All Junior Horse Show Announced

The Sonoma Marin Fair's all junior horse show will open at 8 a.m. June 22 at the Petaluma Fairgrounds.

The first 13 classes, for English riders, will include hunters, jumpers, pleasure hacks and equitation events.

Western classes will begin at 1 p.m. They include halter events, bareback and stock seat equitation classes, pleasure horse classes and trail horse events.

First place winners in each class will receive halters and lead ropes. Those finishing in second through sixth place will receive ribbons.

High point winners in both English and western divisions will receive special trophies, according to Eddie Fowler, horseshow chairman of the Petaluma Junior Riding Club which sponsors the event.

Contestants, who must be no more than 17 years old, may enter by contacting Kim Case at 1612 Bodega Avenue, Petaluma.

The show is held in conjunction with the annual fair, which will take place June 19 - 23.

African Bishop's Removal Asked

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (UPI) — The Roman Catholic Chichester Club said yesterday it has asked Pope Paul VI to remove Bishop Donal Lamont from the country "and from Africa."

The executive committee of the club, formed by Catholic professional and businessmen, said the call was made because of statements Lamont is reported to have made at a New York news conference late last month.

He was reported to have said Rhodesian blacks were "living under a reign of terror comparable to Nazi Germany."

"We know that the Bishop knows that such statements are a complete and untruthful distortion of the true facts," the committee said.

Lamont has not returned from New York where he spoke before a United Nations committee.

How Defective Babes Are Allowed To Die

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Several thousand mentally and physically defective babies are left to die each year when medical treatment is withheld, two physicians testified yesterday.

Their estimates on the number of infants left to die came in response to questions by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., at an unusual "right to survive" hearing on the ethics of extraordinary research published last October.

In that research, Drs. Raymond Duff and A.G.M. Campbell reported that 43 deaths in the special-care nursery of the Yale-New Haven hospital over 2½ years were related to the withholding of medical treatment.

The infants left to die, after what was reported to be careful consideration by both doctors and parents, had such severe birth defects or incapacitating conditions that "prognosis for meaningful life was extremely poor or hopeless," the authors said.

Duff, two other physicans and an ethicist testified before Kennedy's health subcommittee, often sharply disagreeing with each other on the moral issues.

Kennedy commended Duff for his "willingness to take the heat and break the silence that has surrounded this aspect of medical practice for so long."

The research was published in the Oct. 25, 1973, New England Journal of Medicine.

Kennedy asked Duff to project the research and estimate how many severely handicapped babies are left to die nationally. Duff replied:

"I'm sure several thousand a year."

Dr. Robert E. Cooke, vice chancellor for health sciences at the University of Wisconsin and a former practicing pediatrician, agreed with Duff's estimate but added "whether all would have survived or not is another story."

Kennedy asked how many might have survived and led useful or satisfying lives, and Duff replied that likelihood was "quite low."

Duff and Dr. Lewis B. Sheiner of the University of California at San Francisco argued in separate testimony that the biblical injuction "Thou shalt not kill" should be re-evaluated in considering the moral questions involved.

"A literal interpretation of that moral law may be possible for most of us but it is no longer possible for the physicians: the apparent exceptions have become too numerous," Sheiner said.

His view was disputed by Warren T. Reich, an ethicist and senior research scholar at the Kennedy Institute Center for Bioethics here. He urged protections for the babies threatened by the denial of medical care, and said he was "particularly dismayed" that the moral law "no longer has meaning to physicians."

Turkish Poppy Crop Is Planted

AFYON, Turkey (UPI) — Final cultivation has been completed for a seed crop of opium poppies recently planted on state farms as a step toward resuming full production next year, farm officials said yesterday.

A previous Turkish administration banned poppy growing in 1971 in what the U.S. government called an important step to curb illicit international drug traffic.

Turkey's 100,000 poppy farmers complained that the $35 million compensation paid to them by the United States was not enough to make up for the loss of their income. The present government under Premier Bulent Ecevit has said it intends to resume poppy cultivation under strict controls.

Call For Satellite Sharing By Sarnoff

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Robert Sarnoff, chairman of the RCA Corp., said yesterday future satellites should be shared by more than one user to avoid waste of space.

"Space may seem unlimited, but desirable locations are not," Sarnoff told the Armed Forces Communications and Electronics Association.

Ban On Smoking

WARSAW (UPI) — The Polish government has issued "the first legal act in Europe" forbidding smoking in restaurants, coffeehouses, snackbars, commuter trains and lecture halls.

Brown, Moretti Said Guilty Of Violations

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Secretary of State Edmund Brown, Jr. and Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti violated election laws in connection with last November's defeat of Prop. 1, a Supreme Court petition contends.

The petition, filed by former State Sen. Hugh H. Burns of Fresno and others, contends Moretti and the Assembly Office of Research used at least $500,000 in public funds to block passage of Gov. Ronald Reagan's tax ceiling initiative.

The suit also contends Brown failed in his duty of reporting violations of the campaign finance disclosure laws to the state attorney general.

The petition seeks to overturn a decision by a Sacramento Superior Court judge last month which dismissed the suit on the grounds the old campaign disclosure law was repealed Jan. 1.

Brown beat Moretti in the June 4 primary to win the Democratic nomination for governor.

Tongue-Twisting Court Decision

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — In a tongue-twisting superior court suit involving Tidee-Didee Diaper Service and Dy-Dee Wash, a judge ruled yesterday that Tidee-Didee could advertise itself as Didee-Tidee.

It all began last month when Dy-dee Wash of South San Francisco filed suit to block Tidee-Didee of Sacramento from advertising itself as Didee-Tidee in the Bay Area.

Dy-Dee claimed Tidee-Didee's advertising was confusing, misleading prospective Dy-Dee customers into patronizing Tidee-Didee because they believed Tidee was Dy-Dee.

Attorneys for Dy-Dee and Tidee-Didee, their tongues getting twisted more than once, argued the case before an intently listening Judge B. Abbott Goldberg.

Goldberg then ruled against Dy-Dee, saying Tidee-Didee's advertising as Didee-Tidee did not confuse or mislead as it was presented in printing.

A Traffic Jam On The Russian River

I finally went on my first canoe trip the other day and although it wasn't exactly a "Deliverance" it had its moments.

It was down a 12-mile stretch of the Russian River from Asti to Healdsburg with a Boy Scout Troop and I don't know who had more fun, the scouts or we fathers.

The first thing I realized was that we wouldn't be alone on the water. As soon as we started we became part of a massive attack force. It was wall to wall canoes. There was more aluminum than water.

Some of the Boy Scouts had built their own kayaks and the other scouts and dads were in aluminum canoes brought from Marin scout headquarters. This time of year, others — many others — had the same idea. There were other scout groups, guys with their dates, families with kids, elderly women, all on the water at the same time.

W. C. (BOB) TROWBRIDGE rents canoes on this stretch of the river and what a business he does! I was told he has 700 canoes for hire and all were on the water this weekend day. I saw that name stenciled on so many canoes in those few short hours it will be stenciled in my mind for life.

There were three of us in our canoe. Ed Adams, former recreation chief for the City of Novato, was very experienced in this sort of thing so he took the captain's role. His son, Glenn, and I were the crew. My 12-year-old son didn't trust my boating ability so he hopped in a different canoe with one of the other Boy Scouts.

Most of the trip is very peaceful and relaxing but there are a few spots where you had better know what you are doing. At one of these tricky passes the canoe in which my son was riding overturned and got wedged between some logs. His partner jumped free of the boat but Rick got trapped under it. He was able to breathe in the air pocket under the boat but because his life vest kept him on top of the water he couldn't dive under the boat to get free. Some men got to him before I could and pulled him from under the canoe. He was not injured but was pretty shaken.

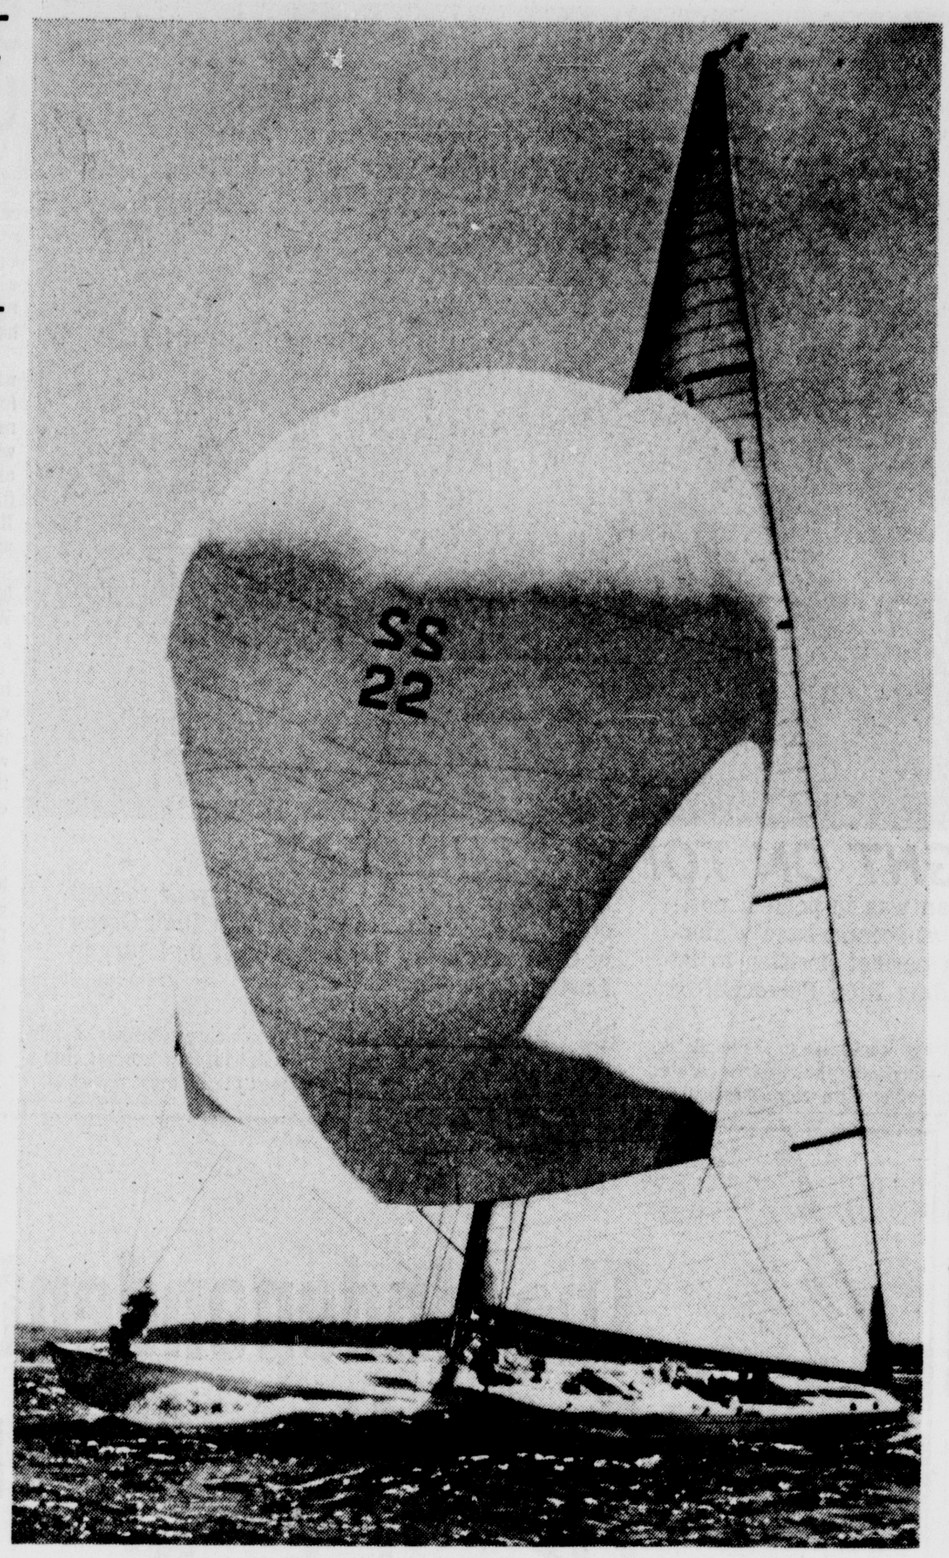
THAT'S THE ONE advantage of the water being so crowded with people. If you get in trouble there's always someone a few feet away to give you a hand.

At one turn we stopped to help a young couple whose boat had overturned and by the time we got their boat free and recovered all their gear for them another canoe flipped at the same spot and spilled the occupants into the stream. We helped again. This was repeated another eight or nine times and for a half hour we did nothing but help others. I never felt so much like a Boy Scout.

A PAIR OF GRANDMOTHER types were among those we helped after overturning but they went for seconds, again spilling further down the river. We helped them out the second time. The next rough stretch we waited and sure enough, the two women came right toward the part of the stream which would mean instant splash. This time Adams cut them off and led their canoe to a safer passage.

"This is the first and last canoe trip for me," said one of the grateful women.

Myself, I think it's a great recreational outing. I know I am going to do it again. Now where did I put that paddle?



America's Cup champion Intrepid under full sail.

3 Marin Crewmen Make Historic Bid

By RON LENT

Three Marinites can help make sailboat racing history.

Mill Valley's Bob Norman and Steve Taft and Belvedere's Doug Best are members of the 14-man crew of Intrepid, which is seeking its third consecutive America's Cup victory — an achievement unattained in the event's 123-year history.

The wooden-hulled Intrepid, which won in 1967 and 1970, must first survive trials which last through August. Several other yachts, including three aluminum-hulled boats for the first time, will attempt to win the honor of representing the U.S. in thr race, Sept. 10.

Norman, 26, now is at the race site in Newport, R.I., making crew arrangements. The Intrepid left by truck June 1 from San Diego, where it had been practicing.

Taft, 26, and Best, 23, leave this weekend to join other crewmen and skipper Gerald Driscoll of San Diego. Upon arrival, the group will begin mapping strategy for the trials.

Norman has 10 years of racing experience, including action on the east coast. Taft, a sailmaker, has participated in three Trans Pacific races and the Australian Southern Cross Series during his 17 years of racing. Best, a 15-year veteran, has been a finalist in the Mallory Cup and has ocean racing experience in the Danforth Series. He is a sailing instructor for the San Francisco Yacht Club of Belvedere and U.S. Coast Guard.

While the Marinites assemble with other crew members, officials on the west coast are confronting another challenge: finances. As of Tuesday, $500,000 of the $750,000 goal had been raised.

"In Northern California, we're trying to raise $120,000," said Bruce Block, business manager of the Northern California Executive Committee of Intrepid West. Intrepid West, an organization of volunteer groups, is the financial arm of Seattle Sailing Foundation.

Seattle Sailing, which owns the Intrepid, has the 12-meter ship donated to it by three men. George Jewett Jr. of San Francisco, Charles Hughes of San Diego and George Schuchart of Seattle.

Block said that a "unique approach is being used to obtain donations. Everybody with any interest in this activity can get a piece of the action."

How? "We've made this a west coast endeavor. We're trying to get west Coast yachtsmen to contribute whether it's $2 or $10,000.

"The point is: no matter how little or how much you contribute, you feel a part of it."

Although two-thirds of the $750,000 has been raised, the remaining amount will be needed to meet expenses of the crew and boat maintenance. Said Block, "They'll be racing almost every day during the trials. As long as the Intrepid remains in the running for an unprecedented third title, more money will be needed."

WILHELM SIGNS PACT WITH PADRES

Jim Wilhelm of Belvedere, seventh round pick of the San Diego Padres in last week's free agent draft, signed his professional baseball contract today.

Wilhelm, whose family moved from Kentfield to Belvedere three weeks ago, played first base and outfield for University of Santa Clara this year and batted .353 with three home runs.

"I'm somewhat happy," Wilhelm said about the contract which included a small bonus.

He was assigned to the Walla Walla, Wash., team of the Northwest League, a farm club of the Padres, and will report there Friday.

NORTH-SOUTH GAME

Lineups Boast .400 Hitters

The South will have three .400 hitters in the lineup when it takes the field June 22 for the Marin North-South All-Star Baseball Game, according to rosters announced today.

The game at 8 p.m. at Albert Field matches 15-man teams of top graduated seniors from the eight Marin County Athletic League schools, with Novato, San Marin, Terra Linda and San Rafael comprising the North and Redwood, Drake, Marin Catholic and Tamalpais making up the South.

It is sponsored by the San Rafael Knights of Columbus, which uses proceeds to fund its college scholarship program.

The South, coached by Dave Gonsalves of Marin Catholic, will include MCAL batting champion Phil Bacigalupi of league champion Redwood, who hit .467 in league play.

Other intimidating bats belong to Tamalpais outfielder Alvin Hall, who hit .435, and Drake catcher Warren Pino, .425.

Leading the North attack will be Buck McCusker, the Terra Linda outfielder who was second to Bacigalupi at .457.

Redwood outfielder Rob Long, who hit .375, is not included on the South roster because of the possibility of his signing a professional contract prior to the game. He was drafted in the third round by the Atlanta Braves last week.

Redwood placed five players on the South team — third baseman Bacigalupi, first baseman Steve Spelman, shortstop Gary LaTorre (.392), catcher Doug Hartman and pitcher Jeff Lucchesi. Lucchesi led the MCAL in earned run average (0.66) while going undefeated (4-0).

Tamalpais also placed five — Hall, third baseman Jake Newman, outfielder John Hanley and pitchers John Porter and Jim Beckham.

Drake landed Pino and outfielder Mike Whelan, while Marin Catholic contributed outfielder Len Kristensen, infielder Tim Little and first baseman Mike Nivens.

Second-place San Rafael, which won 10 of its last 11 games, placed five players on the North squad. They are shortstop Craig Saunders (.364), first baseman Kevin Loughlin, pitcher Mike Farris and outfielders Matt Dockstader and Tim Madera. Farris had a 9-2 record the past two seasons.

Terra Linda also landed five — McCusker, pitcher Kevin Kirby, second baseman Jim McCarthy, catcher Ken Wolter and outfielder Jack Crimmins.

Novato had outfielder Jeff Pond, second baseman Jeff Rubino and third-sacker Dave Brazell, while San Marin had pitcher Mike Robertson and first baseman Bruce Smith. Robertson pitched a no-hitter in MCAL play in 1973.

The North team will be coached by Novato assistant Ray Kelleher.

SEALS INK AMATEUR PAIR

National Hockey League Expansion Draft Begins

MONTREAL (UPI) — Kansas City and Washington, the National Hockey League's two new teams, today outfit themselves with players at the league's expansion draft, each picking up 22 skaters plus two goalies from the unprotected lists of other clubs.

The 16 existing teams are each permitted to protect 15 players and two goalies with no team losing more than one goalkeeper. The four clubs which lost goalkeepers in the 1972 expansion draft —Montreal, Boston, Chicago and Los Angeles —may opt for exemption from the netminding draft.

The California Golden Seals could lose as many as three players from the unprotected group of goalie Marv Edwards, center Rick Kessell, defenseman Terry Murray and wings Pete Laframboise, Morris Mott and Gary Croteau.

From Oakland, the Seals announced the signing of two of their recent amateur picks — center-left wing Charlie Simmer, 20, of the Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds, and defenseman Tom Price, 19, of the Ottowa 67s. Simmer was picked third and Price fourth.

General Manager Milt Schmidt of the Washington Capitols and his counterpart Sid Abel of the Kansas City Scouts, will choose goalkeepers first.

As each club loses a player in the draft, it will be permitted to add another from the unprotected list to the protected roster.

The highlight of yesterday's session of the NHL annual meeting was the presentation of individual awards and trophies. Phil Esposito of the Boston Bruins took two honors, the Hart Trophy as the league's most valuable player and the Art Ross Trophy as the top scorer in the NHL.

New York Islanders defenseman Denis Potvin took the Calder Trophy as the league's top rookie while Boston's Johnny Bucyk was awarded the Lady Byng Trophy for being the player that combined gentlemanly conduct with playing ability. Superstar Bobby Orr won his 14th individual award when he took the Norris Trophy as the league's top defenseman.

Goalie's Bernie Parent of the Stanley Cup champion Philadelphia Flyers and Tony Esposito of the Chicago Black Hawks shared the Vezina Trophy for the best netminding. Parent was also the best playoff performer and took the Conn Smythe trophy.

HOMERS, DRAMA

A's Fall Victim To A 'Fenway Special'

BOSTON (UPI) — This one was a Fenway special.

A total of 19 runs, 27 hits including four home runs, a pair of five-run innings—one by each team—and a game-saving performance in the ninth.

And the best part for the home town rooters last night was that the Red Sox won, 10-9, despite allowing the world champion Oakland A's to catch up twice and pull within a run in the final inning. (See A's photo, page 38.)

"Baseball is a crazy game, especially in this ballpark," said Danny Cater, who got Boston's five-run seventh inning winging with a pinch-hit double to score Dick McAuliffe and break a 4-4 tie.

The "crazy game" began as a home run derby, with Boston holding the long ball edge through six innings. Rick Miller destroyed a 1-0 Oakland advantage with a two-run line, shot into the Red Sox bullpen in the second inning. Cecil Cooper put a Catfish Hunter fastball eight rows behind the Sox bullpen in the third to give Boston a 3-1 advantage.

Oakland tied the game for the first time with a solo homer by Sal Bando in the sixth. Carlton Fisk hit the third Boston homer, a bomb to straightaway center field in the bottom of the sixth to put the Sox back on top, 4-3.

Oakland knotted the score again in the seventh but the Sox apparently put the game away with the big eighth inning that chased Hunter.

But Red Sox reliever Diego Segui "started getting up high with his pitches in the ninth," according to Boston Manager Darrell Johnson, and only a two-strikeout performance by big Bob Veale with two men on saved the ballgame.

Veale blew fastballs past Gene Tenace and Angel Mangual to end the game.

Will A's Move To Seattle?

SEATTLE (UPI) — The shift of a Bay Area major league baseball franchise to Seattle is a strong possibility when the new domed stadium is completed in 1976, King County executive John Spellman said yesterday.

He noted that the current projection for Oakland attendance this season is about 600,000 "and the A's don't seem to be encouraging increased attendance." He said that in the Pilots' one season in Seattle, the team drew 700,000 fans.

NO PIRATE

"I'd say that either Oakland or San Francisco should move," he added. "We're not going to pirate a team. But if either team did move, we would have an excellent chance of getting that team. And it looks like it would more likely be Oakland than San Francisco."

Spellman said he has had no personal contact with Oakland owner Charles Finley recently.

OBLIGATION

"We have been dealing with the league rather than with any teams because the league seems to feel some obligation to solve the Seattle problem.

"And I suspect the league might encourage Mr. Finley in this direction," he said.

The Seattle Pilots franchise lasted only through the 1969 season. It then was sold to Milwaukee and became the Brewers, much to the dismay of local baseball fans.

It is expected that a suit against the American League over the franchise switch will be settled out of court in return for a league guarantee of a new team for Seattle.

Gaters Visit Sunny Florida

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — The Golden Gaters hope to move to the sunny side of .500 in sunny Florida when they call on the Florida Flamingos tonight in World Team Tennis.

The Gaters, 8-8 after losing to Philadelphia Monday, have beaten the Flamingos twice, but the scores have been 30-28 and 26-25.

Player-Coach Roy Emerson commented that he liked the way Denise Triolo hit the ball in a short stint against the Freedoms and said he would work her into the lineup somewhere tonight.

3-2 Softball Win

Marin Supply edged Bank of Marin, 3-2, last night in a San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Department adult softball game at Hidden Valley School, Sleepy Hollow.

Reliever Throttles Giants

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Horacio Pina doesn't care about the color of his baseball uniform, just as long as the stenciling on it spells the name of a big league club.

"All the teams are the same to me," said the 34-year-old relief specialist last night after coming to Ken Frailing's rescue in a Chicago Cubs 7-4 victory over the San Francisco Giants. "I only care if I am pitching for a big league team. This club is as good as any to me."

Pina, who throws sidearm, retired Dave Kingman on a pop-up to shortstop with two out and the bases loaded that finished the Giants, who started in a 4-0 hole and never caught up.

Don Kessinger drove in two runs and Jerry Morales, Billy Williams and Rick Monday added an RBI each to feature a 10-hit Chicago attack against four San Francisco pitchers. John D'Acquisto, touched for five runs and seven hits in five innings, suffered the loss, his sixth in 10 decisions. Frailing got the victory and now is 5-5.

The Giants, desperate for pitching help, dipped down to their PCL farm club at Phoenix and brought up veteran reliever Steve Barber. To make room for him they sold Jim Willoughby to Phoenix.

"That's not the kind of help I have in mind," said manager Charlie Fox. "In this case we are talking about the 10th man on the staff. What we need is a proven starter and we can't seem to get one."

Fox admitted the Giants have offered around several of their top young players, ones such as Kingman, Gary Matthews, Steve Ontiveros and Gary Thomasson, but with no luck.

"Everyone wants to give us seaweed for ice cream," he said. "We've got enough of that kind of pitching right now."

By winning last night, the Cubs, although eight games under .500, climbed to within six games of the lead in the National League East. The Giants fell a game under .500, but trail in the west by 12 ½ games.

ON BASEBALL

By GARY HUGHES

Time To Mark Those Ballots

This is an election year. It is not so important who you vote for as it is that you cast your ballot.

The above reference is to the fact that the time has come for the baseball fans of America to cast their all-star ballot. The fans, as I'm sure you recall, pick the eight starting players on both the American and National League teams. The managers (Yogi Berra in the National and Earl Weaver in the American) will fill out the rosters by choosing the pitchers and the reserve players.

In order to make your job easier I am enclosing my recommendations in this very copy of your local paper. Be sure to cut it out and bring it to your polling place. This is well within the rules.

In a manner copied from Bob's Blue Card (a tout sheet available at all race tracks) I will list two possibilities at each position. There is no preference implied. Either one would be a worthy winner. One further note; six outfielders in the American League and 10 in the National will be named without regard to their exact positioning. Write ins are acceptable.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

First Base — John Mayberry and Carl Yastrzemski.

Aside that he hustles less than most any man in baseball, Mayberry does have great power. Yaz is hitting once again and leading the Boston charge.

Second Base — Rod Carew and Bobby Grich.

Shortstop — Campy Campaneris and Luis Aparicio.

Without trying to influence you it's suffice to say that Campy is a clear cut choice. That Aparicio no longer plays may cause you to ignore the fact that he'd still be a good choice.

Third Base — Jim Fregosi (write in) and Brooks Robinson.

Catcher — Thurmon Munson and Carlton Fisk.

Both can hit, have power and are good defensive catchers. Munson has the fastest release in the big leagues.

Outfielders — Reggie Jackson, Tony Oliva, Ken Henderson Joe Rudi, Jeff Buroughs and Lou Piniella (write in).

Any one of these would be a solid choice. Reggie is the league's finest. Oliva is a designated hitter but belongs on the team. Henderson is a talented young man having a good year. Fudi is the most underrated player in baseball. Burroughs is having a super year and could lead the league in home runs for the next 15 years. Piniella is hitting very well.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

First Base — Steve Garvey (write in) and Tony Perez.

Garvey is having a great year at the plate and is adequate on defense. Perez continues to be one of the better hitters in the National League.

Second Base — Joe Morgan and Dave Cash.

Both of these guys are going very well. Cash is leading the resurgent Phillies. Morgan continues to do everything (hit, field, hit with power, steal bases).

Shortstop — Larry Bowa and Don Kessinger.

Bowa is simply the best defensive shortstop in baseball. Kessinger is also outstanding defensively and he is also hitting a solid .290.

Third Base — Ken Reitz and Mike Schmidt.

Reitz has been among the leading hitters all year. He is one of the two best defensive third basemen in the league (the other being Houston's Doug Rader). Schmidt's statistics are impressive. The Phillies are for real Catchers — John Bench and John Boccabella (write in).

Outfielders — Lou Brock, Jim Wynn, Pete Rose, Henry Aaron, Reggie Smith, Ralph Garr, Garry Maddox, Rich Zisk, Cesar Cedeno, Bobby Bonds.

Take your pick. Any one would be an excellent choice. Looking at this array one sees why the National League is superior.

RIGHT ON TOP OF THE PLAY

Umpire Joe Brinkman was in perfect position to make this call at second base yesterday — and he was in perfect position to be nearly upended by sliding Rico Petrocelli of the Boston Red Sox. Petrocelli was tagged out by sprawling second baseman Dick Green of Oakland during the Red Sox' 10-9 victory in Boston. (UPI Telephoto)

Snead Tries Again In U.S. Open Tomorrow

MAMARONECK, N.Y. (UPI) — In his long and glorious career, Sam Snead has won a record 84 official tournaments. Unfortunately, none of them was the U.S. Open, and his repeated failures have followed him all the way home.

The other day, for example, when he was packing his bags for another shot at the only major title he hasn't won, his wife gave him a funny look and asked: "What are you going for? You're not going to win it. If you haven't won it yet, you won't now."

Snead, sitting in front of his locker in the clubhouse of the Winged Foot Golf Club, smiled as he told the story.

"I don't think she meant it," he continued. "No one in the world would rather see me win it than her. She plays pretty well herself, you know. She won the Boca Raton (Florida) club championship several times.

"But after she asked me why I was going, she said that as long as I insisted, I should take her along with me and let her putt for me. She's a good putter, you know."

At 62, Snead doesn't get too worked up by the U.S. Open anymore. When the opening bell sounds tomorrow for the 74th renewal of this prestigious event, Snead will be making his 31st attempt at this one big one which perpetually keeps eluding him.

Regardless of how he fares, he will set another record simply by teeing off. He will become the oldest qualifier ever to play in the Open.

"I have a way outside chance," Snead estimated. "If I can get my putter going a little better it can inspire me to play. This is going to be a tough course, and a guy will have to be luckier than a dog with two tails, particularly if he gets in the rough.

"I try to treat the Open like any other tournament, but of course it isn't. You go out and try the best you can, if that's not good enough you wait for the next street car.

"I just hope to get off to a good start and be up among them Friday, then lay back in the bushes like a snake and bite them the last nine holes. More of these tournaments are won by guys who never thought they had a chance."

All-Star Game

The 1974 All-Star baseball game will be played at Three Rivers Stadium in Pittsburgh on July 23.

Pro Grid Negotiations 'Fruitless'

NEW YORK (UPI) — After an afternoon of fruitless negotiations, the National Football League players and owners will try again today to sit down and discuss the "freedom issues" the players are so concerned with.

Nothing substantial came from a three-hour session yesterday, the first time both sides have met together since the beginning of April. In addition, mediator William Usery of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service failed to appear because he was away at another negotiation.

However, Ed Garvey, executive director of the NFL PLayers Association, indicated that the delay in substantive talks was unnecessary since he thought the presence of a mediator wasn't necessary yet.

"What can he mediate?" Garvey quipped.

Garvey's remark expressed the players' attitude that the owners haven't given them anything to discuss.

"Tomorrow we hope to get a meaningful answer," said center Bill Curry of the Houston Oilers, president of the NFL PLayers Association. "Their definition of a response is, 'boys, go back and rethink your position'. They haven't responded to anything.

"We are waiting..."

The NFLPA has called for a strike July 1 if an agreement is not reached by that time.

The "freedom issues" the players are referring to—which they would like to see abolished —include the Rozelle Rule, dealing with compensation for players signing on with other clubs when playing out their options, and the waiver procedure, which establishes a definite standard as to what club a waived player must report to.

Two Homers For Marin's Cliff Hall

Clifford Hall hits for both average and power. Unfortunately, he seems to do so on alternate weeks.

The outfielder from Marin City belted two home runs and a double last week, but added only two other hits in a five-for-24 performance which dropped his season's batting average from .302 to .283, according to Player Periscope statistical service of Novato.

He has three homers, 18 runs batted in and 18 runs scored this year for Newport News, Va., in the Class A Carolina League. He is the property of the Chicago Cubs.

The only other Marinite active in the minor leagues last week was Dewey Forry of San Rafael, who pitched in relief for the Los Angeles Dodgers' Waterbury, Conn. farm in the Class AA Eastern League.

Forry gave up two hits and a walk but struck out three during three innings in two games, and stands 0-1 for the year with an earned run average of 5.54.

Club America Edges 'Quakes In Exhibition

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI) — The Club America of Mexico was outshot 26-10 by the San Jose Earthquakes of the North American Soccer League last night, but still gained the 21 victory in exhibition action before 7,418 fans.

Alex Ojedo scored in the first half for the Mexican visitors and then Enrique Borja connected 18 minutes into the second half. Archie Roboostoff of the Quakes tallied on a penalty kick one minute later.

The two teams meet again tomorrow night in Sacramento.

Makes LPGA Tour

ATLANTA (AP) — One of 11 women golfers who have qualified for the 1974 Ladies Professional Golfers Association tour is 20-year-old Denise Lee Bebernes of Santa Maria. She won the California women's amateur last year. Her father once played football with California Poly State and her mother was a vocalist with the Harry James band.

BOATING

By STAN DAVIES

Be Familiar With Signs Of Distress

It's now law that a Coast Guard district commander has the authority to terminate an intended voyage or boat trip if he believes that the boat is unsuited to make the trip.

Under the terms of a regulation published April 17, the commander may designate a boat as being "manifestly unsafe for a specific voyage on a specified body of water."

It is important to note that the district commander can't redelegate the authority to a lesser officer. He must make the determination himself.

In the preamble to the rule, the Coast Guard notes that district commanders will be looking for "blatant, extreme and manifest deficiences" in boats. There is no plan to stop every craft that may have a small leak or superficial damage, but a person who would set out to cross the Atlantic in a canoe, or try to take a rubber raft to Japan, will certainly be stopped.

At this time of year the Coast Guard also reiterates its recommendation that all small pleasure craft, operating in any waters, carry two very simple distress signals. Most people still don't know about them.

The first is a rudimentary orange-red flag of any size. In time of distress, it's waved from side to side in a big arc. It attracts attention immediately, and can't possibly be construed as a friendly greeting.

The second signal approved and suggested by the Coast Guard consists of a fluorescent orange-red panel of cloth 72 inches by 42 inches in size. On the orange panel are painted a black square with 18 inch sides and a black circle 18 inches in diameter.

This signal is intended mainly for use when a boat is being sought by an aircraft. The combination of the square and circle, which incidentally is the International distress signal, is very obvious from the air when it is backed by the fluorescent orange panel.

Both of these distress signals can be made at home for a few dollars out of scrap materials and paints. Neither is required by law on the nation's 8 million pleasure craft, but the Coast Guard is urging all boat owners to carry them.

Anyone who has been in distress on a boat knows the frustration of waving and shouting to passing boats for help, only to have the people on them gaily wave back a greeting. The virtue of a signal which could never be mistaken for a friendly salutation doesn't have to be explained.

There's quite a bit more to this question of distress signalling, as some of the questions I've been asked indicate:

Q. Is the old SOS signal still used?

A. Very much so . . . when the only means of signalling is by morse code either over radio or by lights. The spoken word by radiotelephone now is "Mayday", repeated at least three times.

Q. Suppose you haven't got a flag . . . or anything . . .?

A. Then use the older signal suggested by the Coast Guard. Raise and lower your arms at the side in a sort of flapping motion . . . slowly and deliberately. Nobody in his right mind could mistake this for a friendly wave.

Q. How do you use a gun to signal distress?

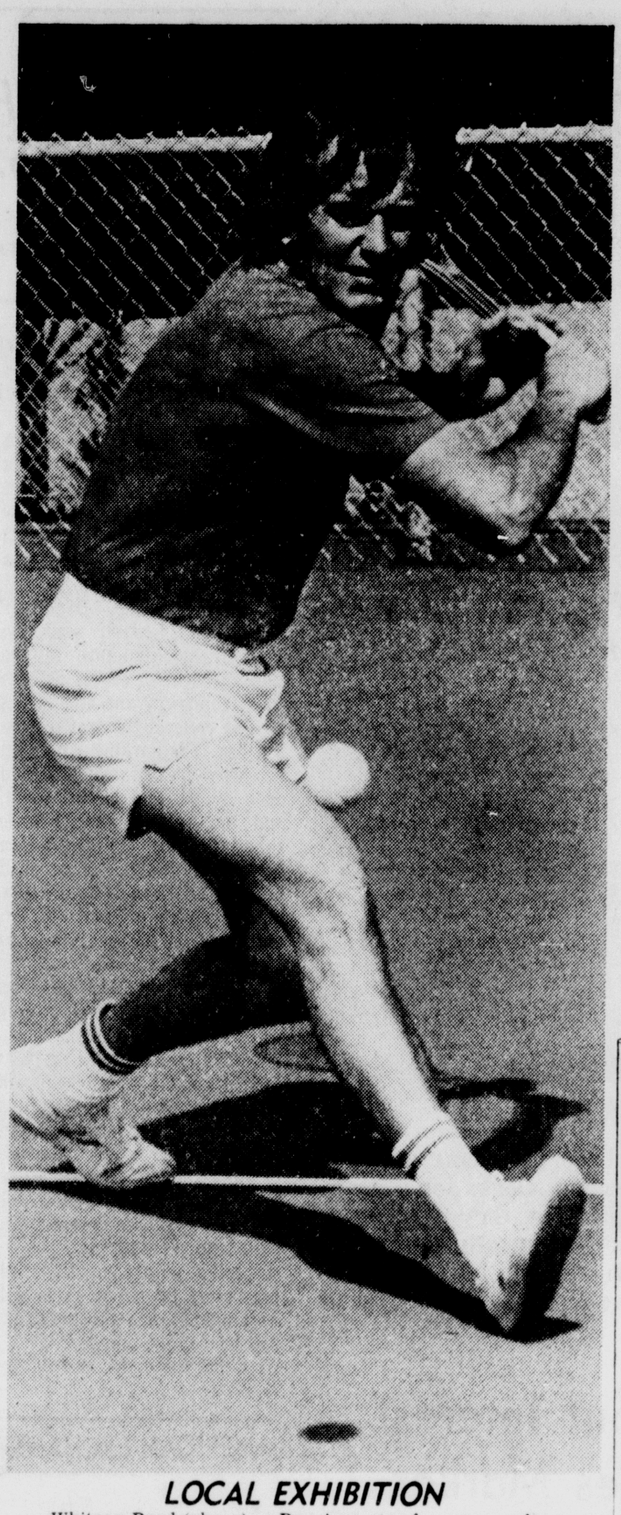
A. Keep firing at regular intervals of about a minute. Count the seconds if necessary like this: "one thousand . . . two thousand . . ." etc. To say "one thousand" slowly takes about a second. It's the regularity of the firing which attracts attention.

Q. How about at night?

A. Three fires arranged in an equilateral triangle indicate distress.

Q. What's the best safety device for a canoe trip through the north?

A. I'd say it's telling someone your proposed route before you start out. Leave a map if necessary. Then if you don't show up in a reasonable time, it's easy to follow your trail. This same idea can be applied to trips anywhere.



LOCAL EXHIBITION

Whitney Reed (above), a Bay Area star for years and now a member of the Golden Gaters, will play former Marinite John Zwieg in a tennis exhibition Saturday night at the Rolling Hills Country Club in Novato to benefit the Marin County Heart Association. Cost is $3.50 per person and a no-host cocktail hour begins at 7 p.m.

Michigan Football Assistants Move Up

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — Coach Bo Schembechler of the University of Michigan has seen three of his football assistants graduate to head coaching jobs in the past three seasons.

Jim Young went to Arizona in 1973, Frank Maloney succeeded Ben Schwartzwalder at Syracuse in 1974, and George Mans assumed the top job at Eastern Michigan in 1974.

Unitas Record

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Among the many records held by former Baltimore Colts quarterback Johnny Unitas is the feat of having passed for 300 or more yards in a game 26 times.

New Soccer Czar Pledges Harmony

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

FRANKFURT, Germany — International soccer started a new era today on the eve of the 10th World Cup finals with a non-European leader for the first time and prospects of an even bigger World Cup in 1978.

Brazilian millionaire Joao Havelange, who replaced Great Britain's Sir Stanley Rous as President of the International Football Federation (FIFA), promised his new regime would not lead to any splintering between Europe and the best of the footballing world.

To underline his pledge he said there would be no increase in South American or decrease in European representation among finalists in the new 20-nation World Cup starting in 1978.

Preparations for this year's cup swung into their final day before Brazil, the champions, meets Yugoslavia tomorrow at the Waldstadium here. Sixteen teams will compete.

Baseball

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Joe Burke replaced Cedric Tallis as general manager of the Kansas City Royals yesterday in a rather startling move by owner Ewing Kauffman. Tallis generally is credited as the man who built the Royals through a series of astute trades.

General

BATON ROUGE, La. — Louisiana Senators, upset by the growing problems of the New Orleans superdome, called the giant project a "fiasco" and warned they were tired of bailing the stadium out of its troubles. Nevertheless, the Senate voted 27-6 yesterday to ratify two stadium contracts, which Louisiana Attorney General William Guste ruled were illegal.

Horse Racing

NEW ORLEANS — A Louisiana race horse owners boycott forced cancellation of today's racing program at Jefferson Downs and threatened to disrupt schedules at Evangeline Downs for the rest of the week.

Davis-Marshall Deal Looks Good

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

If the best trades, as baseball's general managers fondly say, are ones that help both clubs, then the Montreal Expos and Los Angeles Dodgers made a dandy exchange last winter.

On Dec. 5, 1973, the Expos sent relief pitcher Mike Marshall to the Dodgers for outfielder Willie Davis and, thus far, neither team has any misgivings about the deal.

Marshall has appeared in 38 of Los Angeles' first 60 games, winning four and saving seven others for the National League's West Division leaders while Davis, now batting .322, tied a Montreal club record last night when he drove in seven runs with two homers, including the fourth grand slam of his 15-year major league career, leading the Expos to a 16-6 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

Davis' three-run homer highlighted a seven-run seventh inning and his grand slam sparked an eight-run eighth as he equalled the club record for most RBIs in a game. Ron Fairly and Mike Jorgensen also homered for the Expos, who collected 14 hits and moved within 1 ½ games of first place Philadelphia in the National League East.

Cardinals 1, Dodgers 0

Bake McBride singled home the only run of the game in the sixth inning and Lynn McGlothen, with last out relief help from Al Hrabosky, gained his eighth victory of the season in St. Louis' win over Los Angeles. The shutout was the first suffered by the Dodgers in their last 80 games, extending back to last season.

Astros 10, Phils 1

Braves 4, Mets 3

Johnny Oates, who homered earlier in the game, raced home from second base on Frank Tepedino's sacrifice bunt and relief pitcher Bob Apodaca's throwing error in the 11th inning to give Atlanta its win over New York. Mike Lum also homered for the Braves.

Pirates 5, Padres 2

Indians 6, White Sox 0

Jim Perry pitched the 30th shutout and 199th victory of his career as Cleveland defeated Chicago. He and his brother Gaylord tied the all-time brother mark of total victories, 410, set by the trio of John, Walter and Arthur Clarkson at the turn of the century.

Angels 5, Yankees 4

Denny Doyle's broken-bat single scored Mickey Rivers with the winning run in the seventh inning as the Angels edged the Yankees. Doyle, who had committed a costly error in the fifth, got his hit off reliever Dave Pagan. Bill Sudakis had a grand-slam homer for the Yankees.

Orioles 4, Twins 2

Jim Palmer ended a personal seven-game losing streak and combined with Grant Jackson and Bob Reynolds to pitch the Orioles over the Twins.

Royals 1, Brewers 0

Al Fitzmorris, 6-2, recorded his second straight shutout win, an eight-hitter, in pitching the Royals to victory over the Brewers. Singles by Fran Healy, Cookie Rojas and Amos Otis in the third inning produced the only run of the game.

Tigers 8, Rangers 6

Mickey Stanley hit a threerun homer and Willie Horton drove in two runs with his 15th homer and a sacrifice fly to spark the Tigers' triumph.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Scott Planning New Products

Q. I have 480 shares of Scott Paper (NYSE) bought between 1929 and 1932. Over the years, these shares have doubled and tripled but in the last few years the dividend was cut in half. As thousands of dollars have been lost in the last years, I would like your advice on whether to hold or sell. — O.N.

A. Although from your original purchase of 40 shares (3 splits increased the number of shares 12-fold) you still have a substantial capital gain, your investment has dropped a discouraging 62.5 per cent in the last decade. A combination of a year-to-year drop in the price-earnings ratio and no real earnings progress has gradually eroded the value of the stock since 1965. The reduction in the dividend rate in 1971 followed a sharp decline in earnings. In the last two years, earnings have recovered but only a small increment in the dividend rate has been forthcoming. The present 14-cent quarterly payment may be liberalized before the year is out since it represents only a 34 per cent payout rate versus a 59 per cent average rate for the past five years.

Capital spending for this year may run in excess of $100 million, up 25 per cent over the 1973 level. This, as well as research spending — equal to 51 cents per share last year — is bullish over the long term. In fact, several new products now in the development and test marketing stages should begin contributing to profits next year. Higher earnings are indicated for the current year and shares are well worth retaining for recovery.

Q. We have two children entering college soon. We hold Putnam Growth and Putnam Investors Funds. We have been advised to switch Growth into Investors and to buy Putnam Income with over $10,000 savings. — S.S.

A. While Investors has had a somewhat better performance record, the yield from income dividends is slightly lower. The somewhat broader exposure afforded by holding both funds seems advisable. With two children to educate, I would strongly urge you to leave your $10,000 intact.

BURLWOOD CLOCKS

Clocks and tables fashioned from gnarled burlwood are the specialties of Finewood Clocks, a new retail store at 36 Front Street in San Rafael, between Hoag and Medway Streets. The owner, Mallory Savage of San Rafael (standing), has been producing natural burl tables and clocks for a year and a half, but they were for wholesale. This month, he decided to open his shop for retail, six days a week from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

New Parking Facility To Give Downtown San Anselmo A Lift

San Anselmo's downtown shopping area gets a boost this week with the opening of at least a portion of the city's new Creek Park parking lot with 43 additional parking spaces in a park-like atmosphere.

Public Works Director Charles R. Leitzell said the wood frame structure at the Hub intersection serves as both an entranceway and as a structure to conceal the traffic control box. The parking area with two-hour free parking should open by the end of this week, and the rest of the park is scheduled for completion in September. Vehicle entry will be from Sir Francis Drake Boulevard opposite Bank Street, and exit will be near the bus station.

In addition to added parking, the $200,000 Creek Park project will provide the following:

A deck area near the creek at the bottom of a grassy bowl will be the focal point, serving as a stage for small concerts. The surrounding grass area is a sort of amphitheater. Toward Kaufman's store side of the Hub will be an arbor walkway structure with another viewing deck of the creek, with a small cascading waterfall. Bicycle racks will be provided, and two pathways will lead to the creek.

At the bus depot side of The Hub will be a picnic area with several tables, surrounded by a redwood grove (when the trees grow up). Tamal Construction is the contractor on the city-financed project.

DORA COUSLEY of Mill Valley was appointed portfolio and traffic manager at Boothe Computer Corp. in San Francisco. She will be responsible for equipment allocation and traffic management in Boothe's marketing division. Before joining Boothe in January of 1973, Mrs. Cousley was with Genesis One-Management Assistance Inc. in Mill Valley.

Reid

OWEN P. REID Jr., manager of Wells Fargo Bank's Greenbrae office, has been promoted to assistant vice president.

Reid joined Wells Fargo in 1965, served in South San Francisco and San Francisco offices, and was named manager of the Greenbrae office in 1972. He lives in San Francisco where he is a member of the Olympic Club and the Yale Club of San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO FEDERAL Savings & Loan Association will open its first Marin County branch about the end of July at Bon Air Shopping Center in Greenbrae. It will move into 200 Bon Air Shopping Center in space now occupied by a branch of Sierra National Bank, next to the Refectory Steak House.

Manager of the Greenbrae office of San Francisco Federal Savings & Loan will be Scott Kokjer of Greenbrae, who will transfer from the financial center office on Montgomery Street, where he is now assistant manager. Ernie Piccone, who is in charge of branch expansion for San Francisco Federal Savings, said the Greenbrae office is scheduled to open on July 29. It will be the 18th branch office, with two others to follow at Eighth and Irving Streets in San Francisco and on Fremont Boulevard in Fremont.

SIERRA NATIONAL Bank office at Bon Air Shopping Center will close at the end of this month after five years of operation.

The office and staff will be consolidated with the Corte Madera Center office of Sierra National Bank, which has other offices in Alto, Novato, and Tiburon.

GUASCO MARKET at 100 Center Boulevard in San Anselmo, across from the bus station, announced the promotion of John Torresan of Kentfield as new manager and Dick Kritsky of San Anselmo as assistant manager.

The announcement came from Peter Guasco, owner of the store, who had been managing it himself until this week. The store was founded in 1924 by Peter Guasco's father, Felice Guasco, who died last November.

Torresan has been with Guasco Market for 19 years, and Kritsky was with United Markets for 14 years.

HEALTH SCIENCES Consulting Corporation, a nationwide firm that contracts with the food and drug industry to review new products, has been formed with headquarters in Sausalito.

Vice president and treasurer is Richard Slottow of Tiburon, who heads Richard Slottow & Associates Inc. of 180 Harbor Drive, Sausalito. Slottow & Associates are consultants in long-range financial development of hospitals and medical centers. The new Health Sciences Consulting Corp. is also based at 180 Harbor Drive. It is composed of about 40 research scientists in various fields and headed by President Robert Kark, professor at Rush Medical College in Chicago. The corporation would serve as consultants to the food and drug industry in developing products that meet requirements of the Food and Drug Administration.

HERBERT A. RASCHKE, assistant director of marketing of the E. D. Bullard Company of Sausalito, has been appointed to the National Fire Protection Association Committee on Protective Equipment for Fire Fighters. The Bullard Company manufactures industrial safety equipment.

Raschke is a registered professional engineer and has many patents in the field of industrial safety and health. A 20-year resident of Marin, he and his wife live in Greenbrae.

SOLAR HEATING — George Walters, a veterinarian who lives at 180 Country Club Drive in Novato, has been named western distributor of the Solarator produced by a firm in Madison Heights, Mich., to heat water by solar energy.

Solarator panels, each three by six feet, are made of a labyrinth of plastic tubing capable of heating 5,000 gallons to swimming temperature. Walters said the average pool needs four to six of these panels, at $49.95 each. They will raise the water temperature from six to 10 degrees and can save about $40 per month in the gas bill alone, Walters asserted.

Xonics Introduces New X-Ray Process In Marin

A new type of X-ray process that produces clearer pictures of both soft tissue and bone and therefore can lead to earlier detection of breast and lung tumors was introduced to Marin medical circles this week.

Representatives of Xonics Inc. of Van Nuys, which developed the new X-ray process, were accompanied in Marin by Philip E. Robinson of the San Rafael office of Birr, Wilson & Co. stock brokers. Speaking for Xonics were Dr. William Hooker, president and chief operating officer of the firm; Dr. Robert Carangi, associate professor of the UCLA School of Medicine; and Fran Daniels of Los Angeles, in charge of public relations.

They toured Ross Valley Clinic, Marin General Hospital and the Independent-Journal, explaining Xonics Radiography, which they describe as less costly, quicker and emitting half the radiation of the regular X-ray process.

Xonics Radiography (XRG) uses the familiar X-ray machine but radiation passing through the body does not expose photographic film. Instead, it creates a flow of electrons that form an image directly on a clear polyester sheet.

Parent Company Reports Sales

HOUSTON (BW) — Oshman Sports Goods Inc., parent company of Stan's For Sports, reported first quarter sales of $7,815,206 and earnings of $319,901 compared with sales of $6,962,371 and earnings of $302,889 for the like period last year.

Earnings per share equalled 10 cents compared with 9 cents in last year's first quarter.

Alvin N. Lubetkin, president of Oshman's Sporting Goods Inc., indicated that the quarterly earnings pattern of the company was expected to change due to the larger number of new units opening and the greater concentration of stores in the more seasonal California area.

Concern About Interest Rates Tumbles Market

NEW YORK (UPI) — Fresh concern over interest rates sent stocks broadly lower on the New York Stock exchange today. Trading was quiet.

Profit taking has marked the last two sessions. In the six days before, the Dow had climbed 57.50 points in hopes for an easing in interest rates. But traders have been disappointed by the failure of any major bank to join First National City Bank of New York in lowering the prime lending rate—that charged on loans to large commercial borrowers—below the prevailing 11 ½ per cent.

Stocks on the American Exchange declined in quiet trading.

Library Union Under Study In Petaluma

The Petaluma Library board last night asked the city council to consider joining the proposed county library system.

In a letter to councilmen, the board specified conditions for the venture, which would make Petaluma's new $1.3 million library part of a network run by a seven-member county commission.

Library board member Dorothy L. Bertucci said Petaluma would insist on keeping its ownership of the new building, which is being built in Kenilworth Park with $572,000 in revenue sharing funds and a $750,000 bond issue approved by city voters March 5.

The city also would reserve the right to pull out of the county system if it wishes, Mrs. Bertucci said.

Under the consolidation, she said, the present city library staff would become part of the county system.

The main reason for the proposed move is economic according to Mrs. Bertucci.

In recent years, she said, city libraries around Sonoma County have found they require increasingly large portions of city tax revenues for their operation. By centralizing administration, circulation and recordkeeping, a more economical operation is possible, she said.

In 1968 Petaluma agreed to join a county library system, but that consolidation plan was shelved when Santa Rosa refused to particiapte.

The current plan, already approved by county supervisors, would place the libraries under a commission composed of a Petaluma representative, one from Santa Rosa and one from each of the five county supervisorial districts.

The Petaluma City Council will consider the library board's request at its 7:30 p.m. meeting Monday in city hall.

Peninsula Concerns Expressed

Concerns about traffic, aesthetics and type of housing in a development proposed for the San Quentin Peninsula were expressed last night by members of an audience attending a Larkspur Planning Commission meeting.

John E. Roberto, city planning director, said the questions raised by Larkspur residents will be suggested for inclusion in an environmental impact report on the project.

He said the commission will discuss the project again when it meets June 25 and will then select a consultant for the report, probably in early July.

Lincoln Property Co. of Menlo Park, owner of 105 peninsula acres, has submitted plans for office buildings, restaurants, apartments and a tennis complex.

The Larskpur Planning Commission also:

ZONING — Recommended that the city council change the penalty for zoning violations from a misdemeanor to an infraction. A misdemeanor carries both possible fines and imprisonment while an infraction means only a fine, according to Roberto.

FRUIT — Approved an application by Poor Richard's Produce for vending of fresh fruits and vegetables at 1115 Magnolia Avenue.

COUNCIL — Appointed William V. Dahlgren as its representative to the City County Planning Council of Marin with Dr. James R. Pride as alternate.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to July 25 at 8 p.m. in city hall.

Track Contract Is Awarded

A $71,427 contract for construction of a track at Casa Grande High School was awarded last night to the Teichert Construction Co. of Santa Rosa by the Petaluma Board of Education.

The firm, which submitted the lowest of three bids on the project, also will grade the school's football field.

In other business, the board agreed to review tentative budgets for the elementary and high school districts at 7 p.m. Tuesday at the district administration center.

Agencies Support Control Of Islands

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Federal agencies, including army, navy, air force and border guard units, held public ceremonies yesterday in support of Argentina's claim of sovereignty over the Malvinas Islands off Argentina's Atlantic coast.

The windswept islands, shown on many maps as the Falkland Islands, are claimed by Britain.

Informer In 'Zebra' Case Recaptured After Escape

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The informer whose testimony led police to charge four men in the "Zebra" killings case escaped from protective custody for eight days and was recaptured yesterday, police said today.

Anthony C. Harris, his wife and baby escaped from a barracks room at Fort Baker in Marin County where they were under guard, by knotting bedsheets and sliding down from a second-story window, police said.

They were found yesterday at the home of a relative in Los Angeles.

Harris, 28, was the secret informer who disclosed details of a black murder cult called the "Death Angels," and identified four "Zebra" suspects for police. He told a grand jury details of several murders he had witnessed which led to indictments against the four in custody.

At first, police said, Harris and his family were held in protective custody at a downtown hotel, but when that became too expensive, permission was received from Attorney General William O. Saxbe to place the Harrises under federal protection.

They were held for a time at two undisclosed locations in Contra Costa County, said U.S. Marshal George Tobin, then moved to a converted barracks at Fort Baker. They escaped June 3.

Two deputy marshals who were guarding the building's only exit said they discovered the knotted bedsheets shortly after dawn.

Harris had been placed under police protection because of his fears that his testimony might bring retribution against himself or his family.

In Harris's grand jury testimony, he said that the four defendants were stopped seven times by police without being arrested.

Harris said that once while he was present officers stopped a van in which was a kidnaped white couple, one of whom subsequently was hacked to death.

Patrolman Bruce F. Marovich told grand jurors he had questioned blacks in the van carrying the doomed white couple but that "everything seemed all right" and he let it go.

Inside the van were Richard Hague, 30, and his wife, Quita, 28, who had been kidnaped while strolling on Telegraph Hill.

Harris, who said he turned informer because of a $25,000 reward offer, recalled that Mrs. Hague could have escaped but ran back to the van and tried to let air out of a tire to save her husband.

The ex-convict declared that the couple was driven to an industrial area where Mrs. Hague was laid over a railroad track so that she could all but be decapitated with a machete.

Wage Law Is Hurting Fire Force

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California, scorched by 10 major wildfires already this year, faces the possibility of being forced to slash vital summer firefighting crews in half because of a new minimum wage law, it was disclosed yesterday.

To maintain the current army of 1,500 firemen hired to battle forest and brush blazes during the peak danger season will require roughly an additional $5 million, according to state officials.

The state Board of Forestry will hold an "emergency" meeting Monday to consider the problem which Gov. Ronald Reagan's cabinet is also wrestling with.

In announcing the meeting, State Forester L. A. Moran said the new federal wage law "appears to have a critical impact upon the state's capability to prevent and suppress forest fires."

His chief deputy, Larry Richey, added the state is confronting a "pretty serious potential fire problem" because of unusually heavy rainfall in some areas of California.

The rain encouraged heavy growth which summer heat will dry into fuel for wildfires.

The state Division of Forestry directly protects about 28 million acres of mostly private land and additional acreage under contract with local agencies and the National Forest Service.

In an interview with UPI, Richey said the state so far has maintained full firefighting strength although the new wage law went into effect May 1.

It calls for minimum pay of $1.90 an hour for the seasonal firefighters who currently work a 120-hour week for $525 a month.

Richey said the division only has enough money to pay about $1 an hour. That means, he said, the size of the crews would have to be cut in half, on-duty hours reduced or more money provided. Another solution, Richey stated, could involve some combination of all three alternatives.

Richey said about $5 million is needed to maintain the present force of firefighters.

Pete McClory of the California State Employes Association, which represents some firemen, expressed the problem like this, "Either they're going to have to double pay for these fellows or cut the work in half."

Richey said 10 major fires have charred 6,000 acres in California since January.

The summer firefighting crew is expected to reach its peak force of 1,500 around July 1.

Today is Wednesday, June 12, the 163rd day of 1974 with 202 to follow.

The moon is in its last quarter. The morning stars are Venus and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury, Mars and Saturn.

American author and ornithologist Frank Chapman was born June 12, 1864.

On this day in history:

In 1924, President Calvin Coolidge, who succeeded to the presidency upon the death of Warren Harding, received the Republican presidential nomination for the fall election. He won by a large margin.

In 1963, a sniper killed Negro civil rights leader Medgar Evers in Jackson, Miss.

In 1971, Tricia Nixon married Edward Finch Cox in the first wedding to be held in the rose garden of the White House.

Blocking Your Partner's Suit Is A Major Defensive Crime

Part of the art of defense is to visualize declarer's hand. Assign him a hand that hangs together with his bidding and play, but don't assign him a hand that you can't beat.

WITH ACE

West opened the five of hearts, and dummy won with the ace. Declarer then proceeded to run the four clubs.

East completed a high-low in hearts, next threw the five of diamonds and then stewed for a while before making his last discard.

If East discarded a spade, declarer would win four spade tricks. If East discarded another diamond, dummy might get two diamond tricks.

East came to the mistaken conclusion that only a heart discard was safe. Even this would have worked, except that East discarded a low heart, saving the jack.

FATAL BLOCK

South next led a diamond, forcing out East's ace. East led the jack of hearts, and South played low. Now the suit was blocked. West couldn't afford to overtake, and East couldn't lead the suit again.

East could have saved the day by discarding the jack of hearts and keeping a low heart. Then his heart return would allow West to take the rest of the suit.

COUNT TRICKS

After assuming that South had the king of spades, South should have counted declarer's tricks: three spades, four clubs and one heart. If South held the king of hearts or could get just one diamond trick, he would make his contract. East had to assume that his partner had led from a good five-card heart suit, and then his proper discarding would be easy.

You hold:

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

You have four points in high cards and cannot count anything extra for the doubleton in diamonds since you have only two trumps for your partner. Avoid responding with only a four-point hand.

New Novato Positions Turned Down

The Novato City Council considered requests for 19 new city employees last night, then tentatively turned down proposals to add an administrative assistant, a planning economist, a police officer, an engineering technician and two maintenance men to the city staff.

Councilmen, however, indicated that some of the rejected positions could still be filled by spending federal revenue sharing funds.

Rodney B. Brown, who prepared the budget when he was acting city manager, said the 19 new positions would cost $198,890. $114,997 of it coming from federal funds and $83,893 from the general fund.

Councilman Fred F. Ruegg pointed out that the city added four new employees in 1971-72, nine in 1972-73 and six this year.

Police Chief John C. Coleman said he needed another sergeant because some shifts are without a supervising officer.

Planning director Brian W. Mattson said a planning economist would evaluate developments to see if they were economically feasible and would try to encourage commerce and industry.

City Mgr. Phillip Brown replied that Novato was not large enough to afford such a position, but might join with other cities in hiring a planning economist.

In other business, the council introduced ordinances annexing three acres on Vineyard Road near Trumbull Avenue and 6.77 acres at the northeast corner of Wilson Avenue and Center Road.

The council adjourned to 1:30 p.m. today to inspect the capital improvement projects and to 8 p.m. today in the Novato Community House to review the proposed projects.

No Progress In Talks With Nurses

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Striking nurses and hospital representatives met yesterday for the first talks since the fiveday walkout began, but no progress was reported in their negotiations.

However, a spokesman for the State Conciliation Service, which brought the two sides together, said the mere fact they were meeting was grounds for encouragement.

About 4,000 members of the California including Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Rafael, Nurses Association struck 40 hospitals in Northern California last Friday over a variety of issues, including quality of health care and wages.

Meanwhile, the American Nurses Association, representing 800,000 registered nurses nationwide, voted at its convention in progress here that it "supports and encourages" the local nurses.

A spokesman for one of the hospital groups involved said that "serious obstacles to settlement" remain. He said these include demands for every other weekend off, more vacation time, more pension benefits and what he called "excessive" pay demands.

The nurses insist the principal issues in the dispute involve the welfare of patients. They want only specially trained nurses in certain hospital units and reduced workloads.

The hospitals have already agreed to a $60 monthly pay increase effective Jan. 1, but are resisting a demand for an additional 5 or 6 per cent increase effective July 1.

The hospitals said all patients who could be sent home were discharged when the strike began and only emergency patients were being admitted.

Riot Prevented At Gold Mine

JOHANNESBURG (UPI) — Scores of armed police cordoned off the Merriespruit gold mine late last night and dispersed about 1,000 black mineworkers with two salvos of teargas.

Miners in a compound housing nearly 3,000 persons formed into disorderly groups, smashing windows but swift police action prevented a possible riot, mine officials said.

Police also remained on standby at the Harmony gold mine where rioting Sunday and Monday left three persons dead and 13 injured.

Panel Split On Nixon Evidence

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House Judiciary Committee Democrats say evidence that President Nixon approved an in depth investigation into Dr. Daniel Ellsberg is "significant and damaging," but Nixon's Republican defenders say the evidence is inconclusive.

Several Democrats also pointed out testimony by former White House aide John D. Ehrlichman that Nixon "indicated after the fact approval" of the burglary of the office of Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

But most members agreed yesterday there is little evidence to back up the allegation Nixon tried to improperly influence Judge Matthew Byrne, who was presiding at Ellsberg's trial in the Pentagon Papers case. The allegation of improperly influencing Byrne is under investigation in the committee's impeachment probe.

The inquiry today turns to allegations that Nixon used government agencies, particulary the Internal Revenue Service, to retaliate against enemies of the administration.

During yesterday's session, Nixon's Watergate lawyer James D. St. Clair attempted to give the committee a 10,000-word brief disputing allegations of Nixon's complicity in the Watergate cover-up. But chairman Peter W. Rodino rejected the brief as premature.

"To take a brief now and present it to the American people would not give anything but a distorted picture of the materials presented to the committee," majority counsel John Doar said.

It was reported that the brief covered much of the same ground outlined in the introduction to the White House transcripts released in April. In that document, Nixon argued that while the tapes are subject to various interpretations, they conclude in sum he was not involved in the cover-up directly.

Committee members agreed that the most important material they received during the session was testimony given by Ehrlichman to a grand jury in California concerning the Ellsberg break-in by the White House plumbers.

Ehrlichman said he was present twice when Nixon discussed the break-in after it had taken place.

At one meeting, Ehrlichman quoted Nixon as saying in substance: "While I did not know of the break-in attempt in advance, I surely recognize the valid national security reasons why it was done."

At another meeting Ehrlichman quoted Nixon as saying "the break-in was in furtherance of national security and was fully justified by the circumstances."

'Care to do the honors?"

Impeachment Surveys Hit By Governor

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan said yesterday congressmen have no business surveying their constituents to determine whether impeachment of President Nixon would be better for the health of the nation.

"Their business is: 'Is there or is there not an impeachable offense that has been committed?'" the governor told his regular weekly news conference, which lasted less than 20 minutes.

Reagan, in what seemed to be a more spirited defense of Nixon than usual, expressed hope that in pursuing the impeachment process the Congress would throw partisanship aside and act in a nonpartisan manner.

"So far some congressmen, I think, have been most blatant in their statements that even before there is any identification of an impeachable offense, they have publicly voted guilty," said Reagan, a leading Republican 1976 presidential contender.

One reporter noted that some uncommitted congressmen are surveying the voters back home on the impeachment issue and asking if they feel ousting Nixon is better for the health of the country.

"That's none of their business actually," Reagan replied. "Their business is: Is there or is there not an impeachable offense that has been committed?"

Reagan, who said he has read two-thirds of the White House-edited transcripts of Nixon's tape recorded Watergate conversations, was asked if some of those same congressmen might want more White House tapes to determine if there was an impeachable offense.

"The question there to be resolved is whether they are just going on a fishing expedition because so far they haven't been able to find an impeachable offense," Reagan said. "The White House position is they have made available everything pertinent to this case."

Reagan repeated his belief that Nixon was innocent of any wrongdoing unless and until found guilty of a crime and declared congressmen who have already advocated impeachment "certainly would not be qualified to become jurors in any court case."

Under the Constitution, the House of Representatives would vote to impeach a president and the Senate would try him. It takes a two-thirds majority vote in the Senate to convict.

Reagan also termed "jolting" and "regrettable" the sometimes offensive language found in the tape transcripts and when asked whether he uses similar language during his private business conversations, replied, "I'm not going to say."
